Book Sale at the Crandon Public Library

The holidays are upon us, and really, what makes a better gift than several good books? They may be gently worn or read once. And, if it isn't a gift to yourself, does it really matter?

The Friends of the Crandon Public Library are having another of their splendid book sales. They never seem to lack a quality selection of novels, mysteries, romance and travel books, and this sale even has holiday and Christmas titles. The prices can't be beat.

Where does the money go? Well, in these tight budgetary times, right back to the library for more books, author visits, interesting programs and equipment to help our public library. The Friends also generously donate toward scholarships for area students.

The sale is November 30th, from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and December 1st, from 9:00 a.m. until noon in the lower level of the library. Come visit and share the gift of reading.

Communications Technology Program for People With Vision & Hearing Loss

Madison, WI- Thousands of Americans who have a combined loss of hearing and vision may soon be able to connect with family, friends, and community thanks to the National Deaf-Blind Equipment Distribution Program. Pursuant to the 21st Century Communications and Video Accessibility Act (CVAA), the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) established this program to provide support for the local distribution of a wide array of accessible communications technology for consumers with these hearing/vision disabilities.

In Wisconsin, the Public Service Commission has been certified by the FCC to distribute equipment to citizens who are low-income and suffer from combined hearing and vision loss. The PSC worked in partnership with the Center for Deaf-Blind Persons, Inc., the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and the Wisconsin Department of Health Services to gain the certification for Wisconsin.

The iCanConnect initiative seeks to educate people about the availability of communications technologies - from screen enlargement software and video phones, to off-the shelf products that are accessible or adaptable - that can assist this segment of the population.

Individuals, family members or care givers can find information about the program at www.iCanConnect.org/Wisconsin.

There they will find information about:

- Who is eligible
- What equipment is available
- How it is being distributed and how to receive training

This information is also available to people by phone at 1-800-825-4595 or in Wisconsin, from the Center for Deaf-Blind Persons, Inc. at 1-414-481-7477.

Information is also available through the FCC at www.fcc.gov/ndbedp.

Last moments in the deer stand

By Mike Monte

You don't have to be crazy to be a deer hunter, but it probably helps. This shot of the woods taken just before leaving the deer stand was much more impressive than this photo shows. With the warm weather, it was much easier to stay on the stand until you couldn't see to shoot. While the deer weren't cooperative, the birds were, and the weasel that was hunting in front of the blind was fun to watch. And no phones or internet!

Deer hunting news is on page 21

Wabeno celebrates Veteran's Day

Matt Lasecki, Gary Longway, Jon Marsh, Dale Greenwood, Al Heisler

Each year veterans and current military are paid special tribute at Wabeno. The American Legion Post 44, the Wabeno Elementary School students, the Wabeno High School students and band made this a very special day.

A delicious breakfast was served by Mrs. Kristie Gill and FCCLA students. Following the posting of the Colors by the American Legion Post 44 and The Pledge of Alligence, the program headed by Mrs. Mary Ellen Keller introduced speakers who honored the veterans and those presently in the military.

 Twas the Night Before Winter... The Bears and Santa have fattened up for... Yogi & Boo Boo for a long winter's nap but Chubby Santa has been sequestered, No not for Debate Preparations, he is studying every Child's Christmas List.
 On Saturday December 8th Santa wants to know what's on YOUR Christmas List at the Riverview Town Hall, starting at 4:30 p.m. Special Elves, Cynthia & Darrell work their magic by transforming the Town Hall into a truly Wonderful Winter Wonderland. The Fire Department Auxiliary knows that visiting with Santa requires proper nutrition. Of course that would be Cookies and Hot Chocolate!
 The Sounds of the Season will come from the Barber Shop Quartet, God's Guys. Can't see Santa unless you sing a few Christmas Carols first. Also Santa needs a few landing lights to make his arrival. The trees around the Ice Rink are ready for the Lighting Ceremony. We need everybody's help to count down to the brilliance. The ice rinks are looking for skaters! Make sure to bring skates to this event.

Winter Sunshine

The bright orange and yellow of fresh oranges, grapefruits and tangerines reminds us that sunshine can exist during the long winter months. They are full of vitamin C, fiber, folic acid and potassium.

