Ducks Unlimited Banquet-Crandon September 21st

Thirty-four years is a long time; certainly long enough to qualify as a tradition. Northern Lakes Ducks Unlimited has been a fixture here in Crandon since a small group of locals who liked to duck hunt decided to join a cause bigger than themselves. Over those years NLDU has raised thousands of dollars for wetland habitat-which helps a lot more than ducks. Some of that money went to help flyways across the country. And thousands were spent here on projects in Forest County.

The tradition continues September 21st at the Crandon Community Center. Games, prizes, drawings, doorprizes, and a minimum of 34 guns available to win.

Tickets are available-be part of the fun by calling 715 478-2871 or 715-367-8676. Admission is $65, and pay before September 9th and get in the Early Bird Drawing. If tickets are left, the price is $75 the day of the event.

Local History Room Open House

On Tuesday, September 10th from 5:00-6:30 p.m. the Crandon Public Library is hosting an Open House in our newly designed Local History Room. The Local History room is the accumulation of a summer's worth of hard work by our summer archivist Amanda Flannery and her dedicated volunteers.

The local history room features 100+ years of Crandon and Forest county history. The highlight of the event will be Amanda's slideshow presentation describing many of her amazing finds this summer which include the discovery of two crates of artifacts from the original Crandon Public Library Museum circa 1938. The items in these crates were donated by many of Crandon's earliest residents. If you enjoy Crandon and Forest county history this is the event for you! There is no charge and refreshments will be served.

Record crowds & unreal racing highlight the 2013 off-road World Championship® at Crandon

Labor Day Weekend event deemed a 'smashing success' by race officials; spectacular 1st/2nd son/father finish in AMSOIL Cup's highpoint of racing

CRANDON, Wis. (September, 2013) – The Wisconsin northwoods sure got a heaping helping of excitement last weekend when the Traxxas TORC Series, presented by AMSOIL's short course-off road extravaganza rolled through town – quite literally – beginning with a parade that shut down Highway 8 and packed the streets of Crandon's business district in anticipation for the 44th annual running of the Crandon International Off-Road Raceway World Championship®.

The highlight of the three-day event was Sunday's running of the $40K AMSOIL Cup – a handicap race pitting the powerful TORC PRO 2WD and PRO 4x4 classes against each other in a winner-take-all dash for the cash.

Short Course off-road racing's best storyline of the year came together as the sun set on the final race with the Abrams, Wis.-based family race team of CJ & Johnny Greaves (Monster/Toyota/Maxxis) going 1st/2nd, respectively, in the AMSOIL Cup. Catching his son on the last corner of the last lap in the PRO 4x4 (Johnny's ride) versus PRO 2WD (CJ's ride) handicap race, the elder Greaves may – or may not have (depending on if you ask him, or the 20,000-plus fans in attendance) – let up on the gas just a smidge, allowing CJ to take the win by about the thickness of a Monster Energy front bumper decal.

The epic AMSOIL Cup finish today will easily go down in Crandon racing folklore forever.

"Feels like I'm at the Super Bowl or something ... yeah, we are at the Super Bowl of off-road," said Johnny Greaves over the P/A system, barely above the din of the raucous Crandon faithful from the Greaves' home state of Wisconsin.

"We were both out there going for the win. And once I got through the traffic and up to the front – and saw CJ leading – I was like 'Is this really happening?' Then the old man was right up on him, nipping at his rear. "But he (CJ) turned it one and edged me out ... that little $&!%!"

Added CJ: "All I remember was hearing over the radio 'THAT'S YOUR DAD KNOCKING ON THE DOOR!!!' We both were going for the win. This feels unreal. Hopefully we can do it again next year."

Other big winners on the weekend included: Rob MacCachren (Traxxas/AMSOIL/BFG), who swept the premier PRO 4 class victories, including Saturday's Crandon World Championship® victory; Argonne, Wis.'s Jeff Kincaid's (Traxxas/AMSOIL/Maxxis) emotional tribute to his late father (Doug Kincaid Sr.) after winning Saturday's PRO 2WD World Championship, followed by Bryce Menzies (Red Bull/KMC Wheels/Peak) dominating the PRO 2s on Sunday. Luke Johnson (Red Bull/Under Power/BFG) wrapping up TORC's PRO Buggy class season championship while California's Bradley Morris (K&N Filters) swept the PRO Buggy races at Crandon; CJ Greaves winning the PRO Light World Championship on Saturday and Traxxas/AMSOIL/Maxxis' Keegan Kincaid (Jeff's son, grandson of Doug Kincaid Sr.) winning Sunday's PRO Light contest.

Wabeno Band Shell Dedication

Linda Boatright opens with the National Anthem

By Mike Monte

A nice crowd turned out to officially dedicate the new band shell to the Town of Wabeno last Saturday. It was a bright and cheery day, and so were those attending.

With the American Legion Color Guard presenting the colors, the Wabeno High Band playing, Linda Boatright did a great rendition of the National Anthem. Linda summered on Trump Lake, loved to be here in the summers and now lives in Oklahoma. She also ended the ceremony with a great presentation of America the Beautiful.

