CHS Summer Drama

In the Crandon School Auditorium, on the evening of July 2nd at 7:00 p.m., the Crandon Summer Drama Troupe will present a free-will offering play for the public. As the characters enter the scene, we learn that a young couple have just inherited an old, abandoned theatre. As a grand opening, they make plans to have a play ready for Fourth of July weekend. One problem ... it's haunted.

Come and watch The Ghost Light and see what unfolds.

Lincoln Town Hall Grand Opening June 22nd

The Town of Lincoln is holding a Grand Opening at their new town hall on Saturday, June 22nd. Justifiably proud of their new community structure, the town is inviting everyone to come and take a look. When there, all are invited to join in the food and refreshments being served. Larry Sommer assures us that he will be cooking the Johnsonville brats to perfection!

Be there between 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. for the festivities at 5376 County W, just east of Crandon at the junction of W and Hwy 8. Everyone is welcome!

The Secret Garden to be performed at the Goodman-Armstrong Creek gym

In the Goodman-Armstrong Creek gym in Goodman, June 29 at 1 p.m. the Missoula Children's Theater with area students playing the roles will perform The Secret Garden. The one-time matinee performance will include students from the area who wish to have theater as part of the summer experience. Ages can range from those entering first grade to those entering the senior year in high school.

Sue West, proprietor of Ranger Station Antiques in Goodman, was instrumental in bringing the traveling show to Goodman. She indicated that the auditions Monday, June 24, will be open for anyone who wishes to be part of the experience. There could be students who are spending a week at the lake or anyone interested from Pembine or Crandon or Florence or Laona or Wabeno because the directors can accommodate anywhere from 50-60 kids in the set format.

For those who do wish to audition, they must be available all week from June 24 to June 29. With auditions set for 10 a.m. on Monday until noon, the first rehearsal is scheduled for 12:30 and subsequent days afterwards. The presenters have indicated by their website that they cannot accommodate someone who cannot immerse themselves for the full week. The show includes music, and West said that long ago she made certain to procure a piano player, an essential. The directors are looking for students who can sing and move and deliver lines. More than likely, few, if any, will be cut. Auditions are for filling particular roles and parts. Others can work on scenery and do behind the scenes work. They may also choose a couple student directors.

The idea for the traveling children's theater was borne in 1972 when Don Collins and Jim Caron were to travel from Missoula to Miles City, Montana, for the presentation of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Rather than chance driving seven children over the February roads, the pair auditioned for the dwarf roles in Miles City. When 450 kids arrived for auditions, the seeds of a traveling show featuring local talent was created.

A portion of their mission statement reads: "Although MCT's programs tour to major metropolitan centers, MCT remains dedicated to providing financially accessible arts experiences to all communities, regardless of size or economic status."

West and her son have contributed to bringing the troupe to the area, and groups such as the Goodman-Armstrong Creek PTO and the Red Hatters, as well as the local school system are contributing.

"The show is wonderful," West said. She has seen it more than once, and a granddaughter has been in it. "Anyone even visiting the area can audition, if they are around for the week."

The show is not without cost to viewers. Box office fees are $7 for adults and $4 for children. Fees will offset the cost to bring the makings of the show from Montana. The goal is to provide a theater experience for area students from a young age to senior high. Imagine this as a miniature Cirque de Soleil.

Guess who's coming to dinner! A young black bear helps himself at a bird feeder on Rollingstone Lake. Or, is it a bear feeder?

Canned food drive helps anchor local Relay for Life

The luminaria ceremony is an important part of Relay for Life, a time to honor those who have been touched by cancer and to remember lost loved ones. A luminaria is a small paper lantern lit with a candle. The 2013 RFL luminaria ceremony will be at 9 p.m. on Friday July 26th, at Cardinal Park.

Each luminaria will be anchored by a can of food to prevent it from blowing away. Relay for Life Teams, NEWCAP, Schaefer's, Associated Bank, Co-Vantage and Forest County Chamber of Commerce are working together to collect canned goods for the luminarias.

We are hoping to collect around 1,400 cans of food. We usually have more than 1,000 luminarias at the Relay.

Luminarias are available for $5. They are typically decorated with the name of a cancer survivor or of someone who died from the disease, the second leading cause of death in the United States.

Luminarias will be available during the walk, which is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. on July 26th with opening ceremonies and the traditional "Survivors Lap".

After the Relay, all canned goods will be donated to the NEWCAP Food Pantry. Last year we collected 200lbs of food for the NEWCAP Food Pantry. Please drop any canned food items off at Schaefer's, Associated Bank, Co-Vantage or the Forest County Chamber office.

Lumberjack Steam Train and Camp 5 Logging Museum open for the season

The historic Lumberjack Steam Train will make its first run of the year to the Camp 5 Logging Museum Complex on June 20, 2013. Take the whole family on a trip back in time with a ride on a vintage steam train, located in Laona, Wis., within convenient driving distance of Chicago, the Twin Cities and all points in Wisconsin.