Enjoy these sweet winter fruits!

Oranges and grapefruit are in the grocery stores all year long. However, they taste the best and are the best price during the winter months of December through March.

Choose fruits that have no bruises and are heavy.

Heavy fruits are juicy and sweet!

Citrus fruits are best when stored in the refrigerator. Be careful that they do not freeze, they can become bitter and spoil.

Tangerines are a special treat. They taste wonderful during the winter months. One type of tangerine that is popular is the Clementine.

Clementines are easy to peel and separate into slices. They are often sold in a bag of 24 small fruit. If the bag cost $5.00 each fruit will cost only 21¢. A great buy for a snack!

Enjoy Tangerines!

* Pack a couple tangerines in your purse or school bag for an afternoon snack. They are quick and easy to peel!

* Peel and dip tangerines into flavored yogurt!

* Add tangerine slices to coleslaw, lettuce salads or chicken salad.

* Top low fat cottage cheese with tangerine slices.

Enjoy Oranges!

* Toss some orange slices on your favorite cereal, pancakes or waffles.

* Make a fruit smoothie - Blend together 1 cup of oranges slices, 1 banana (peeled and sliced) and 8 ounces low fat yogurt.

* Peel and break a couple oranges into pieces. Keep orange slices in a dish in the refrigerator - easy to grab and eat!

* Carry an orange in your purse or bag for a snack.

Enjoy Grapefruit!

* Sprinkle grapefruit half with brown sugar and cinnamon. Broil the grapefruit until sugar is bubbly.

* Peel and break a grapefruit into slices. Add some to your favorite breakfast cereal for more vitamin C!

GEORGE DARREL COLLINS AKA CAPONE passed away November 17th 2012, opening day of Deer Season. He was born February 29th 1929. His family moved to the Laona area from La Farge in a Covered Wagon and lived in a barn that his grandfather made ready for their arrival, he was born in that barn, so often joked he WAS born in a barn. He often said he felt like he lived in two different times, talked of his mother driving a school bus with a team of horses, no running water, no electric lights. He left home early around the age of fourteen to travel around seeking his fortune. He worked in logging camps in the UP, hopped on trains and followed where they took him, working at what was available. He worked in ship yards, learning to weld.

He joined the Navy, altering his birth certificate to allow him to join before he was legally able to do so. Somewhere along the way he picked up skills that gave him the ability to work with rocks, splitting them and placing them, building many fireplaces. The Veterans Memorial that sets on the Courthouse lawn is one of his projects. Many homes in the area are setting on basements of blocks that he laid, with the steps that he poured.

One of his many talents, was witching wells, sometimes traveling long distances, to do so. He loved his guns, anything to do with them, restoring, building and collecting. He reloaded many of the shells he used for his loved sport of hunting.

He talked of providing his family, Mom and Dad and siblings; and later his own, with the venison. Not all of it provided when there was a "season" for it, but they never wanted for venison. He ran a trap line also in his younger years, to earn extra money.

Upon discharge from the Navy, he went to live with his Sister Garnet in Ohio, where he met and married his wife, Eunice Irene Magel, AKA, "Biggy". In their early years together they moved several times between Ohio and back to his home town of Laona, finally settling in Laona.

He was a great story teller, telling many a tall tale. He had his children convinced, they could see the "little people and hear those water babies". He lived life in a big way.

In his later years he dappled in making knives, which each of his sons, grandsons and son-in-laws carry in deer season to clean their venison.

He loved taking walks, later gathering oddly growing trees to make canes, which he had to learn to rely on to make walking easier for him. Often in his later years, he could be heard to say "I had a wonderful life, I wouldn't trade it for anyone"

He loved his grandchildren and great grandchildren. He is survived by Daughters Deborah (Lynn) Bellamy, Ramona Hetfield, (Norman) and His Son Robert Collins. His Grandchildren, Crystal (Curt) Cooper, Melissa (Paul) Widucki, Mathew (Amber) Bellamy, Benjamin (Maura) Baker, Samantha (Matthew) Prestige, Clayton Collins and Richard Harris. Great grandchildren, Jade & Logan Widuki, Dalton & Danni Bellamy, Zachary, Cortney, Jessalyn Peterson and Colton Cooper, Henry Prestige, Elycia & Benjamin Baker; brothers, Larry (Rosalie) and Jesse (Laurel) Collins and sister Alice.