The Wabeno Town Board held an official ribbon-cutting and Louis Mallow told a tale of the beginning of the

Cabin Memories

By Angie Alexander

The season is over
The days grow colder
All is quiet now
I'll soon be locked up for the winter
Only the mice will want to see
My space to ward off winter's blows
They'll want comfort from the ice and snows
But they may not get in
For my logs have been painted and caulked
An my new roof of shiny tin
May keep them from coming in

I'll be lonely for a while
Left with all the memorable voices
That filled my rooms this summer
Like the Jefferson's that came to rekindle an old love

That started here forty years ago
Like the funny Franzen family of four
They said they hoped there would be no more
Like Ida and James who played silly games
Inside and often in the pouring rain
Like Peter and Tome who everyone said just fooled around

Till they caught the biggest largest walleyes in town
Little Sammy in his high pitch voice teasing the birds

Got a surprise when one landed on his head
He ended up the ER and got sent to bed
Some folks brought their own boats or canoes
Like Jensens that almost never wore shoes
There were children here that scampered in the woods

Played tag and climbed trees
Not afraid of ticks or bees
They brought their cats and their dogs
Made campfires and sang songs
As they sat and ate hot dogs on old logs

There was six-year-old Molly
A Beautiful gentle collie
Who jumped off my pier
To catch a life jacket floating
Lost by someone while boating
Most of my guests were nice and neat
They felt being here was a real treat
Folks stayed with me to unwind and relax
Wanting to see a country so pretty
They came to swim in my lake
Or lie in the sun just to bake
They came to listen to the sounds of Frogs and eagles or the tunes of loons
They came to fill their freezers with fish
They came to see the fox and the deer
I was just glad they were all here

Kick-starting Crandon's World Championship® was Friday's parade downtown – one that saw Crandon's year 'round population nearly triple when upwards of 5,000 people flooded the town streets and businesses. "The parade before the Labor Day Weekend racing at Crandon is like our second Christmas," said a downtown Crandon business owner.

When it was all said and done the World Championship® off-road racing weekend at Crandon infused some $5 million dollars into the Wisconsin northwoods. Not bad for a little race started 44 years ago by some guys who thought the Baja racing they saw on TV was pretty slick.

"This event really brings our community together up here in the northwoods," said Cliff Flannery, President of Crandon Raceway. "Everyone benefits. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the Veterans, the Lions Club and, of course, the downtown business district. And I'll tell you what – if it wasn't for all the volunteers that show up to help out, there's no way we could pull this event off. We all work very hard together to insure this event's a great success, making it the biggest and best off-road racing event of its kind."

With racers and trucks/buggies, crews and off-road fans converging from all points on the U.S. map, the small logging town of Crandon, Wisc., (population: 1,961), is awash in activity. And since 1970 the off-road phenomenon has played out in Crandon, making it the nation's longest-running short course off-road competition.

Students returning to the School District of Crandon will be welcomed back with a new look! Last spring, the school ran a logo contest. The idea was to get a Cardinal that was unique to Crandon Schools, and not "borrowed" from other places. The winner of that contest was Crandon School District's own Tina Campo. Tina, then a sophomore, came up with a very contemporary, sleek looking Cardinal. Her Cardinal will be THE Cardinal, with older Cardinals being phased out as time and funds will allow. Some of our readers may recognize Tina as the Best of Show recipient at the 2013 Northern Lakes Conference Art Show.

The new Cardinal is already in use and some may have seen it on the school letterhead. The summer middle school students adorned the school building with no less than five murals depicting the new Card and showing off their CARDINAL PRIDE!

original band shell. Louis Mallow, son of Louis and Pearl Mallow, talked of his father working on and organizing the construction of the first band shell back in 1941. He said that it was certainly a success, as it stood for 71 years and provided a stage for countless events. He congratulated the current residents and the town board for the new Wabeno landmark that will surely stand at least another 71 years. Louis said, "You done good!"

Ray Ehlinger was given the honor of cutting the ribbon which officially opened the band shell to public use. He was helped by the Wabeno Town Board. From left: Supervisor Paul Ehlinger, ribbon cutter Ray Ehlinger, Chairman Ed "Butch" Piontek, and Supervisor Dennis Kopecky.

Louis Mallow tells stories of the original band shell and of hitching rides on the loads of logs pulled by the Phoenix Log Hauler.

Ray Ehlinger's band was the first to play on the new band shell, and during his performance, he was presented with a golden hammer in recognition of all the hard work and planning he put in on the new structure. It should be mentioned that Larry and Peggy Rummel put in a great effort and did much of the planning for the dedication, and Cheryl Ehlinger did a large amount of work on the band shell project as well. Good Job!

It has been a busy summer for Wabeno, with Larry the Logroller getting a refurb and coming home to the park, plus the new Wabeno Band Shell project that was a great community effort with too many individuals involved to name. But, Wabeno has always been a community that loved and kept its traditions, and they still do.