As the season kicks off the Camp 5 Museum Foundation is happy to announce a major donation of documents and pictures from the early lumber years in Northern Wisconsin collected by author Harvey Huston. Some of the items from the collection donated by his daughter, Ondre Huston, are already on display. Over time

Expiration Dates Explained

Dates on products aren't as important as you might think. By law, only infant formula and certain baby foods are required to have dates stamped on them. (How does a soft drink expire?) Most foods are still edible after the "expiration date" has come and gone. However, the flavor may be affected.

Before you toss out good food based on expiration dates, be sure to know what the codes mean:

Different Codes

- Sell by: Don't buy the product after this date. This is the expiration date.
- Best if used by: Flavor or quality is best before this date, but the product is still edible thereafter.
- Use by: This is the last day that the manufacturer vouches for the product's quality.

More Advisory Than Imperative

The dates listed on food products are basically guidelines, for both sellers and customers. Most of the dates are not actually expiration dates and don't mean that you'll get sick if you eat something that is past its best-by date.

Use Common Sense

You should, of course, use common sense. If a product has a bad smell or a bad look to it, don't eat it. If it's a box of crackers, you should be fine. Eggs are good for 3 to 5 weeks after their dates, and dairy may be, but use caution.

How you store your food products can also make a difference. Many people freeze meats after the use-by/freeze-by dates and find them still good when used. However, if you don't wrap meats well enough, then the quality and safety can be harmed.

Sell-by dates usually allow additional time for storage at home. Generally, perishable products can be kept safely in your refrigerator for seven days after you buy them, even if that's past the given date. Fresh meat is the exception. Don't keep beef or pork for longer than three to five days before you use it or freeze it. And use poultry, seafood, and ground or chopped meat within two days (or freeze it). Most meats are good for almost a year after you purchase them if you keep them well-wrapped in a freezer.

The Friends of the Wabeno Public Library held their Spring meeting this past week. We enjoyed an interesting program presented by Michelle Gobert of the Crandon Library on Genealogy. All of the public libraries have access to many online resources to help in one's quest to investigate their roots.

Dates to remember for our members are Steam Up Days, July 13 and 14 for our annual Book Sale Fund Raiser and Family Fun Night, August 2nd, where we will have an Information & Membership Drive Booth and a Bake Sale. See you all there.

Remember dues are due, get them to our Treasurer or President. New Members are always welcome.

ABC's of Medicare Workshop

New to Medicare? Have questions? Get answers!

Original Medicare began in 1965 and was pretty straightforward and easy to understand. Part A paid for hospital, Part B paid for doctor's appointments...and beneficiaries picked up a Medicare Supplement Insurance policy to fill any gaps. Simple.

However, the implementation of Medicare Part D and tremendous influx of Medicare Advantage (Part C) plans have added so many choices for Medicare beneficiaries. It's quite confusing to try to sort through the alphabet soup.

In an effort to meet the increased demand for Medicare counseling and all its complexities, the Elder Benefit Specialist (EBS) program now offers "ABC's of Medicare" workshops throughout the year for Forest County residents who will be newly eligible for Medicare.

This workshop is ideal for people who will be turning 65 in the upcoming months and will be newly eligible for Medicare...However, it can also be helpful to ANY Medicare beneficiary who has questions or concerns regarding complicated Medicare options and benefits.

This causal workshop is limited to 8-10 participants. It is a complete and comprehensive overview, and participants do have an opportunity to ask questions throughout the class. Every effort is made to provide all with a better understanding of how Medicare "works" and how to objectively compare their insurance for health and drug coverage.

The Elder Benefit Specialists DO NOT "sell" insurance products or advise participants on what they SHOULD buy or who has the best "plan". Their role is to explain Medicare and to teach best practices so folks learn how they can OBJECTIVELY compare the various types of products that are marketed to newly eligible Medicare beneficiaries.

The workshop DOES include an "online" computer program demonstration of the Medicare health and drug plan finder tool that is located at www.Medicare.gov. This tool is

Walk, Dance, Play

Tips for Older Adults to be Active Every Day!

Be Active in Cold Weather:

- Shopping malls often open early for people to walk. Check with local schools to see if they allow people to walk in their hallways or gym before or after school.
- Put your favorite music on the stereo or TV and find an open area in your home to dance.
- Take the stairs, even if it is only one flight.

Be Active in Warm Weather:

- Take a walk to the park with your grandchildren or neighborhood friends.
- Gardening and lawn work are great ways to be active and are very satisfying.

Be Active Every Day:

- Children and adults should get at least 60 minutes of moderate physical activity every day. Try to be active for at least 10-20 minutes at a time. If you have a health problem or pain when you are active, see your doctor for ideas on how to be as active as you can.

Eat Well to Be Active:

- Water is very important for keeping your body hydrated, cooling your body in the summer and moving nutrients around the body.
- Being well hydrated can prevent constipation, colds, and other illness and help medications work better.

Tips for getting enough water:

- Add a lemon slice or a few slices of cucumber to a glass of water for a refreshing flavor.
- For very cold water you can take with you, fill plastic bottles 1/4 full of water and freeze, then fill with fresh tap water.
- Always have a glass of water with your meals. Increase the size of the glass a little each day, as you adjust to drinking more water.

Orange Cream Float

- 1 Cup 100% Orange Juice
 - 1 Cup clear sparkling water or club soda
 - 2 small scoops of vanilla ice cream
- Pour half the juice and sparkling water into each of two glasses. Place a scoop of ice cream into each glass. Enjoy with a straw or spoon - or both! Makes 2 servings, one for you and one to share with your grandchild or a friend!