He was preceded in death by his spouse of fifty years, Eunice, his siblings, Odeal Krumpas, Doug Collins, His beloved sister Coleen Figgins and Garnet Smith and his grandchild, Jesse Bellamy.

Services will be at Weber Hill Funeral Home on Saturday, November 24th, with Visitation from 10:00 a.m. until the service at 1:00 p.m.

NORBERT "STUB" STAUBER, age 90, of Laona passed away peacefully on November 15, 2012. Visitation was at the Weber-Hill Funeral Home, 302 S Lake St., Crandon, WI from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Tuesday, November 20, 2012. Funeral service followed at 12:00 noon at the funeral home, Pastor Bill Farr officiating. Burial followed at the Laona Cemetery. Online condolences may be left at www.weberhillfuneralhome.com

Letters to the Editor

We welcome letters to the Editor; however the letters should be legible, in good taste, not libelous, and pertinent to current issues. Dear Editor,

"A dog is the only thing on earth which loves you more than itself." I am writing this today because I want to know what happened to people's empathy and sympathy. What happened to, "speak for those beings which cannot speak for themselves"? I have never been so upset by what I have been seeing and hearing about animals (especially dogs) in Forest County. What are people thinking by getting a dog and then decide not to take care of it? Quit bringing an animal into your home (or in MANY cases) leaving them tied up outside with no food, water, or shelter. What is wrong with you? Do you think tying up a dog and leaving it to the elements is a way to take care of an animal? People please, do not take in animals if you have no intention of making it a part of your family. I know, some people have hunting dogs. Well great, but do you take care of them the way you should? Do you run your dogs every day? Do you make sure in the coldest of winter months they have fresh (not frozen) water to drink, proper bedding, and food? Do you make sure in the hottest of summer months these dogs have fresh water twice daily? If you do, thank you. If you do not, shame on you. You do not deserve to own an animal if you will not take the time to care for it.

Do you ever think about how loyal your dog is to you, no matter how poorly you treat it? I am sickened by the lack of caring. Dogs are wonderful (as are cats); they cuddle you when you are sad; they are the first to greet you and by the way HAPPY you are home. How many wives/husbands/children are always happy to see you walk through the door with that much enthusiasm? They make you feel guilty about not going for a walk (when you know you need it too); and they make you smile when you hear them snoring (unlike your husband)!

The animal shelter has been getting many animals which are severely abused by humans and/or other dogs. What is wrong with you? Who beats a dog? Bringing a pet into a home is like adding a child. This animal depends on you to take care of them and they will be your loyal buddy to the end. Instead, I have been seeing dogs, with no water, no flap on the dog house to keep the wind out, a short leash, and they receive no exercise. Take care of your animals, ALL ANIMALS! I am guessing you are saying, my children wanted the dog. Well, now is the time to teach children having pets is a huge responsibility. Three great developmental characteristics are taught to children (and some adults) who care for pets- compassion, accountability, and responsibility. Is this not what we want from our children?

What I am asking is for everyone to take accountability for your pets. Neighbors, if you see a pet being neglected call the Forest County Humane Society or the sheriff's department. What I do not understand is how a human being can see an animal being neglected and not say anything. What is wrong with you? I am ashamed to think some of you are so cowardly that you would not stand up for this helpless animal.

Sincerely,
Marci Cyrus Vargo

New Forest Cty. Humane Society Shelter Operations Manager

Meet Marin Herbert, the Forest County Humane Society's new Shelter Operations Manager. Marin graduated from the University of Wisconsin- Milwaukee with a Bachelor of Science in animal-based Conservation and Environmental Science, and with a minor in animal-based Biology.

Marin has a wide array of animal experience. She has cared for both zoo animals and a wide variety of domestic animals. She has also worked with the Wisconsin Humane Society, caring for its domestic animals and facilitating wildlife rehabilitation, rescue, and release.

Marin has been at the Shelter for a short time but has already established a program for the health and wellness of the animals proper diet, veterinary care, hygiene, exercise and, in the near future, socializing and training. She has written a comprehensive manual detailing these new programs.