Your computer has been locked up for safety reasons listed below" message, then your computer is infected with the newly appearing ransomware called Mandiant U.S.A. Cyber Security—U.S.A. The message advises that there had been child pornography sites accessed, that there had been pirated music or videos downloaded, and "bulk-spamming" had been done. The message advises that in order to have the computer unlocked, the subject would have to pay a fine of $300.00 (and advises how to go about submitting payment), and that the subject would have only 48 hours in which to do so. The message states that if payment was not submitted within the time specified, the subject could possibly face prison time.

This virus may invade your computer through the following ways:

Vendors wanted for October 12

The Crooked Lake/Mountain Lions Club is sponsoring the fourth annual Oktoberfest at the Crooked Lake Community Center on Saturday, October 12th. A free 8 x 10 outside space for crafters to sell their goods is available for the first ten people responding to this ad. Last year due to the continuous rain, we had only a few vendors but the year before, over 250 people walked through the beer garden and enjoyed the crafts that were for sale. There is a meat raffle, hay rides through the area, pumpkins for kids (or adults) to decorate, and music, all topped off with a delicious meal of roasted pig and German side dishes.

For more information and to reserve your free craft space, please contact Cassie at (715) 276-6196.

Goodman American Legion Talent Show

Sponsored by the Goodman American Legion Post 325, the third annual talent show, open to any area music groups, soloists, acts, and performers is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. September 14 at the clubhouse in Goodman. To become one of the competitors, contact either American Legion commander Terry Flannery at 715-336-2495 or Walt Wysocki at 715-336-2351. At that time, prospective contestants can discuss available equipment and any special needs.

Entrants pay a $10 fee to participate and to have a chance at prize money of $150 for first, $100 for second, and $50 for third place.

Flannery said that the judging format has been changed. "We will have impartial judging by a panel of out of town judges," he said. "They are all music instructors and educators."

Also, the Legion is dispensing with audience members being included in the voting. The issue of stacking the audience in favor of a particular performer has come under scrutiny. The other reason is that it took nearly 45 minutes to count audience ballots to determine an eventual winner last year. The decision is left solely to the independent judges.

If interested in participating in this talent event, contact either Flannery or Wysocki this week. Some have already signed up after seeing posters advertising the event, but for a full evening's entertainment, Flannery indicated more slots are available.

The admission charge for audience members is $5 or $4 and a donation to the Goodman-Armstrong Creek food pantry. Flannery said that since this is an American Legion-sponsored event, there will be membership cards available for those who wish to join either the Legion or the Auxiliary. Auxiliary members will be assisting with tickets and seating and will also offer chances at a 50-50 raffle.

For those who would like to extend the evening, dinner is offered at the Clubhouse prior to the event, and during the evening refreshments will be available in the cabaret-style atmosphere. Ken Dennison returns as emcee.

Another date to consider for future reference is Oct. 19. The Legion plans to host a Harvest Dance with a polka band that evening.

NORTA

NORTA (Nicolet Oconto Retired Teacher's Association) will meet at noon on Wednesday, September 18 at Mulligan's Sports & Grill at 16707 Hwy 32, just south of Lakewood. The program will be the Blackwell Job Corp. The meal will be family style for $12.00.

Reminder to pay membership dues of $50.00 for WREA and $5.00 for NORTA.

Tips for Eating Well - When You Don't Feel Like Eating

Eating can be a challenge when you don't have an appetite. Here are some suggestions to help you manage a few more bites when you don't feel like eating.

• Eat smaller amounts often - When you don't feel like eating, a lot of food can be overwhelming. Keep portions small, but nearby. Nibbles and sips count!

• Consider high-calorie choices - To keep up your strength, eat foods like tuna or egg salad, pudding, ice cream and peanut butter and crackers, which are nutritious energy boosters

• Force fluids - Dehydration is a serious condition. Keep fluids handy and use a straw to make it easy to take sips. Sports drinks, which replace lost electrolytes, may also be an option.

• Choose finger foods - Foods that can be eaten out of your hand are easy to eat. Foods like open-faced sandwiches, toast squares, fruit wedges, and waffles with jam instead of syrup can be eaten with your fingers.

• Remember fruits, vegetables and whole grains - These foods contain many vitamins, minerals, fiber and phytochemicals (other naturally occurring compounds in foods that may promote health). Yellow and red peppers have great flavor, color and vitamins and are usually more easily digested than green peppers. Fresh, frozen or canned fruits make great snacks. Whole and multi-grain crackers, cereals, and breads can be used as a finger-food snacks.

• Eat old favorites - Over the years you may have given up some of your favorite foods because of cost, preparation time, or salt, fat or calorie content. Eating "comfort foods" like macaroni and cheese, chicken soup and pudding can provide needed energy and nutrients. Total intake of food is more important than the sodium or fat content of individual foods when you are not feeling well.

• Eat with company - Even when you don't feel very well, it is good to have company! Invite neighbors, friends or family members such as grandchildren to share a meal or snack.

