Meet Buster the police dog at Laona Family Fun Night Aug. 21

The Laona Elementary School will be hosting another Family Fun Night on Thursday, Aug. 21 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Laona Library. The theme is Pet Night.

They will be serving "pet-food" from 5:30 to 6 p.m., followed by a number of activities from 6 to 7 p.m. Participants will get a chance to read to a therapy dog, do crafts, play games, meet the K-9 police dog Buster, and explore the sheriff's department's big rig truck.

Every child will also receive a free pet-themed book. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The European Marsh Thistle, or European Swamp Thistle, can be easily mistaken for another invasive species, the Bull Thistle, due to its similar rosettes.

European Marsh Thistle spreads south

Northern Wisconsin and the U.P. of Michigan are used to new invasives spreading from the south, but there is one invasive doing the exact opposite. European Marsh Thistle, or European Swamp Thistle, entered the country around 1900 and the U.P. of Michigan in 1934. Since then, the plant has been spreading south, although it is still considered rare, and prohibited, in much of Wisconsin.

Like other thistles, Marsh Thistle starts out as a basal rosette of long, spiny, deeply lobed leaves. These rosettes can be easy to mistake with another invasive, Bull Thistle. Marsh Thistle typically sends up a flower stalk the second year (although it can take more than one year to flower). Plants can be very tall, up to 6 feet in height, with spiny winged stems, alternate leaves and distinct branching near the top of the plant. Marsh Thistle also has unique clusters of several (12+) thornless pink/purple flowers. After flowering, plants die but a host of fluffy seeds remain, up to 2,000 per plant. These seeds are easily carried away by wind, water, animals and people.

European Marsh Thistle prefers moist, acidic soils and sunny areas, but also grows in partial shade and even forest openings. In Europe this plant is not deterred by cold and grows nearly to the arctic circle. In invaded areas, Marsh Thistle is most visible in roadside ditches, but seeds can spread just as easily to undisturbed wetlands and wet forests. There it has the potential to create dense colonies, replace native plants, compete with tree seedlings in cut areas and decrease biodiversity.

Large patches of Marsh Thistle are easiest to control with herbicide in fall or early summer (before flowering). Scattered plants can be manually removed by cutting them off with a sharp shovel below the surface of the soil (plants cut above the soil may resprout/rebloom). Whichever method you use, any flower heads must be cut off and bagged before treatment. Bags can be set in the sun to compost before disposal in the landfill. Contact the Wild Rivers Invasive Species Coalition coordinator for more information.

National Night Out was BIG Success

The crowd at National Night Out.

National Night Out is an annual event held on the first Tuesday in August. It is an event to strengthen the relationship between law enforcement and the communities in which they serve, create and strengthen neighborhood unity and enjoy a night free of crime. August 5th marked the Third Annual National Night Out held by the Forest County Sheriff's Department and the City of Crandon Police Department.

This year's event had many great games for the children and parents to enjoy, such as face painting, jumping room and the dunk tank. Smokey the Bear made an appearance, as well as Sparky the Fire Dog and McGruff the Crime Dog.

National Night Out also has demonstrations and informational booths from groups to teach people safe and healthy living and how to get to safety in case of an emergency.

Antigo Fire brought a smoke house. A smoke house shows what it is like walking in structure that has caught fire. It teaches people how they react and what they should do in case of a fire. The Jaws of Life showed their power tearing into a van in a simulated accident. Three brave souls volunteered to show how a Taser works. AAA Wisconsin brought a simulator to show how a little distraction while driving is dangerous. The simulator had texting and driving, and intoxication and driving. The simulator proved that it does not take much to be distracted while driving and that it is easy to get into an accident when distracted.

The Forest County Potawatomi donated bicycle helmets for youth and adult. The helmets were given out for free. The Covantage Credit Union, lead by Crandon Branch Manager Beth Wagner, gave out tokens to kids that were redeemable at Wilson's Drive In, Palubicki's Eats and Treats and LaFettas for a free small ice cream.

Door prizes were given out that night as well. Brielle Lykins and Savannah Collins won the girls' bikes. Parker Lewis and Jared Straley won the boys' bikes. Ray Keepers won the Traxxas Truck. Kim, Jim, Walker and Tori Winkleman won the Wisconsin Dells waterpark hotel package.

Ashley Thompson and Dan Packard both stated, "This was by far the best National Night Out event that we have had. We had many people work a lot of hours to make this event happen and they all did a fantastic job. We look forward to next year."