Her goals for the Shelter include recruiting volunteers; promoting membership drives and fundraising; holding shot, spay and neuter clinics; and educating the public about animal care.

Marin is a compassionate, caring, energetic, friendly woman who exhibits a real heart for animals.

Forest County is fortunate to have a wonderful safe haven to house unwanted, neglected, abused and lost animals and a new manager to meet their needs until they are placed in their forever home.

The board, members and animals welcome Marin and wish her the very best in her endeavor to provide a happy, healthy, safe and nurturing environment.

Thanks for the many hugs, prayers, calls and expressions of sympathy. We were overwhelmed by the number of cards, flowers, plants and gifts. November 19 is Snowplow Driver
Appreciation Day in Wisconsin

Governor Scott Walker has proclaimed Monday, November 19 as Snowplow Driver Appreciation Day in Wisconsin to acknowledge their steadfast efforts to make roadways safer and keep traffic moving before, during and after winter storms.

The proclamation also encourages motorists to exercise caution whenever they encounter snowplows and to limit their driving during severe storms to avoid becoming stuck or stalled in their vehicle, which slows down snow removal efforts.

"Removing snow and ice from more than 100,000 miles of roads and streets in Wisconsin is a tremendous challenge performed primarily by county and municipal highway departments," said Wisconsin Department of Transportation Secretary Mark Gottlieb. "Snowplow drivers frequently work extremely long hours during the worst imaginable weather conditions to make roadways safer and keep traffic flowing as efficiently as possible. Their knowledge, experience and dedication help all of us travel to our jobs, farms, schools, retail stores, medical services and recreational destinations while also maintaining the delivery of goods and services to support our state's businesses and industries. They do their jobs, so we should do our part."

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation offers these safety tips for driving during winter weather:

- Before traveling, call 511 or go online to Wisconsin 511 (www.511wi.gov/) to check road conditions.
- If there's ice and snow, take it slow. The posted speed limits are based on dry pavement. Those speed limits may be hazardous when roads are slick or visibility is poor. Most traffic crashes in winter are caused by driving too fast for conditions.
- State law requires that you stay at least 200 feet behind a working snowplow. When you're following a snowplow, make sure that you can see the driver's mirrors to ensure the driver is able to see you. You never know when a snowplow driver may have to back up.
- If you have to pass a working snowplow, be careful. The snowplow can create a cloud of snow that could obscure your vision. Also, remember that the roadway behind the snowplow is in better condition than the roadway in front of it.
- And always buckle up, pay attention to traffic and road conditions, slowdown and drive sober to help reduce the number of preventable traffic deaths to "Zero in Wisconsin."

FCATVA donates to the Wabeno Band Shell

At the November 10, 2012 Forest County ATV Association (FCATVA) meeting held at Backhaus' Retreat in Wabeno, President Jack Matuszewski presented a check in the amount of $500.00 to Larry Rummel, Wabeno Park Commission, to help rebuild the Wabeno Bandshell. The ATV Club is pleased to be able to provide support to this very worthwhile endeavor.

Other community organizations and clubs can donate to the new Bandshell by contacting Larry Rummel, 715-850-1861 or by sending their donation to the Wabeno Bandshell, P.O. Box 189, Wabeno, WI 54566.

Lucerne. As if she wasn't busy enough, Frances also worked for a local flower shop and the Forest Republican Newspaper.

Frances and Davy shared 66 years of marriage before he passed away in 2003, and she has 10 grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren: all part of her loving legacy. She is always grateful and thinking of others; which makes her perfect for this honor. Congratulations, Frances.

Wabeno Education Week

Laona Elementary students were busy November 12-16 celebrating American Education Week. Each day had a special theme, such as "Hats Off to Education" and "Slip into a Good Book". Students dressed accordingly, and classrooms had various events planned around the themes. Parents of second and third graders came into their children's classroom and shared special hobbies, craft projects, or read. Mrs. Matuszewski and Mrs. Chitko appreciated their time and enthusiasm, and the students were thrilled to have new "teachers" for a part of their day.