• Try liquid supplements - As a last resort when you can't get food down, use liquid nutritional supplements. The "liquids" can be used in instant puddings, as a frozen dessert and as a shake between meals. Avoid using these as a total meal replacement. These nutritional supplements do provide a balanced, concentrated source of nutrition and can help sustain your nutritional status when you really don't feel like eating.

Friends of Wabeno plans for potential projects
 Economic development effort taking shape for Wabeno's future

Submitted by FCEDP

Wabeno—The Friends of Wabeno met again on August 28 to review a draft proposal for a ten year revitalization plan and vision for Wabeno, highlighting the many assets and supportive events in the area. Friends President Mary Beck pointed out that the area's lakes, rivers, streams and hiking trails provide the platform for Wabeno build upon. She also noted that the community is blessed with active groups such as the Dual Sport's bi-annual rallies and the strength of the ATV and Snowmobile Club.

Building upon those assets, Beck presented a conceptual drawing of potential pedestrian trails encompassing the North Branch of Oconto River and Range Line Creek, both of which pass through the town. Forest County Economic Development Partnership (FCEDP) will work with Friends of Wabeno to investigate grant opportunities to help make these concepts a reality, provided that there is community and governmental support.

Wabeno Chairman Butch Piontek will be meeting with the United States Forest Service to investigate possibilities to work together. The goal would be to develop a bike/hike trail, possibly connecting to other trails including the Blackwell trail currently in development as well as the Crandon trail that will be built in 2014. Integrating Carter and other municipalities such as Townsend might be mutually beneficial, it was noted.

Jesse Houle of Houle Enterprises, a civil engineering firm, made a presentation of streetscape design and engineering processes that his firm has been involved in. Houle, a native of Forest County, recently opened a new office in Crandon and has already been involved in project development concepts in Forest County. Houle's design manager will be following up to make a presentation to the town board.

FCEDP's executive director Jim Schuessler invited the group to attend a presentation regarding the proposed Forest County Off-Road Park on Thursday, September 5 at 10:30 a.m. at the Wabeno Town Hall. The Off-Road Group has already made several presentations in the county and is now engaging existing business owners to inform them of the proposal. Current business owners are among those that will benefit immensely from the Off-Road Park.

The Community Pride group is doing a fantastic job developing enthusiasm within the community; they discussed many of the volunteer activities that are planned in the next few months. It was also announced that the grocery store grant will be announced by the end of the month. If Wabeno's proposal is not successful a second plan is already underway. Several potential owners have expressed interest in the project. It was reminded that in order to be considered as a site for the store a current appraisal must be executed by the existing property owner.

It was announced that a meeting of current Wabeno area business and commercial property owners will be held on Wednesday, September 25th at 9:00 a.m.

COULD A PET AND LIVESTOCK FEED & SUPPLY STORE BECOME A REALITY IN FOREST COUNTY?

At the price of fuel, it certainly becomes more and more expensive for pet-friendly families and owners of hobby farms to take the trek outside the county to purchase supplies for their pets and livestock.

A local entrepreneur is considering locating such a business in Forest County. Such a business may also offer scheduling of veterinary services as well. If you own a pet or livestock, you are encouraged to attend an "INFORMATIONAL/EDUCATIONAL MEETING" on Monday, September 16, at 6:30pm at the Crandon Town Hall, 601 West Washington Street, Crandon, WI.

There will be a Guest Speaker, "Bob Sipiorski, A Purina Mills Dealer Development Specialist."

The local entrepreneurs are simply seeking your feedback right now and welcome suggestions you might have so that we can develop a supply store that meets the needs of the local community.

Please attend but if you cannot, please e-mail Amanda at gesiorskia@ripon.edu She will e-mail you a short survey for you to provide your feedback and suggestions.

REQUEST FOR BIDS TOWN OF BLACKWELL

The Town of Blackwell is seeking bids for the construction of the east end of the Rat River Recreational Trail. Project will include the installation of seventeen ( 17 ) culverts and construction of a drain dip to specifications, and the hauling and placement of 800 c.y. of pit run gravel and 4,000 c.y. of road gravel from the town's stockpile. Work is to begin on the eastern most portion of the trail immediately after the bid award, and be completed by November 30, 2013.

Because this project uses federal funds, any employee used by a contractor must be paid Davis-Bacon wage rates.

Bids are due by 5:30 p.m. on September 10, 2013, and may be mailed or delivered to Town Chairman Ron Henkel at 4018 Co. Rd. H. Laona, WI 54541, envelope marked "TRAIL BID." Proof of insurance must accompany any bid.

Bids will be opened at 6:10 p.m. on September 10, 2013 at the Blackwell Town Hall.

For further information contact Ronald Henkel at 715-674-6467. The Town reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid most advantageous to the Town.

If interested please send a letter of interest which highlights your qualifications to: Jim Bradley, High School Principal, School District of Laona, 5216 Forest Avenue, #A, Laona, WI 54541.

If you have any questions please call 715-674-2143, ext. 211. The deadline for applications is 3:30 p.m. on Monday, September 16, 2013.