RUTH ROSCELLA JAMES, 1928-2013. My Mother, Ruth R. DuFour took her journey to her heavenly home on 5 June 2013. She was buried in the Hiles cemetery and we dedicated her grave on June 8. Ruth had been in an Assisted Living memory care ward in Wausau since December 2012. "KSMS Our House" is an excellent facility and provided exceptional care for Ruth until her passing. She was well liked by the staff and kept them on their toes, much in the fashion of her way of "telling it like it is." She passed comfortably, although this past year was difficult for her as the dementia took hold and she began to realize how much of her life was slipping away. She began to long to go home. Whether the home of her younger years with her husband Art or even to the home of her parents and her youth.

In a broader sense she went quickly, since it was only about a year and a half ago that she was first diagnosed. This was a blessing, as so many with the disease linger for years as the disease takes its toll. It was only two falls ago that she was still deer hunting.

She was born Ruth Roscella James on 14 June 1928, in Hiles, WI to Joseph and Clara (Rasmussen) James and spent her entire life between there and Argonne. She was preceded in death by her husband Arthur, her grandson Dylan, and her sister Violet Otten. She is survived by sisters Marie Mahner, Marjorie Newman, Ila Mae Flannery, and Alice (Wally) Ritchie and by brother Monte (Dora) James.

Her young years were spent on the family farm. She told of picking rocks with the stoneboat and taking the horses uptown to see friends. She would snare rabbits and hunt with Grandpa. One of the most memorable stories was when she was booted into an open well by a sheep. By using a shelf of ice that formed around the edges and bracing herself against the walls she was able to get herself out. Her little car was mentioned often and she told how Grandpa would take the fender off to use the tire to run the buzz rig for cutting wood.

She worked various places including on potato harvesters for Red Dot and later for the Strickert plant in Crandon. She was one of the first two people at the Crandon Bemis factory to make the 25 year club. After a few more years she retired to the farm. She always put in a big garden and when my dad passed away in '89 she ran the farm by herself, raising beef cattle. I came home to help with the major events of cutting firewood and making hay, but she did the rest. She sewed carpet rags and had rugs made and when I was young her and Gma James made room sized braided rugs. I grew up, not with carpeting, but on a braided rug which still occupies the floor of my bedroom. She made home-made soap and often when someone butchered a hog we'd get the fat and I can remember that awful smell when she was rendering it down.

She liked to fish and hunt and the cane pole was her favorite for catching panfish. In her later years she went to Canada, with nephew Joe and had a great time catching the big fish, though the big and choppy waters scared her. She has the record for the biggest buck in the family and loved to see the deer and turkeys.

She married Art DuFour in January of 1948 and they made their home in Hiles until the early 70's when they moved to my Grandma Emma DuFour's farm in Argonne. I was their only child, though they lost three children to complications with the full term pregnancies.

We always had a milk cow, a steer, and I had horses. For a period of time we raised rabbits. Of course there were dogs and cats over the years as well. We attended the Lutheran church in Hiles and for some time my dad was the treasurer. We were the caretakers for the Hiles cemetery since it was just across the road and I mowed it when I was young.

The age of snowmobiles came along and we enjoyed many winter explorations. Mother and I rode the 100 mile Sno Safari in one day, each on our own sled. I think she fared better than I after those many miles on what in those days were often rough bumpy trails.

For a while she enjoyed bowling on a team in Crandon. After she retired she learned how to play Sheephead, and during the winter traveled to Newald with friends from Argonne to play Sheephead with the folks up there.

She worked hard all her life in one fashion or another, whether cutting and piling wood, picking weeds in the garden, picking rocks before spring planting of the hay and oat fields. She has butchered cows and deer by herself and often processed the meat at home.

Spring calving was a special time for her and she would spend hours sitting in the barn waiting for the delivery in case they needed help.

She was a remarkable woman and accomplished so much in her simple rural life. She often put on a course exterior and could give it back as sharply as she received it when joking and kidding around. She told it like it was and didn't put on airs and that is partly why she endeared herself to so many people who knew her. Inside she was tenderhearted and would do most anything for anyone that asked or needed help. She may have been hardened by a tough world and seen too much sorrow, but she endured and was a steady rock for me and others.

She will be greatly missed, but I trust she has found some peace to finally be "going home."

I want to thank everyone for your cards, gifts, flowers & labors when we bid her farewell at the burial service and dinner. Thanks so much for your well wishes and condolences.

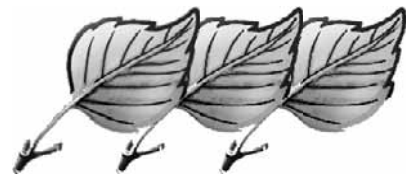

Neal DuFour, 14 June 2013

Leo lived in Green Bay for over 60 years. He enlisted in the Army in 1944 and proudly served under General George S. Patton at the Battle of the Bulge during WWII. On November 6, 1954, Leo married Claire Platten at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Green Bay. He drove semi briefly, prior to his 33 years of employment with Bay West. Upon his retirement Leo and Claire built their retirement home in Townsend. Prior to that, the family spent many happy summers at Little Green Lake.