On Tuesday evening, students and their parents gathered in the lunch room for a family game night featuring math games. Everyone had fun learning and playing new games, ranging from games that helped to practice math facts to higher level thinking skills with negative and positive numbers. At the end of the evening, families were encouraged to take home their favorite math games. More family fun nights are being planned; the next one is a January Bingo night.

On Wednesday, fourth graders went to Nu Roc Nursing Home for their first visit. They met their partners and enjoyed making placemats together for Thanksgiving Day. The children and residents had fun visiting and sharing stories about school and deer hunting. They are already looking forward to more visits this year. Both the students and the residents would like to thank the Lion Lions Club for providing funding for these visits.

Throughout the week, students worked on notes, letters, and posters to thank the Veterans, teachers, school staff, and bus drivers. The week went quickly and everyone enjoyed the different activities that were planned!

Wabeno 5th grade takes a field trip

The Wabeno 5th grade students went on a field trip to the Northern Lakes Impact Center in Rhinelander on November 14th. The students learned all about the First Thanksgiving. They made candles, sawed wood, played games, learned many facts, and had a traditional Thanksgiving feast for lunch.

NuRoc Resident of the Month Frances Davison

Nu-Roc Community Healthcare is excited to announce that Frances Davison has been named Resident of the Month for November, 2012.

Frances grew up in the small town of Ingram, Wisconsin and graduated from high school there. Music was one of her passions as she played the violin, piano, and organ. She met her dashing football-player husband in Ladysmith.

"Davy" and Fran were married in 1936 and relocated to Crandon; where they moved into the new Ranger Station. They were the first and only people to live there, and that is where they raised three sons. They later moved to Lake Lucerne, which is where they remained.

Frances's interests revolved around her family, her faith, and her friends. She was a member of St. Joseph's altar society for 50 years and sang in the church choir. She was proud of the fact that she became the President of the Green Bay Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. Frannie was a legendary cook, hosting many dinners for neighbors and friends. She love to play bridge with "The Gang", and was an avid mushroom and berry picker. She also canned and preserved many foods. She loved to knit, quilt, and sew; but one of her favorite things was her early morning swims, in her nightgown, on Lake

"And what can I do for you?"

Opening weekend deer hunting

Though hunters define success in different ways, 134,772 deer were successfully harvested and registered in Wisconsin during the opening weekend of the nine-day deer season. The tally is based on preliminary call-in numbers collected from registration stations by Department of Natural Resources staff.

"Congratulations to all hunters who were able to harvest a deer opening weekend of the nine-day. Though getting a deer is often the ultimate goal of the hunt, it is the whole experience of getting out there with friends and family that keeps us coming back each year," said DNR Sec. Cathy Stepp. "I hope those that weren't able to get a deer during the season opener will get back out there and enjoy the rest of the days of the season."

"I am particularly excited by the numbers of new hunters and female hunters that we are seeing in the field this year. From the pictures and stories that are being shared, there has been quite a bit of hunting success amongst this new generation of hunters," said Sec. Stepp. "There's nothing like a good first hunt to get a hunter excited for future hunts. I speak from first-hand experience on that."

"This was my second year as a deer hunter, and the thrill was even greater. I am proud to have a deer represented in this year's preliminary tally along with hundreds of thousands of others."

Opening weekend numbers up statewide

A breakdown of the harvest by DNR Region and county [PDF] is available in portable document format on the DNR website.

"We want to remind folks that these preliminary numbers come from a staff call-around to deer registration stations this morning," said Tom Hauge, director of the DNR wildlife management program. "The final opening weekend tally will likely be somewhat larger, when all the registration stubs are entered into the data base over the next couple of months."

Weather is one of many factors that can influence harvest rates on opening weekend. The state saw a mix of conditions including fog in many central counties that hung on for several hours until it was burned off with the rising sun, and temperatures climbing into the 40s and 50s by mid-morning. Most other areas had excellent conditions, but statewide hunters missed the snow that they like. "Though a light dusting of snow would have provided ideal conditions for hunting, warm and dry weather does tend to allow people to stay out in the field or the tree stand longer," said Hauge.

Overall, the statewide harvest is up over 19 percent from 2011, and registration increased in all regions. The warm weather likely had some hunters registering their deer right away instead of leaving them hang at camp, which likely bumped up the numbers. "Generally, we see about 60 percent of the overall harvest in the first weekend, but we hold drawing of conclusions until the season is complete," Hauge said.