The Laona Schools, in accordance with Wisconsin Fair Employment Practices Act, Wis. Stat. 111.31, does not discriminate in hiring practice on the basis of age, race, color, creed, handicap, national origin, political affiliation, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, arrest record or conviction record. The school district is an equal opportunity employer. The Laona School District reserves the right to accept or reject any or all applications.

removed entirely from the property at the close of hunting hours each day.

These ground blind rules do not apply to ground blinds being used for hunting waterfowl or to blinds built only out of natural vegetation found on the DNR property, except that all waterfowl blinds situated on state-owned property and used in hunting waterfowl must always bear the name of the owner affixed permanently to the blind in lettering one-inch square or larger, even when a person is using the blind.

Grouse and turkey hunters must wear blaze orange clothing during any gun or muzzleloader deer season. A hat, if worn, must be at least 50 percent blaze orange.

Grouse hunters encouraged to "Be HIP!" certified if they also plan to pursue woodcock, mourning doves or other migratory game birds

Upland hunters that may harvest woodcock are subject to the federal requirement to be registered with the Harvest Information Program (HIP) before hunting these and other migratory game birds. Registration is free and is available through all license vendors as well as online; hunters will only need to answer a few short questions.

Fall wild turkey, ruffed grouse seasons set to open

MADISON - Biologists with the state Department of Natural Resources have noticed a large increase this year in the number of applications for the fall turkey hunt.

One likely factor is that those individuals who purchased a conservation patron license were able apply online and were not required to file a paper application as in the past.

However, there has also been a significant increase in applications from individuals who did not purchase the broadly inclusive conservation patron license. Fall turkey hunting permits are awarded by lottery for each of seven turkey hunting zones.

"It just seems there is more interest this fall in turkey hunting," said Scott Walter, DNR upland wildlife ecologist. "Some hunters may have had more difficulty in drawing a preferred tag in some zones."

Prospects are good for both the fall wild turkey hunt and for the ruffed grouse season in zone A, both of which open with the start of shooting hours on Saturday, Sept. 14.

The fall turkey season runs through Nov. 21 statewide. The extended fall season runs Dec. 2-31 in turkey zones 1-5, which cover the lower two thirds of the state.

As during the past two seasons, hunters may use dogs statewide to hunt wild turkey this fall.

The grouse season in zone A runs through Jan. 31, 2014. Hunters interested in pursuing grouse in southeastern Wisconsin, in zone B, have a short season that opens a month later on Oct. 19 and runs through Dec. 8.

Overall, Wisconsin's statewide wild turkey population remains strong.

After 30 years of sustained population growth and expansion across the state, wild turkeys are now found statewide, and overall their numbers remain strong this year. Local populations fluctuate as weather affects survival and reproduction rates.

"Of course we had a late winter and cold wet spring," Walter said, "and this probably led to relatively low production. There were many field observations of late broods; even into August we had people reporting quail-sized turkey poults. This is very small for this time of year."

This is an indication that first nests failed, prompting hens to start a second nest later in the spring, according to Walter. Even with a late start, these young birds grow very quickly, he adds, and as long as they are able to find sufficient food, they should be fine going into the winter, which is still a couple of months away.

"The flip side of the weather coin is that 2012 was a fantastic production year," Walter said. "This should mean more adult gobblers are available to hunters."

Biologists closely monitor harvest during the either-sex fall season, as excessive hen harvest can affect turkey populations. Recent hen harvests in Wisconsin have been very low, however, and hunters can enter the woods comfortable with the knowledge that current hen harvest rates do not play a significant role in the dynamics of Wisconsin's turkey flock.

Turkey hunters are subject to the blaze orange requirement for ground blinds erected on DNR lands during any gun deer season. Ground blinds on DNR lands left unattended during legal hunting hours must also have the owner's name and address or DNR Customer ID Number attached near the door opening. Ground blinds may not be left out overnight and must be

What Are The Federal Poverty Levels For 2013?

When applying for many public benefits, often eligibility is based on income and sometimes on assets. The income guidelines follow certain federal poverty levels (FPL) depending on the particular program you apply for. Here is a table of federal poverty levels for 2013. Take a look at these and compare what your monthly income is. Keep in mind that all sources of income will be included when applying for benefits, regardless if the income is taxable or not. Income reported must be the gross amounts, (before any deductions are withheld).

	100% FPL	120% FPL	135% FPL	150% FPL	160% FPL	200% FPL
Individual	$958/mo	$1,149/mo	$1,293/mo	$1,436/mo	$1,532/mo	$1,862/mo
Couple	$1,293/mo	$1,551/mo	$1,745/mo	$1,939/mo	$2,068/mo	$2,522/mo

For an example: There is a program available for those on Medicare to get their Part B premiums paid for. There are 3 different levels of the Medicare Savings Program and each level specifies a different federal poverty level for eligibility. The qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB) level uses the 100% FPL as the income guideline. The other two levels would include persons in the 120% and 135% FPL's.

When applying for the Medicare Part D Extra Help, income eligibility is based on the 150% FPL or less. There again are 4 different levels based on the different levels of FPL that would determine what percentage of the Extra Help Subsidy you would receive. Sounds pretty complicated but we receive up-to-date and tables that give us excellent resources when counseling individuals on the various programs.