Leo enjoyed spending time hunting and fishing in his younger years. Like his father, who at one time was a lumberjack, Leo enjoyed spending quality time in the woods, especially cutting and splitting firewood for family and local campgrounds. He also liked watching car races and spending time with his dogs, three of which were named "Gus". One of his favorite things was the challenge of a good crossword puzzle. Leo also had an affinity for listening to and playing music. He loved entertaining his family by playing the piano, harmonica, and singing. He instilled his family with the love of music. Leo had a delightful sense of humor that will continue on through generations. He had a full and adventurous life right until the end. He will be dearly missed.

Leo is survived by his wife, Claire; five children, Bernie (Wendy) Baeb, Gary (Cindy) Baeb, Diane (Steve) Smith, Lorraine (David) Randall, and Renee Baeb; nine grandchildren, Matthew (Cassie), Benjamin (Courtney), Kevin, April, Sean, Maria, Stephanie (Liam), Benjamin and Katherine; three great-grandchildren, Nathan, Aaron and Sam; a sister, Sarah Renier and many other family and friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents; three brothers, Raymond, Jules and Albert; and two sisters, Mae and Eileen.

Death Notices

MARY ELIZABETH TIEDE (NÉE MCNULTY) died on June 17, 2013, surrounded by her daughters. It was a bright, sunny, summer day.

Mary was born in Wabeno, WI on February 23, 1929, to Grace and William the 10th of eleven children. The family lived in the woods at the edge of Wabeno. Money was not plentiful but love, patience, caring and a sense of fun and mischief was in abundance. These traits were Mary's foundation along with a deep sense of family and community topped off with a profound pride in her Irish heritage.

Mary, a lifelong resident of Wabeno, graduated from Wabeno High School in 1947 and married her husband, John F. Tiede, on June 21st, of that same year. The newlyweds took up residence in the upstairs of John's parents' farm in the town of Freedom. Later, taking over the dairy farm, Mary and John worked side by side for decades while raising their five children. While juggling her roles as wife, mother, and farmer, Mary decided to attend the Antigo Normal School (teacher's college) where she graduated in 1971, the same year her daughter Kathy graduated high school. Mary worked as a substitute teacher and then became a classroom aide at the Job Corps Center in Blackwell. Wishing to be the teacher rather than the aide, Mary enrolled at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point where daughter, Laura, also attended school. Mary earned her bachelor's degree in 1985 one semester ahead of Laura and then became a lead teacher at Job Corps where she worked tirelessly helping young men and women earn their GED's and better their lives.

Mary crocheted tablecloths, doilies, bedspreads and afghans - treasured possessions of her children and grandchildren. She was also a skilled seamstress making many of her children's clothes as well as her daughter Becky's wedding dress and bridesmaids dresses. Mary was an avid knitter. She played piano. Mary's connection to nature was profound and included a tremendous love of wildflowers.

Mary shared her time and talent freely. Her volunteer activities, many of which she kept up for decades, included, to name a few: Ladies Aid, church choir, 4-H leader, and SKP member, a club of Freedom farm wives that hosted the annual Christmas program at the town hall, the location of many a festive dance where Mary could be seen whirling around the floor in pure joy. Mary was also the local "piercer". She pierced the ears of her three daughters, many neighbor girls and even her Aunt Tressa, an octogenarian who laughed through the whole thing. Mary's McNulty family was of utmost importance. She attended niece's and nephew's graduations and weddings, waited in great anticipation for the annual McNulty reunion at Point Beach State Park and she was always thrilled when family would drop by; even better if they stayed the night. Then, the living room floor would become a tangle of blankets, cousins, giggling and silliness as adults crowded around the kitchen table laughing, playing cards and "shooting the bull".

In "retirement" Mary kept up with her former volunteer activities and added a few more including tutoring in Wabeno Schools and working at the Christian thrift store. John and Mary traveled extensively both in the United States and Europe. After John's death, Mary traveled with her sisters including trips to Ireland, a cruise through the Mediterranean and a trip to Alaska. The pictures suggest much shenanigans were afoot.

Mary's light-hearted exuberance wove fun into everything she did. Sunday afternoons the living room was transformed into a dance floor for polkas, long car rides flew by as she led songs and made up games. Mary was among the "founding members" of the Dump Club a.k.a. The Recyclables, a social group that meets once a week, for dinner, or bonfires on the ice of Windfall Lake or drinks. For Mary, that would mean an old fashioned.

Preceded in death by her husband John, F. Tiede, parents Grace and William McNulty as well as siblings Lucille, Darlene, Audrey, George, Beatrice, Leola, Etherel, and Harold.

Survivors include children Kathryn Hermsen (Reginald), Laura Tiede (John Bailey), Rebecca Mary Shelhammer (Jim), John G. (Roseanne) and Michael (Jean), beloved sisters Charlotte and Edna, nine cherished grandchildren, thirteen great-grandchildren, brother-in law Melvin, sisters-in-law Henrietta, Jean and Blanche, and many dear, dear, nieces and nephews. Mary's family and friends applaud her extraordinary life, and deeply grieve the incredible loss caused by her death.

the entire collection will be incorporated into the already extensive collection of early logging history in the museum. The Foundation is working toward cataloguing and cross referencing names and places so that future generations may be able to track their relatives.