Preliminary harvest numbers are up in all regions and bucks are up statewide by 24 percent over 2011. Though the harvest is up in all regions, there are areas of the state, primarily in the northern counties, where hunters are reporting low deer sightings, according to Hauge.

The department's license sales office reported 614,435 gun deer licenses sold by midnight, Nov. 16, prior to the Saturday start of the season. Deer license and tag sales will continue through the hunting seasons. Nearly 26,000 new hunters also bought licenses to deer hunt for the first time, or for the first time in 10 years, this year. Females represented 32 percent of resident First Time

Gun Deer licenses and 30 percent of residents bought first Time Junior Gun Deer licenses.

Deer hunters continued to engage in another standing tradition, buying their license on the way up to deer camp Friday. Between 4 and 5 p.m. Friday, deer license sales peaked at 200 licenses sold every minute. 105,948 licenses sold Friday before the season opener, a record one-day sale.

Some facts about Wisconsin hunters:

- 614,435 Total Deer Gun Hunter, up 2 percent from last year
- Resident deer licenses (568,831) are up 1.5 percent
- Nonresident deer licenses (32,554) up 2 percent
- 10/11 year old Mentored Gun Deer licenses (13,050) are up 10 percent
- 60 percent of gun deer licenses were sold in the month of November
- Females represent 9.5 percent of total gun hunters
- 78,604 (or 13 percent) were youth (under age of 18)
- 61,276 (or 10 percent) were senior citizens (65 years of age and older)
- Hunters come to Wisconsin from all 50 states and several foreign countries
- 25,703 First Time Buyer Licenses were sold
 - 13,511 resident gun deer
 - 8,976 resident junior gun deer
 - 3,216 nonresident gun deer
- 9,001, or 35 percent of First Time Buyers were youth (17 years of age and under)

For more facts about Wisconsin hunters in the field this year, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "deer." A licensing table and breakdown is regularly updated on this page.

Injury report

There were three hunting related injuries reported. One incident was self-inflicted and two were two-party incidents. The incidents occurred in Columbia, Manitowoc and Portage County and are still under investigation. Additionally, Fort McCoy authorities are investigating the death of a hunter on the military base.

Though DNR does not track non-firearm related incidents, there have been reports of injuries resulting from falls from tree-stands. About one third of all hunters will take a fall from a tree stand during their hunting careers. "This serves as an important reminder to everyone hunting during the remainder of the deer season to wear a full-body safety harness, use a haul line to raise and lower your unloaded firearm, and carry a cell phone in a secure pocket you can reach in the event of a fall," said Conservation Warden Jon King, Hunter Education Administrator. "Please refresh your knowledge of tree stand safety on our web site."

Additional safety reminders and tips are available by visiting dnr.wi.gov, search "tree stand safety," and also view a safe hunting feature.

"As the season continues, we want to stress the importance of hunters keeping safety foremost in their minds at all times on the hunt -- and during all deer drives," said King. King noted that historically about one-third of Wisconsin's shooting incidents happen during deer drives, usually because someone wasn't where they were supposed to be or someone shot at a deer when they did not have a safe backstop or in a direction they should not have been shooting.

"Hunters can make 2012 a good, safe season. This is the best deer hunting tradition to maintain. A safe hunt is a successful hunt," concluded Sec. Stepp.

Guitarist Mark Kroos to perform at Nicolet College

Virtuoso double-neck guitarist Mark Kroos will bring his considerable talents to the Nicolet College Theatre at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 30, for an explosive and energetic performance that is sure to be as entertaining to listen to as it is to watch.

"Mark is a true performer and simply amazing on the double-neck guitar," said Nicolet College Theatre Director Jim Nuttall, who booked Kroos as part of the college's Nicolet Live! Performing Arts Series. "He manages to sound like a full-blown band all on his own. People are sure to groove on his high-energy, charismatic stage presence. He truly is a rising star in the guitar world."

As a testament to his talent, Kroos won Guitar Player Magazine's Guitar Superstar Competition in 2011.