The SeniorCare program begins at the 160% FPL and has 4 levels up to 240% FPL. Actually this program is very unique in the fact that there really is no income limit, but depending on the cost of your prescriptions in comparison with your income, you may not use the program. However, it is creditable coverage, you don't have to enroll in a Part D plan for your prescriptions, and your cost is only $30 per year if you are not taking any prescriptions. It saves you from a penalty!

Food Share is based on the $200% FPL or less. The Wisconsin Home Energy Assistance Program (WHEAP) accepts applicants who are at or below 60% of the State Median Income Level and not a federal poverty level. The Homestead Tax credit program has an annual income limit of $24,680 for 2012. Your refund is calculated by comparing tables with income and the amount of property tax or rent paid.

These are all beneficial programs to consider when economic and financial stress occurs on household budgets. The Benefit Specialists in the Aging and Disability Resource Centers of Central Wisconsin are available for private consultation by appointment to provide you with assistance. Kathy Schultz, Elder Benefit Specialist - Aging & Disability Resource Center of Central Wisconsin.

Sept. 14 meeting set for new group to advise on panfish management plan

MADISON – Two dozen anglers, fishing instructors, representatives of conservation groups, bait shop owners and the Conservation Congress have been tapped for an advisory group to help shape the future of panfishing in Wisconsin's inland waters.

"The stakeholder group is one more opportunity for us to gather public input to help create a management plan for inland waters," says Joanna Griffin, the Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist leading the planning effort. "We are asking these stakeholders to work with us to use the angler surveys in combination with regulation evaluations and analyses to develop goals and objectives."

DNR has had management plans in place for many years for game fish species; biologists and some anglers believe such attention is necessary for panfish, reflected in proposals from the Conservation Congress in recent years, including in 2013, to reduce the daily 25 fish limit on panfish on select lakes.

Such concerns and analyses of fish populations showing panfish size going down statewide have spurred DNR to develop a management plan. As part of the process, DNR held public meetings in the spring and conducted an online survey to gauge angler preferences for their panfishing experiences, Griffin says.

Panfish survey results [PDF] revealed that anglers are evenly split on whether to keep the current statewide bag limit of 25 panfish per day and differ on size and number of fish they want to catch.

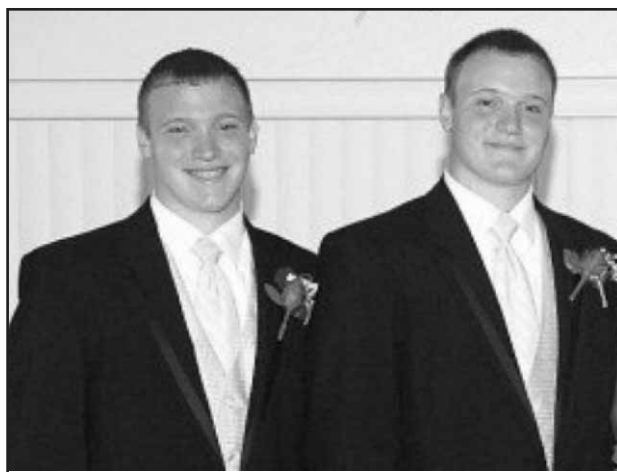

"The survey results are interesting. There is a clear split between people who are satisfied with their panfish fishery and people who want a change," Griffin says. "We hope the stakeholder group can help us try to get a better handle on panfish stakeholder diversity and attitudes."

The stakeholder meeting runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sept. 14, 2013, in the Legacy Room of the University of Wisconsin Stevens Point Dreyfus University Center, 1015 Reserve St.. The meeting is open to the public but there are no formal input opportunities.

Panfish are by far the most commonly targeted and caught category of fish in Wisconsin. Wisconsin results for the 2011 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service survey of anglers showed that 75 percent of them identified themselves as panfish anglers and that 71 percent of the hours spent fishing were spent fishing for panfish.

As a category, panfish are by far the most common fish caught by anglers in Wisconsin although anglers report walleye as their favorite target. Wisconsin anglers reported catching 88 million fish in the 2006-7 license year, of which 57.7 million were panfish, according to a statewide mail survey done that year. About 25.7 million of those panfish were kept.

More information about the panfish planning process, survey results and information on panfish is available by searching the DNR website for "panfish plan."

Happy Birthday Brian! Enjoy your last year of your 20's!!

Youth Waterfowl and regular season Canada goose hunts about to open

MADISON – The popular two-day youth waterfowl hunt takes place Sept. 14-15 this year, followed by the regular Canada goose hunting season in the Exterior and Horicon zones, which kicks off Monday, Sept. 16.

Youth Waterfowl Hunt

This special hunt offers youth age 12-15 – or those 10 and over hunting under the mentored hunting law – the opportunity to learn skills from an adult without some of the pressure that might be encountered during the regular season.