Excitement at the Big House

(Crandon, Wisc.) Boasting an action-packed three-day schedule comprised of nearly every discipline in off-road racing, Crandon International Raceway hosted its second annual Forest County Potawatomi "Super Challenge" under sunny Wisconsin skies to far larger crowds than last year's inaugural running of the unique event.

Fair entry forms due August 29

It's that time of year again when many of you are busy planning what to enter in the Forest County Fair and others are busy planning booths or possibly activities that your organization will take part in. The Forest County Fair Citizen's Committee is very excited and hopes they will see representation from individuals and organizations throughout the county. The citizen's committee has worked hard to plan a great celebration of the county, communities and fall harvest for both children and adults.

This year's fair is being held September 4, 5, 6 and 7, with September 4 being entry day. Buildings will open at 4:30 p.m. Thursday afternoon so you can begin placing your exhibits. They are asking all Open Class exhibitors to send their entry forms to Brenda Flannery at 206 W. Madison Street, Crandon, WI 54520 by Friday, August 29 so the Blue Ribbon Manager will have time to get your tags printed and ready for you when you arrive on Thursday evening.

Late entries will be accepted but if you wait past September 2, you may have to hand write your entry tags on Thursday evening when you bring your exhibits in. Also, if something is entered incorrectly, it may be disqualified by the judges as fair staff won't have the opportunity to catch the error last minute.

When filling out your entry sheets, feel free to put down what you plan on exhibiting as it is easier to remove an entry than to add it later. They will accept entries on the evening of the fair but they will not have a computer on site so you will be responsible for hand writing your own entry tags and turning in a correct copy of the entry listing so it can be put in the computer prior to judges' sheets being ran. Again, if there are errors in the department, class or lot that you list, the item you entered may be disqualified so it is imperative that you ask questions if you are unsure of where to enter an item. They encourage you to submit your entries early so exhibits are entered correctly and also because of the extra workload late entries create for fair staff.

If anyone has any question while filing out their forms, they can contact Brenda Flannery at 478-8802 and she will help you through the process. Also, if any towns or organizations are interested in setting up a booth, contact Brenda as soon as possible so they can make arrangements for you to do so.

4-H and Youth entries should be sent in to the UW-Extension Office at 200 E. Madison St., Crandon, WI 54520. For more information on 4-H and Youth entry deadlines or other questions, contact Steve Nelson at 715-478-2212.

Last year the fair went back to its roots with an old fashioned country fair theme and they liked it so well they are going to do that once again. They have added several new events. They look forward to a lot of fun with judging Friday morning, the carnival kicking off Friday afternoon and their talent contest and entertainment by Special Moments DJ Service Friday evening. Saturday, they have many fun family activities planned as well as various activities brought to you by the Forest County Health Department and Commission on Aging. It is also wristband day, so come for a day filled with family fun and entertainment. Finally, Sunday's entertainment includes a pie competition. Watch for detailed schedules.

As always, there will be a lot of food, fun and entertainment. They look forward to seeing you at the fair.

Featuring high-impact rock racing, the blazing speeds of dirt drags and the side-by-side intensity of off-road short course competition, the 400-acre Crandon complex was filled with the sounds of horsepower, flying dirt and enthusiastic fans. The Crandon management team led by President Cliff Flannery was particularly pleased with the turnout, as the track hosted a three day crowd estimated at just over 2,000 fans -- an increase of more than three times over 2013's turnout.

"The staff and management here at Crandon are extremely grateful to our spectators, racers, sponsors and sanctioning bodies that worked together to make our second Super Challenge weekend such a success," Flannery explained. "There was something here for everybody, and we feel very optimistic that we set a firm foothold for a new Crandon tradition."

The legendary race track has also hosted the iconic Brush Run 101 races since 1970 and the short course Labor Day World Championships beginning in 1985.

In contrast to the more traditional short-course off-road race format Crandon is famous for (including the TORC series World Championships held Labor Day weekend), the Super Challenge event brought together three separate racing organizations and over 150 competitors from around the nation and Canada for one action-packed gathering of the off-road faithful -- all contained within the 400 acre grounds located just outside of downtown Crandon. Crandon's new "Playground 4x4" area passed its first competition test with flying colors as both W.E.ROCK rock racers and UTVs took to the challenging course as part of a longer 3.5-mile course. The first annual Branik Cup provided an additional $5000 to the driver's purse thanks to sponsor Branik Motorsports. The lion's share of winnings went to Pro4400 class winner Jason Shipman and UTV race winner Brian Strane.

"The reception we had at Crandon from fans, our racers and the track's staff has lived up to everything we had hoped for and more," explained W.E. ROCK President Rich Klein. "This is just the start of something special at Crandon. You can count on us coming back bigger and better next year."