His music, described as extreme folk guitar, draws upon a variety of genres, from country to Celtic, to bluegrass and funk, and has a primarily instrumental style that is characterized by open harmonies, rich textures and a mesmerizing tapping technique. His performances take him around the country to college campuses, concert halls and churches. Kroos has shared the stage with guitar greats such as Phil Keaggy, Mike Stern and Lee Ritenour.

Kroos' 2010 debut solo instrumental album, And Grace Will Lead Me Home, received rave reviews. This fall Kroos released his second solo instrumental album, Down Along the Lines of Joy, featuring original compositions for the double- and single-necked guitar. The new album, Kroos said, "is based on the idea that while happiness is a fleeting feeling that comes and goes with outside influence, joy is something that remains in the heart no matter what. It's something put there by God, and you feel it in the happy times, and in the sad times as well."

The tune Kroos on the Loose "is one of most difficult pieces I've ever tried to play," he added. "It has two completely separate 16th-note lines that run through the whole thing. It's pretty crazy. It took me about eight months from the time I started writing it until I was able to record it."

Originally from Lansing, Mich., and currently based in Williamsburg, Va., Kroos majored in jazz studies and guitar performance in college, and then toured with his ska/punk band, The Argonauts, until 2009. At that point he picked up the acoustic guitar and started teaching. He also taught himself how to play and write music for the double-necked guitar.

Tickets are $13 and can be ordered online at nicoletlive.com or by calling Nicolet at (715) 365-4646.

Hunters register 4,400 black bear in 2012 season

MADISON – Hunters registered just more than 4,400 black bears during the 2012 black bear season in Wisconsin, which state wildlife officials say is the second highest number on record. Hunters registered 5,133 bears in 2010 and 4,257 in 2011.

Wisconsin is known throughout the country as having both large bear as well as an abundant population that lives primarily in the northern third and central forest area of the state, according to Kevin Wallenfang, big game ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources.

"In recent years, bear have become more common throughout the state including many central and southern counties. We had a bear reported as far south as Green County this year, and we're hearing of more bear living year-round in many central counties," he says.

Bear hunters have until midnight on Dec. 10 to apply for a harvest permit for the 2013 hunting season, or preference point for future years. The number of permits available for the 2013 black bear hunt has not yet been determined.

"We are currently looking at information from the 2011 and 2012 hunts, and will present our recommended harvest levels to the Natural Resources Board in January," Wallenfang says.

The DNR, with the help of volunteers from the Wisconsin Bear Hunters Association and other cooperators, has been conducting research to better estimate the number of bear in the state. A similar study done in 2006 showed significantly more than previously estimated, so harvest quotas and permits were increased.

"We are likely now to the point where we will need to consider backing off on permit levels in some areas this year," Wallenfang said.

Wisconsin's bear harvest permits are strictly limited, and hunters must apply for several years before receiving a permit.

"We had more than 104,000 applications for just over 9,000 permits last year," Wallenfang says. The wait time to receive a permit varies by management zone and has been running between four and nine years, and could increase if harvest quotas are reduced.

Hunters are reminded that in order to retain their accumulated preference points, they must apply at least once during any three consecutive year period or they will lose all previously accumulated preference points. If a zone is selected at the time of purchase and the hunter is selected in the February drawing, their preference points will be reset to zero, even if they do not purchase the harvest permit. Winners in the drawing will be notified by mail shortly after the drawing and may purchase their 2013 Class A bear license beginning March 6.

The 2013 bear season begins Sept. 4 and runs through Oct. 8 with hound hunters starting first in most zones.

Hunt Safely And Heat Safely

Green Bay, WI - An expected 670,000 licensed deer hunters will soon take up residency in their part-time shelters in the next few weeks. Wisconsin Public Service (WPS) advises that heating systems in those cabins, campers, tents or shanties should be carefully inspected to ensure proper working condition and proper venting. A build-up of carbon monoxide (CO) can result if heating equipment is not operating efficiently and not vented properly.

CO is an odorless, colorless and tasteless gas and can be produced by improper burning and venting of fossil fuels such as natural gas, wood, propane, gasoline or kerosene. If levels of CO build up in a confined area, they can cause death for occupants.