Normal season bag limits apply. All license and stamp requirements are waived, although participants still need to be HIP registered (free of charge) and if they wish to hunt geese during this time they would need to possess an early season goose permit. Licensed adults may also hunt geese since the early goose season is open during these dates.

While many youth enjoy this special hunt alongside a parent or relative, each year about one in seven hunters are able to participate solely because a family friend, neighbor, or volunteer mentor was generous enough to take the time to teach them the tradition of waterfowling, said Kent Van Horn, DNR migratory game bird ecologist.

Another great opportunity would be a learn to hunt waterfowl clinic. For information on this and other learn-to-hunt opportunities, visit dnr.wi.gov and type "learn to hunt" in the search box.

Regular goose season

"With resident Canada goose breeding numbers similar to recent years and improved production of the Ontario breeders, hunters should have ample opportunities this year, and will again enjoy a full 92 days of hunting in the Exterior zone with a two bird daily bag limit," said Van Horn.

"When combined with the 15 days of the early season, this puts Wisconsin at 107 days of Canada goose hunting this year, the maximum season length allowed by international treaty".

On opening day of duck season in each zone, the 9 a.m. start of shooting hours also applies to goose hunters in both the Exterior and Horicon zones.

Exterior Zone Canada goose seasons

*In the Northern zone: Sept. 16 – Dec. 21

*In the Southern zone: Sept. 16 – Oct. 6 and Oct. 12 – Dec. 21

*In the Mississippi River subzone: Sept. 21 – Sept. 29 and Oct. 12 – Jan. 2

The goose season is closed during the duck season split in both the south zone, which is closed Oct. 7-11, and the Mississippi subzone, closed Sept. 30 – Oct. 11.

Horicon Canada goose season

The Horicon zone Canada goose season has two time periods:

*H1 runs Sept. 16 – Oct. 27

*H2 goes from Oct. 28 – Dec. 16.

Hunters who applied for the Horicon zone will receive six harvest tags. The daily bag limit is two Canada geese. Boundary and tagging requirements were discussed and approved during the summer regulatory process. These changes to the Horicon zone will take effect in 2014. For more information search for "waterfowl" on the DNR website.

Governor Proclaims September 'Don't Text & Drive' Awareness Month

Wisconsin State Patrol, AT&T and AAA Teaming Up on Series of High School Events to Highlight Dangers of Texting & Driving

MADISON, WI, Tuesday, September 3, 2013 As students head back to school, Governor Scott Walker has proclaimed September as "Don't Text & Drive: It Can Wait®" Awareness Month throughout Wisconsin and is urging all residents, particularly teens, to never text behind the wheel.

"Texting has become the way many people communicate today, which means some people are doing it at the worst possible time while driving," said Wisconsin State Patrol Superintendent Stephen Fitzgerald. "While Wisconsin bans texting and driving, we must continue to raise awareness about the deadly consequences of this practice and urge all drivers to never text and drive."

The Wisconsin State Patrol, AT&T and AAA also announced today that they are teaming up once again on a series of high school events around the state to drive home the dangers of texting and driving. Assemblies are currently scheduled for September 19 at La Crosse Logan High School and Waukesha South High School, with events being planned throughout the school year in cities across Wisconsin.

Since 2010, AT&T, AAA and the State Patrol have partnered together to hold events in 25 cities throughout the Wisconsin, reaching over 16,500 high school students.

"Studies show teens continue to text and drive, even though they know it's dangerous and against the law," said Scott T. VanderSanden, president of AT&T Wisconsin. "We are proud to partner with the State Patrol and AAA to raise awareness about the dangers and challenge all drivers to take the pledge to never text behind the wheel."

AT&T is urging all Americans to pledge to stop texting and driving, and to join with others on September 19 -- "Drive 4 Pledges Day" to make a lifelong commitment to never do so again. The company is calling on all drivers to go to www.ItCanWait.com to take the no-texting-and-driving pledge and then share their promise with others via Twitter (#ItCanWait) and Facebook.

AT&T first launched the It Can Wait campaign in 2009 to educate the public about the dangers of texting while driving and encourage consumers to take the pledge to not text and drive at www.ItCanWait.com. More than 2 million pledges have been made to never text and drive. The campaign has now turned into a national movement with support from organizations all across the country, including the Wisconsin State Patrol and AAA.

In August, the It Can Wait movement released a new documentary directed by acclaimed filmmaker Werner Herzog called "From One Second to the Next" that shows the aftermath of texting and driving.

The film features the Wisconsin story of Xzavier Davis Bilbo, a Milwaukee boy who is paralyzed from the diaphragm down after he was hit by a texting driver as he was crossing the street. The documentary is being distributed to nearly 40,000 high schools across the country, including in Wisconsin, along with hundreds of government and safety organizations.

Texting is one of the most dangerous activities a driver can do behind the wheel. Those who send text messages while driving are 23 times more likely to be in a crash. Texting while driving also causes more than 100,000 car crashes on American roadways each year, according to the National Safety Council.

Teens are particularly at risk. While 97% of teens say they know texting while driving is dangerous, 75% say the practice is "common" among their friends, according to an AT&T survey.