The best short course drivers in the Midwest Off-Road Racers (MORR/TORC Series Sportsman Truck and Buggy Divisions) also brought fans non-stop excitement over two days of racing at Crandon with 11 MORR race categories including Short Course Kart category, several truck-based groups including Super Truck, Super Stock Trucks and Stock Trucks (for production-based pick-ups) as well as the Super Buggy class.

The "Super Challenge" weekend also served as a final tune-up for Crandon's huge upcoming World Championship races taking place with the TORC series professional classes over Labor Day weekend August 29-31.

Additional weekend entertainment came in the form of intense side-by-side off-road drag racing and a Friday night mud bog competition in the track's new Playground 4x4 area.

Proposed inland trout regulations aim to increase opportunities for anglers

MADISON - The public will have an opportunity to provide input on proposals to simplify existing inland trout fishing regulations and provide more quality trout fishing opportunities at 10 public meetings that will be held throughout the state beginning Sept. 3.

Beyond simplifying the rules for anglers, communities that serve as home to Wisconsin's 13,000 miles of trout streams will likely see additional economic benefits as a result of proposed extensions to the spring and fall seasons and elimination of the current five-day closure says Joanna Griffin, trout coordinator for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

"Wisconsin's trout fishing regulations and seasons were last reviewed in 2003 and much has changed, including improved fish populations," says Scot Stewart, DNR district fish supervisor. "Guided by public input, we've developed draft rules that support the continued health of our trout waters while making the fishing experience easier for anglers."

DNR has sought public input throughout the rule review process and the next step is to bring the proposed rules to the public for final comment. Since 2011, DNR staff members have hosted 31 public meetings, developed three angler surveys, organized trout task force stakeholder meetings and developed advisory questions for spring hearings hosted by the Wisconsin Conservation Congress.

The public feedback has resulted in a proposal that reduces the number of special regulations from more than 40 to 12. The proposal also creates uniformity on streams within small geographic areas.

The new system uses color-coding resembling a stoplight to guide anglers. Under the proposed rules:

- Green means go fish - with no length limit, a bag limit of five fish and no bait restrictions;
- Yellow means caution - with an 8 inch length limit, a bag limit of three fish and no bait restrictions; and
- Red means special regulations are in place. Anglers are advised to stop and understand the regulations before fishing.

Changes also are proposed in the season dates for inland trout fishing. The current early catch and release season runs from March 1 up to five days before the regular fishing opener. The proposal would extend the early catch and release season to Jan. 1 and would run right to the regular fishing opener with no five-day closure period.

Ten public meetings are scheduled for September to gather additional citizen comments. The process will conclude with spring hearings and a vote in conjunction with a meeting of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress.

The fall public meetings will be held:
September 3, Waukesha - 7 p.m., room 151, DNR Satellite Center, 141 NW Barstow St.

September 4, Dodgeville - 7 p.m., DNR Satellite Center, 1500 N. Johns St.

September 9
Green Bay - 6 p.m., DNR Service Center, 2984 Shawano Ave.

Wausau - 6:30 p.m., DNR Satellite Center, 5301 Rib Mountain Road.

September 10
Hayward - 7 p.m. DNR Satellite Center, 10220 State Highway 27.

Waupaca - 6 p.m., Rm. B, Waupaca Public Library, 107 S. Main St.

September 11
For more information about the proposed trout regulations, visit dnr.wi.gov and search for "trout review." In addition to the public meetings, comments may be submitted to Joanna Griffin by email to joanna.griffin@wisconsin.gov or mailed to PO Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707-7921.

Natural Resources Board approves 2014 migratory bird hunting seasons

Waterfowl hunting season structure for 2014, recommended by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, was approved today by The Natural Resources Board.

In 2014, Wisconsin will be divided into three duck hunting zones, each with 60-day seasons. There will be split seasons in the Southern and Mississippi River duck and goose zones.

Waterfowl breeding populations in 2014 are mostly good to excellent in Wisconsin and North America, according to recent surveys by state, federal and Canadian wildlife officials. A recent United States Fish and Wildlife Service survey showed the highest North American duck population estimate in the survey's 59-year history.

"With strong total duck populations and good water conditions, Wisconsin waterfowl hunters can expect a good season," said DNR waterfowl ecologist Kent Van Horn.

Changes as a result of NRB approval include an expansion of the Horicon Zone Canada goose season harvest limit (from six birds to 12) and a reduction in the daily bag limit for canvasbacks (from two birds to one).