WPS recommends having a carbon monoxide and smoke detector in each shelter, particularly where hunters sleep. Replace old batteries with new batteries in both CO and smoke detectors and be sure to test them to make sure they produce an audible warning sound.

Initial signs of CO poisoning include headache, dizziness, fatigue, nausea, confusion and general flu-like symptoms. Fresh air is immediately required so windows and doors should be opened and occupants should go outside. If there are serious health concerns, dial 9-1-1 and request immediate assistance.

Carbon monoxide buildup is the most common cause of fatal poisoning in the state. Victims overtaken by CO poisoning, can die in their sleep.

Check chimneys and vents that can get plugged by animal or bird nests, leaves or snow and ice. Small propane heaters and stoves, kerosene, wood burning and charcoal grills also produce CO when not vented properly.

If using a portable heater, make sure to abide by the manufacturer's recommendations for safe operation. Those directions for safe operations are included with each unit purchased.

Electrical Safety

Recent high winds may have caused some natural pruning in heavily forested areas, meaning potentially dangerous situations involving broken tree limbs and power lines may have resulted. If anyone comes across a potentially dangerous situation, contact WPS 24-hour Emergency Service at 800-450-7240 to report your location and situation.

Hunters also should not shoot near power lines or electrical equipment or substations. A stray shot can cause damage and potentially interrupt electrical service to an area.

Portable electrical generators that use a gasoline engine should never be used inside your residence or garage, even if doors and windows are open. Most manufacturers suggest using portable generators more than 20 feet from your residence.

Wolf hunting & trapping closed in zones 2 & 4

MADISON - The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources has closed Wolf Harvest Zones 2 and 4 to hunting and trapping of gray wolves effective November 16, 2012.

The two zones close Friday at the end of hunting hours for hunting and at the close of trapping hours for trappers, which is 8 p.m.

Wolf Harvest Zones 2 and 4 are the first zones to be closed this season. The harvest of wolves currently remains open in all other zones. The department will continue to closely monitor the harvest in the remaining zones and does expect an increase in the rate of harvest during this weekend's gun deer season. Wolf hunters and trappers should check for additional zone closures throughout the weekend.

It is the hunter or trapper's responsibility to determine the closure status of a wolf zone [PDF] prior to attempting to hunt or trap wolf in that zone.

"The harvest trend in Zone 2 has been steady while harvest in Zone 4, which is one wolf from quota, has been sporadic. We've watched trends and feel our best decision to make sure we don't exceed quotas is to start the closure process today just prior to reaching quota, anticipating increased harvest rates with the opening of the nine-day deer hunt this weekend," said Kurt Thiede, DNR Lands Division Administrator. "This is Wisconsin's inaugural season. We are learning much about hunter and trapper success rates that will help us draft permanent rules that continue to move the wolf population down toward levels in line with biological and social carrying capacity."

"We will be considering harvest trends as we approach quotas in other zones as well. Our ultimate goal is to reduce the wolf population by 116 animals, distributed across the landscape," said Thiede.

The state wolf harvest quota for Zone 2 was set at 20 wolves and the closure process was initiated when 18 wolves were reported as harvested. The state wolf harvest quota for Zone 4 was set at 5 wolves and the closure process was initiated when 4 wolves were reported as harvested. Wolf hunters and trappers are advised that they can continue to pursue wolves in zones 1, 3, 5 and 6, but are urged to watch zones 1 and 5.

When additional zones are closed, the Wisconsin DNR will announce such closures by news releases, notification by searching keyword "wolf" on the DNR website dnr.wi.gov, and on the wolf call-in number, 1-855-299-9653. It is the hunter's and trapper's responsibility to check for and know about zone closures. DNR encourages hunters and trappers to check the website or the call-in number daily.

"I Hear America Singing" was sung by the Elementary School Students, Taps was played at the closing of the ceremony, the colors were retired by the Legion and High School Principal Matt Paulson thanked everyone for attending and dismissed the group.

A delicious lunch was served after the program at Wabeno Grade School by Darlene Spaulding and her staff.

Veterans Day is important because we honor those who have or are still serving to this day. We honor them to thank them for their hard work and their courage of leaving behind their jobs, homes and families. Veterans are the real heroes we should look up to, and we pray for them everyday.