"I am delighted to know that my father's collection has found a home where it will be appreciated by so many people," said Ms. Huston. "In addition, I know my father had enjoyed his correspondence and visits with Mary Roddis Connor and Gordon R. Connor who founded Camp 5 and had helped him with information for his books."

"There is a lot of information included in the files of Harvey Huston. So far, we have only scratched the surface, it is a 'treasure trove' of information and we are proud that she chose to donate it to our collection," said Cate Dellin, president of the Camp 5 Museum Foundation. "These new materials will be interesting to railroad buffs, genealogists and early Wisconsin historians. The collection includes pictures of early towns like Pickerel and Long Lake, among others and show how isolated living up in this area was in the early years of settlement."

Harvey Huston was the author of the books Thunder Lake Narrow Gauge Railroad and also the Roddis Line. His two books on logging railroads in Northern Wisconsin culminated years of research. A long time summer visitor to Northern Wisconsin, his love of railroads, his naturally curious mind, his love of history, and his organizational skills all brought this to his quest and mission to know more about the history of the area. He was the attorney for the Santa Fe Railroad and resided in the suburbs of Chicago. His books were published after years of diligent research and hundreds of letters, searching for answers to his questions. He also accumulated hundreds of early photographs, of which he used many in his books.

Tickets on the Lumberjack Steam Train include the round-trip ride and admission into the Camp 5 Logging Museum Complex of historic and natural attractions, including the Logging Museum and Blacksmith Shop, Green Treasure Forest Tour, Animal Barn and Corral, the Nature Center, Cracker Barrel Store, Francis Weiner Diesel Static Display and Choo Choo Hut Restaurant & Picnic Area. Visitors are welcome to bring their own picnic coolers. Discounted memberships are available for frequent visitors.

The 2013 season will again feature a number of special events, including the Timberworks Lumberjack Show (June 29), cowboy reenactment (October 5) and the annual fall festival. The last summer run is August 24, with fall special tours scheduled for September 21, 28 and October 5. The Lumberjack Steam Train has four runs a day to the Wisconsin Forestry Museum complex and is open Monday through Saturday, rain or shine. Group rates are available. The Lumberjack Steam Train offers free admission, with proper identification, to active duty armed services personnel and their families.

Thank You & Personals

If you see this gal wish her a Happy Birthday on the 21st!

So? Where do you begin to say THANK YOU!

My name is Jim Odekirk, I have lived in Forest County for 35 years now. For 25 of those years I was first a City of Crandon Police officer, and then a Forest County Deputy. I have seen and responded to many- many accidents over those 25 years. I've been retired from the Sheriffs Department a little over 7 years now.

On June 4th 2013 at just a little past noon, while riding one of my beloved Suzuki Cavalcade motorcycles, a mile from my home on County Rd. O, I and the motorcycle had an unfortunate meeting, with a buck deer.

When we all stopped moving, the deer was dead, the motorcycle was dead, and I, was very much in need of immediate help.

I had some pretty serious face and head wounds {yes, a helmet would have been a good idea then, and will be in the future} my hands and legs took a lot of punishment too, a badly broke right leg topped the list of my need for immediate help.

If you know County O, you know its probably the least traveled road in the County Rd. System. I dug out my cell phone, and dialed 911 while laying in the middle of the road. A very familiar former co-worker's voice answered that 911 call, and started my journey through our county's professional EMS system. So at this point, I wish to Thank Sheriff John Denee and his entire staff. As a retired member of this department, I wish to proudly state, "I believe that Forest County currently has the most professional Law Enforcement Team ever assembled in its history". Thank you, to all of you that serve.

The first responder to the scene was Laona Marshall John Thornton, both a friend and former co-worker. John, it was a big relief to see your face, and hear the words that "help is on its way".

I really wish to Thank the entire Forest county EMS system, and need to single out Laona's rescue squad crew, and also Crandon's, as it is my understanding that both were paged in an attempt to get me help as quickly as possible {it was a toss up as to which EMS service was closest to the accident scene}. In Forest County, these EMS "rescue squads" are staffed completely with volunteers, people who drop everything they have going on, and rush to the "Rescue Squad Barn" to respond to those in need.

I was treated at the scene, and transported by Laona's squad. I will never be able to express in words the amount of gratitude I feel for your professional and sympathetic, compassion and caring. Knowing that I was in good hands, at a moment when I was truly helpless, made all the difference.

A flight for life from Argonne's ball field, and emergency treatment at Wausau's Aspirus Hospital finished that part of the journey for me.

A 4 day stay at the hospital literally to get me stabilized, so that I could return home, resulted in my return on June 8th. Its been a slow recovery since, but the healing process is going well, and I am more comfortable everyday.

The outpouring of Love and Support I have felt throughout this journey has been literally, eye opening for me. To all of you who have reached out in anyway, Thank You!

Lastly I wish to Thank my wife Kim for becoming my nurse and caretaker, learning how to care for my wounds, and making it possible for me to return home. Thank you to our Farm Associate Cassandra who also responded to the scene and shut the ignition switch of the motorcycle off {so that its electric fuel pump quit pumping gas out in a huge puddle}. And Thank you to Sam Marvin construction who made sure I had rails installed in our homes entryway {so that I could return home}.