"I appreciate all the folks who took the time to get involved, attend public meetings and participate in the regulatory process," said Van Horn. "As always, we heard from hunters with a range of desires and practices. The final season dates represent a compromise among diverse hunter preferences. Waterfowl hunting is a blend of traditions, friendships and memorable days on the marsh."

The 2014 youth waterfowl hunt will be held Sept. 20-21.

The daily bag limit statewide will be six ducks, including no more than: four mallards, of which only one may be a hen; one black duck; one canvasback; three wood ducks; two pintails; three scaup; and two redheads.

For species of duck not listed, such as teal and ring-necks, the combined bag total with all other species may not exceed six ducks. It is important to note that possession limits have been increased to three times the daily bag limit.

"Overall, the status of duck and goose populations in 2014 is promising," said Van Horn. "Water conditions across major North American duck breeding areas were mostly good to excellent, and continental duck numbers remain above or near the long-term averages. This is good news and means another liberal 60-day duck season will be offered in 2014."

In 2014, duck hunting season structure is as follows:

- Northern Zone - Sept. 27 to Nov. 25;
- Southern Zone - Oct. 4 to Oct 12 and Oct 18. to Dec 7; and
- Mississippi River Zone - Sept. 27 to Oct. 5 and Oct. 18 to Dec 7.

Opening day shooting hours for duck season will begin at 9 a.m.

In 2014, season structure for Canada goose hunting is as follows:

- Early September Canada goose season - Sept. 1-15, with a daily bag limit of five geese;
- Northern Exterior Zone - Sept. 16 to Dec 16, with a daily bag limit of two geese;
- Southern Exterior Zone - Sept. 16 to Oct. 12 and Oct. 18 to Dec. 21, with a daily bag limit of two geese;
- Mississippi River Subzone - Sept. 27 to Oct. 5 and Oct. 18 to Jan. 8, with a daily bag limit of two geese;
- Horicon Zone period 1 - Sept. 16 to Nov. 2, with a daily bag limit of two geese and total season harvest limit of 12 geese; and
- Horicon Zone period 2 - Nov. 3 to Dec. 16, with a daily bag limit of two geese and total season harvest limit of 12 geese.

The department will offer an early teal-only duck hunting season in 2014 that will begin in September. Hunters will not be required to purchase any additional licenses or permits, other than those required for hunting ducks in the regular waterfowl season.

The framework established by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service requires an early teal season to be scheduled in September prior to Wisconsin's regular duck season. Only teal species may be harvested during this period.

While the early teal season is offered statewide, there are some state owned properties that have special limitations in regards to waterfowl hunting. For example, Mead Wildlife Area does not allow waterfowl hunting prior to the regular season, and Lake Mills Wildlife Area (Zeloski Marsh) has shooting hour restrictions. Please check to see if the areas you hunt have any additional requirements or limitations.

The department will be required to monitor and report hunter performance throughout the experimental three-year period - this will help determine the success of an early teal season.

In addition, 20 days will be added to the end of the current 70-day dove hunting season.

To help hunters understand new seasons and regulations in 2014, the department will host an online waterfowl season chat Aug. 27 at noon. Wildlife and regulations experts will be on hand to answer any questions related to 2014 waterfowl hunting seasons. For more information, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "chat."

For more information regarding the early teal season, a new duck identification tool, and the 2014 migratory game bird season structure, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "waterfowl."

Celebration of Life...Life is a gift, untie the ribbons

(RHINELANDER, Wis.) – Join cancer survivors and members of the community for the Seventh Annual Celebration of Life: Life is a Gift, Untie the Ribbons on Thursday, August 21, from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the James Beck Cancer Center on the grounds of Ministry Saint Mary's Hospital located at 2251 North Shore Drive in Rhinelander.

The Celebration of Life is for those whose lives have been touched by cancer. The event honors cancer survivors for their strength and courage; recognizes the contributions of their families and friends; promotes awareness that knowledge, hope and inspiration can help beat cancer; and to emphasize the fact that cancer survivors can live active, productive lives even though they still face many challenges.

This year's guest speakers are Richard and Denise Weibel. Denise, a Rhinelander native, is a breast cancer survivor and Richard, who moved to Rhinelander in 1974 from Oconomowoc, is a prostate cancer survivor, and they have been married for 38 years. They have been active fans of many sports teams, including the Packers and Badgers, and also enjoy NASCAR racing and have followed the circuit to many interesting locations over the years. Richard has worked in construction and Denise works at Foster and Smith. They enjoy being aunt and uncle to their many nephews and nieces.

Following the ceremony there will be a butterfly release. The open house will feature tours of the James Beck Cancer Center, an ice cream social, educational displays and support materials, and a dedication of the newly placed commemorative bricks and bench will be held. Light refreshments will be served.