Wisconsin's law, effective as of December 1, 2010, prohibits sending an e-mail or text message while driving and imposes a fine of up to $400. As a primary enforcement law, officers may stop and ticket drivers solely for texting and driving. Wisconsin is among 41 states and the District of Columbia that ban text messaging by all drivers.

The events at Wisconsin high schools will feature the AT&T documentary and AAA's distracted driving simulator.

"AAA has long been warning the public of the dangers of distracted driving," said AAA Wisconsin Regional President Tom Frymark. "By partnering with educators, the State Patrol and AT&T, we hope to get the message across to even more Wisconsin drivers that texting and driving is a dangerous mix."

For more information on AAA's national initiative to ban texting and driving in every state, please visit www.TeenDriving.AAA.com.

Archers can take up deer hunt beginning Saturday, Sept. 14

MADISON – Cooler evening temperatures are a signal to many bow hunters that the Sept. 14 opening of Wisconsin's archery deer season is just around the corner.

"For those of us who love to bow hunt, it's an exciting time of the year and anticipation runs high," said Kevin Wallenfang, the big game ecologist for the state Department of Natural Resources and an ardent, enthusiastic bow hunter.

With good conditions hunters can hope to see plenty of deer in most areas of the state, said Wallenfang. Archers set an all-time record buck harvest last year, he said, including yet another new state record trophy deer shot in Fond du lac County.

"In general, during the past couple of years we've had conservative antlerless quotas in the north to allow herds to increase," Wallenfang said. "As a result, I'm hearing from a lot of folks that they are seeing more deer across the north than in recent years. In addition, we continue to have good numbers of deer in most farmland areas."

Many archers in the chronic wasting disease management zone will be pleased to see the absence of a four-day October gun hunt, which has been the norm in recent years. The only interruption of the archery season will be a two-day statewide youth hunt Oct. 5-6.

Hunters understand, Wallenfang said, that all properties are not created equal when it comes to deer abundance. Deer change their movements in response to weather, food availability and other factors and are not evenly distributed through a deer management unit. Aerial surveys often show a large number of deer in one square mile of habitat with very few deer in one of the neighboring square-mile blocks.

As always, there is no substitute for scouting and pre-season contacts with neighboring land owners, Wallenfang said.

The 2013 archery deer season runs from Saturday, Sept. 14, through Thursday, Nov. 21 and then from Saturday, Nov. 23, the start of the gun season, through Jan. 5, a Sunday. As always, there is no deer hunting of any kind on the Friday preceding the gun deer hunt. This single day separates the early and late bow deer seasons.

Archery deer hunters will again be allowed to hunt during the regular nine-day gun deer hunt in November and for the second year will be able to fill a gun license deer tag with a bow or crossbow during the gun deer seasons. During the gun deer season, bow hunters are required to follow the same blaze orange clothing regulations as gun hunters.

There were 263,852 licensed archery hunters in 2012 who harvested a total of 94,267 deer, up from 255,426 archery hunters who harvested 90,200 deer in 2011.

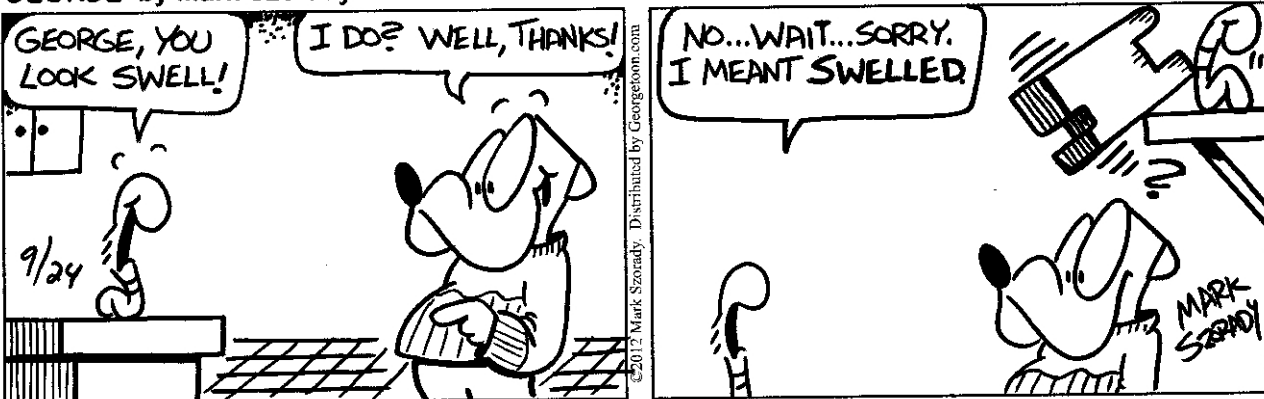

Wallenfang urged bow hunters to be especially careful when climbing into and out of deer stands. This is when most injuries occur.

"Things are shaping up to be another excellent year. Be safe in your stand, wear a harness, and enjoy the fall woods."

More information is available by searching for "deer hunting" on the DNR website.