Sometimes, the word Thanks, can be a bit hollow, so I guess,

I'll put it in capital letters.

THANK YOU ALL!

Jim Odekirk, Cavour Wi.

WATER SYSTEM INFORMATION

If you would like to know more about the information contained in this report, please contact Chad Belland at (715)674-7005. The Laona Sanitary District Board meets on the 2nd Thursday of the month at 6:00 p.m. at the Wellhouse Office (5178 Wellhouse Rd in Laona).

HEALTH INFORMATION

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (1-800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons, such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (1-800-426-4791).

SOURCE OF WATER

Source ID	Source	Depth in Feet	Status
1	Groundwater	57	Active

To obtain a summary of the source water assessment, please contact Chad Belland at (715)674-7005.

EDUCATIONAL INFORMATION

The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water includes rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm water runoff and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which shall provide the same protection for public health.

NUMBER OF CONTAMINANTS REQUIRED TO BE TESTED

This table displays the number of contaminants that were required to be tested in the last five years. The CCR (Consumers Confidence Report) may contain up to five years worth of water quality results. If a water system tests annually, or more frequently, the results from the most recent year are shown on the CCR. If testing is done less frequently, the results shown on the CCR are from the past five years.

Contaminant Group	No. of Contaminants
Disinfection Byproducts	2
Inorganic Contaminants	16
Microbiological Contaminants	3
Radioactive Contaminants	3
Synthetic Organic Contaminants including Pesticides and Herbicides	25

Loretta Chitko

Nu-Roc Community Healthcare is pleased to announce that Loretta Chitko has been selected to be the Resident of the Season.

Loretta was one of eleven children born to Edward and Edith Hansen in Bonneval, Wisconsin. She grew up on a farm and learned how to work hard, but she also had fun, especially during the summer months when she liked to fish and go swimming. Loretta was educated in a one room school in Bonneval, going as far as the 8th grade. It was at a dance that she met her future husband, Albin. After their marriage, they lived in Chicago for six years, but Loretta was a country woman and they bought a farm and moved to Armstrong Creek.

It was in Armstrong Creek that Albin and Loretta raised their family; two sons and a daughter. Loretta was a stay at home mom and did a lot of work on the farm. She always had a huge, beautiful garden and did a great deal of canning and preserving. She liked to pick berries and make jams and jellies. Cooking was one of Loretta's favorite things to do, and she was excellent at it. She made everything from scratch. Loretta always had a green thumb and continues to love houseplants and flowers. Loretta also enjoys music, especially polkas and older country songs.

As she got older, Loretta moved to Laona to be closer to her children. These days, she looks forward to their frequent visits, and working on her word puzzle books. Loretta has many friends at Nu-Roc with whom she enjoys having coffee. Congratulations, Loretta, on this honor.

Summertime is Home Food
Preservation Time

There is nothing quite like home-canned tomatoes or crisp family-favorite dill pickles. "Preserving food from your garden or farmer's market during the summer can make for quick and delicious family meals later on," says Barbara Ingham, University of Wisconsin Extension food safety specialist, "but be sure to follow research-tested recipes for safe, high quality food that your family will enjoy."

Forest County UW-Extension is offering a series of FREE lunchtime learning opportunities so your summertime canning and food preservation activities will be based on up-to-date research-tested information. Each of these one-hour programs will be a chance to listen, learn, and ask questions of experts in the field. The following programs will be held in the Forest County Courthouse Board Room - 200 East Madison, Crandon, WI from 12 noon - 1 p.m. in the board room.

July 1 Canning Vegetables Safely - Safely preserve your garden's bounty of vegetables with canning.

July 15 Canning Tomatoes and Tomato Products - Whether pressure canning whole tomatoes, canning salsa in a boiling water canner, or even making tomato jam - options abound for safely preserving tomatoes.

Aug 5 Time to Make Pickles - Your family will enjoy the taste of summer with safe, high quality quick-pack pickles (and we'll discuss genuine dills & sauerkraut too!).

Aug 19 Drying Foods at Home - Wondering what to do with those few onions, tomatoes, carrots or tomatoes sitting in the crisper? Try dehydrating them to make a flavorful soup base. And consider dried fruit as your go-to snack for hungry kids home from school.

Aug 26 Successful Storage of Garden Produce - Extend the season as long as possible by properly storing your garden's produce.

"Food safety is, and should be, a primary concern when preserving food at home, from freezing peas to drying of apples. The extension service sets itself apart in providing research-based information," said Gail Spaniol, Forest County Nutrition Educator.

Fingernails Reveal Early Warnings About Health

The truth about your health is written in your nails. It may sound like palmistry or fortune reading, but medical experts claim they can tell a lot about a patient's health by examining their nails. Abnormal marks or color in the fingernails can even be useful in finding the right diagnosis for serious health problems.

Your Health is Written in Your Nails

Many diseases manifest themselves early in small changes. Things like minor skin conditions, alterations in the texture of hair, or changes in the fingernails can be important signs that something is not right inside the body. Changes in the shape, color, or condition of the nails "may be the first sign, it may be the herald sign of... an internal disease," says Dr. Yves Poulin, president of the Canadian Dermatology Association. "It helps to make the correct diagnosis to look at the nail."

Changes in nail color, texture, or the health of the nail bed can easily be overlooked – and may not mean anything if there was a prior trauma to the nail that caused the damage. If there's no rational explanation for a change in nail shape or pigment, however, it's usually best to have it checked out.

What Your Fingernails Could be Telling You

Changes in the appearance of fingernails can mean nothing or they can mean many things. The following are some of the nail changes that have been linked with particular symptoms and diseases.

- Color Changes:
- White nail bed – Anemia
 - White nails – Liver disease
 - White nail with dark band at the tip – Heart problems, liver disease, diabetes or malnutrition
 - White lower nail bed, while tip of nail bed is a healthy pink – Kidney problems
 - Bluish nails – Lack of oxygen
 - Green nails – Bacterial infection
 - Yellow nails – Respiratory infection or any illness that slows nail growth
 - Brown or black streak/dot under the nail – May be a bruise/trauma or may be skin cancer
 - White dots or marks on the nails – Calcium or other vitamin/mineral deficiencies
- Texture Changes:
- Thick or misshapen nails – A fungus, similar to "athlete's foot"
 - Horizontal grooves or lines across the nail – Illness has disrupted nail growth: usually caused by diabetes, circulatory disease, malnutrition or high fever
 - Pitting – Psoriasis, dermatitis or autoimmune disease
 - "Clubbing" or enlarged finger tips with curved nails – Many diseases, including lung cancer, inflammatory bowel disease or liver disease
 - Nails separating from the nail bed – Thyroid disease, infection, drug reactions or psoriasis
 - "Spoon nails" that curve into the nail bed and make a small cup or depression – Iron deficiency anemia
- Your Nails and Your Health

Take a quick look at your fingernails (your toes, too, if you're feeling ambitious). Are they pale pink, uniform in color, with a smooth texture and no visible discoloration? Then you're doing well.

On the other hand, if you do spot any of these abnormalities you're still probably fine; nails can sometimes go through changes that aren't linked to underlying health problems. Don't worry, but do mention any changes to your doctor or a health care practitioner just to be safe.

5 Ways to Save Money Grocery Shopping

1. Shop on the day the supermarkets announce their sale items—often a Thursday—when the bargains are available. If you shop later, you may get a rain check which will necessitate another trip to the store.
 2. Avoid shopping on the weekends. Go at a different time that is convenient for you, and find the best time for the stores you frequent.
 3. Shopping by an item's unit price is standard advice. Bargain items can actually be more expensive on a per unit basis. For example, a 16-ounce can of beans on sale for a dollar is more expensive per ounce than a 32-ounce can of beans for $1.50. Unit pricing, however, can be tricky when the unit varies, such as bags of cookies that have different amounts. In that case, see how many servings you get for the price.
 4. Look into online shopping and delivery services. Although you will pay a fee, (exclusive of tip), you could actually spend less because you're not enticed to buy foods that are not on your list.
 5. To eliminate waste, put foods with limited shelf lives at the front of your refrigerator where you will see them, and incorporate those ingredients in your recipes first.

Those Blasted Black Flies!

Mosquitoes are a much-dreaded fact of summer throughout the world, but anyone who enjoys the outdoors in Canada and the northernmost U.S. states knows that the real enemy of the wilderness wanderer is the malevolent black fly.

Black flies, also known as buffalo gnats or turkey gnats, are small flying insects that feed off the blood of humans and other animals. Though tiny – they reach a maximum length of 1/8" when fully-grown – black flies are a formidable foe.

Most prominent beginning in about the middle of May, and continuing to make the outdoors a miserable place to be well into June, or even July, black flies do not spread disease among humans, though their bites are painful, itchy, and slow to heal. They can cause severe allergic reactions in some, up to and including death. Because black flies tend to swarm their prey, a single victim can receive numerous bites in a short period of time, increasing the likelihood of a dangerous reaction. For this reason, some U.S. states try to control black fly populations for public health.

Unlike mosquitoes, which breed in stagnant water, black flies lay their eggs in clean fast-running water, such as rivers and streams. Female black flies lay hundreds of eggs in or near the water, so they are very common in wooded areas near bodies of water.

Repelling Black Flies

Black flies can be difficult to repel. The simplest way to prevent getting bitten is to protect your skin by wearing long sleeves and pants at all times when outdoors. Because they are attracted to dark colors, it's also a good idea to wear light-colored clothing, such as khaki, tan, or white.

One particularly annoying habit of black flies is their tendency to swarm the face. This occurs because they are attracted to the carbon dioxide we exhale. A good way to protect your face is to wear a hat with attached netting, specially designed to protect the head and neck from black flies.

Some recommended natural repellants include vanilla extract, lavender, and the extract from pine branches – just break open a young branch and rub the moisture from inside on your skin.

Avoiding wearing sweet smelling perfumes, and indulging in candy or soft drinks when outdoors can also help to reduce your risk of attracting black flies.

If you find that these home remedies are not effective, you may need to move up to a commercial insect repellent. Sprays containing DEET are often recommended, though their effectiveness against black flies is unpredictable – some even report that DEET sprays attract black flies. Repellents containing Permethrin are more likely to be effective, but they are also more toxic than DEET sprays, and can be harmful to fish, cats, and beneficial insects such as honey bees.

Soothing the Itch

If you do get attacked by black flies, there are a number of things you can do to soothe the itch. First, wash the affected area with soap and warm water, and avoid scratching the bites as much as possible. Scratching can break the skin, increasing the risk of infection. Applying topical agents such as aloe vera, witch hazel, or a gentle over the counter remedy, such as calamine lotion, can also help. If the itching persists, or is very bad, an antihistamine cream may be needed.

School District of Crandon Touts Three PBIS Schools of Merit

The School District of Crandon is proud to announce that Crandon Elementary School, Crandon Middle School and Crandon High School have all been honored by the state as PBIS schools of merit for the second consecutive year. This honor is bestowed on schools who demonstrate "tremendous work accomplished through the implementation of Positive Behavioral Intervention and Supports". The Crandon Schools were 3 of the 146 schools selected statewide to receive this honor.

Schools were recognized as Schools of Merit based on an application process, which included team and meeting information, implementation and outcome data, as well as narrative questions that described the data, systems and practices of PBIS implementation.

The School District of Crandon has many more celebrations to share; including 6 out of 9 of our varsity athletic teams receiving conference titles. This is a remarkable and historic feat in the conference and one which we are very proud of.

While the district excelled in the athletic arenas, it also did well academically and in the arts. There were wonderful productions both at the elementary, middle and high school levels. The productions included Under the Big Top and Hail to the Chief. Those productions played to packed houses in the Robert Jaeger Auditorium.

The forensics team traveled to state competition and competed well. The solo and ensemble participants fared very well in the regional and state level competitions.

Our students are also performing well in visual arts. A Crandon freshman took "Best of Show" in the highly competitive Northern Lakes Art Show. Speaking of art work, the new symbol of the district, the new Cardinal, was approved by the school board. This cardinal is an original design which was submitted as a part of a community wide art contest to redesign the Crandon Cardinal so that it is an original, representing our school. As soon as an electronic, copy written version of the new logo is created, it will be unveiled.

Attendance among the students in the district has shown steady improvement over the past three years. Attendance at school on a regular basis prevents lapses in the curriculum students receive making the students more well-rounded in their education. This is one of the many factors contributing to the increase in scores our schools are experiencing.

As James Comer, the Maurice Falk Professor of Child Psychiatry at the Yale University School of Medicine's Child Study Center, has stated, "No significant learning occurs without a significant relationship." This has been the most significant piece to the improvements the district has experienced. I believe every student feels a close bond with at least one of the teachers, paraprofessionals or administrators at school. These relationships are facilitated by the work the district is doing in regards to Positive Behavioral Intervention and Supports at school. Adults are focused on what students are doing well, and building on those things. When a student violates a rule, all staff members are viewing those incidents as teachable moments, as well as opportunities to look for ways to support the student so they do not make the same error repeatedly. This process builds relationships and makes students feel valued and respected. When students feel this way, they perform better. The School District of Crandon is indeed fortunate to have a staff and student body that embraces this philosophy.

None of the successes that are listed would have been achieved without the terrific work of great people. The coaches, the drama directors, the teachers and students have all contributed to the wonderful success the School District of Crandon has experienced. It is also important to recognize parents, as a child's first and most important teachers, have done a great job getting their students to school and preparing them for the rigors of the curriculum. The community and the parents have been very supportive of the schools this year, and that support is another factor in why the district is performing well.

The school board also plays a part in the positive work occurring. They have been terrific in supporting the initiatives in the district, allowing the work to be done. The board has established policies that allow for hiring the best possible candidates for positions. They have helped to create an atmosphere of success in the district.

As with the end of every school year, transition is inevitable. We have had some longtime members of the school community retire. Those shoes seem hard to fill, but they will be filled, and the district will continue to move forward in a positive way. Next year will see new leadership in the elementary and high school. Mrs. Jamee Belland will serve as the Elementary School Principal and Mr. Andy Space will assume the reigns of the high school as the Middle and High School Principal. Mr. Wendell Quesinberry will join us as the new Activities Director/Dean of Students.

Our school motto is "Learning Today, Leading Tomorrow"! Since 2010, the School District of Crandon has produced leaders who either are, or soon will be serving in leadership roles in other districts. Seven former Crandon teachers are now serving as administrators either in this district or other districts. It makes the district proud to know that we are producing adult leaders for Wisconsin public schools.

The district has had a great 2012-13 school year. The PBIS awards are examples of the hard work that is, and will be recognized on the part of our schools. It is truly a great time to be a Crandon Cardinal.

Padus Nicolet Gun Club Youth Shoot

June 8th, the Padus Nicolet Gun Club had a trap shoot for young shooters from the ages of 12 to 17. There were 17 shooters. With the help of our sponsors like the Laona Lions, Wabeno Lions, Crandon Raceway, Bill Voigt, Don Dombrowski, Dan Edelbeck, John Genider, Laona VFW, Walter Belland and a host of well-wishers, we had a great day with some of the dads also helping out.