We all know someone who is in the process of living with, through, or beyond cancer. Today, there are an estimated 11.7 million cancer survivors in the United States. This has increased from three million survivors from 1971. With knowledge, hope, camaraderie, compassion, and faith, people are living active and productive lives after a cancer diagnosis. Surviving cancer is an attitude about living life everyday despite the challenges cancer brings.

For more information, please call the James Beck Cancer Center at 715-361-2027.

The James Beck Cancer Center at Ministry Saint Mary's Hospital nurtures long, close relationships and ongoing care with cancer patients, whether in the form of future treatments, palliative care, rehabilitation, checkups, support groups or providing new information. The goal is to meet every need of every patient, and to be a trusted resource for their families.

Our Pretty Courthouse

This photo wasn't dated, but it is likely from the early 1920's, maybe not, but it is a good shot of the courthouse, jail, and especially the grounds. From the size of the trees, it has to be an early shot.

Silver Alert program goes in effect Friday, August 1st

Wisconsin will join 30 other states in having a Silver Alert Program for older adults with cognitive impairments like Alzheimer's and dementia who go missing. It enables police throughout the state to use the existing Wisconsin Crime Alert Network to promptly send statewide notices when a senior citizen goes missing. The bill was signed into law by Governor Scott Walker in April of this year.

Silver Alert is a notification program similar to an Amber Alert that help locate missing children, it is designed to help people who are 60 years of age or older and have Alzheimer's or other permanent cognitive impairment.

"On behalf of our advocates, families and those we serve, I am so pleased that Wisconsin will have a Silver Alert Program. This critical program puts in place a comprehensive system to ensure that when someone with Alzheimer's or a related dementia becomes lost while wandering they are reconnected both quickly and safely with their loved ones," said Kim Kinner, Alzheimer's Association Greater Wisconsin Chapter executive director.

The law honors Leo and Claire Baeb, an elderly couple who became lost last year during a drive from their home in Townsend to Green Bay for a doctor's appointment. The bill was signed into law by Governor Walker at St. Mary's Hospital where Baeb had been a nurse.

About 30 states, including Florida, Indiana and Connecticut, have Silver Alert-type systems in place.

More than 110,000 people in Wisconsin are living with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia and six in 10 people with dementia or Alzheimer's disease will wander — repeatedly. They may not remember their name or address and can become disoriented, even in places that once were familiar.

"Anyone with memory problems who is able to walk is at risk", according to Kinner. "This program is a major step in helping protect those who are at risk for wandering."

For more information on the Alzheimer's Association, Alzheimer's disease, to volunteer or become involved in Walk to End Alzheimer's®, visit us at www.alz.org or phone our 24 Hour Helpline at 1-800-272-3900.

Send your kids back to school with their vaccines up-to-date

National Immunization Awareness Month is a reminder that we all need vaccines throughout our lives.

Back-to-school season is here. It's time for parents to gather supplies and back packs. It's also the perfect time to make sure your kids are up to date on their vaccines.

The Northwood's Immunization Coalition, along with the Forest County Health Department, is joining with partners nationwide in recognizing August as National Immunization Awareness Month to celebrate the importance of immunizations throughout life and make sure children are protected with all the vaccines they need. Getting children all of the vaccines recommended by CDC's immunization schedule is one of the most important things parents can do to protect their children's health and that of classmates and the community. If you haven't done so already, now is the time to check with your doctor to find out what vaccines your child needs.

vaccinations before enrolling to protect the health of all students. Today's childhood vaccines protect against serious and potentially life-threatening diseases, including polio, measles, and whooping cough.

When children are not vaccinated, they are at increased risk and can spread diseases to others in their classrooms and community including babies who are too young to be fully vaccinated, and people with weakened immune systems due to cancer or other health conditions. School-age children need vaccines. For example, children who are 4 to 6 years old are due for boosters of four vaccines: DTaP (diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis), chickenpox, MMR (measles, mumps and rubella) and polio. Older children, like preteens and teens, need Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis), MenACWY (meningococcal conjugate vaccine and HPV (human papillomavirus) vaccines when they are 11 to 12. In addition, yearly flu vaccines are recommended for all children six months and older.

Parents can find out more about the recommended immunizations schedule at www.cdc.gov/vaccines/parents/index.html. You can also call the Forest County Health Department at 715-478-3371 or speak to your health care provider.

Northwoods Dental Project receives Wisconsin Seal-A-Smile Grant Award

Northwoods Dental Project has been awarded $17,640 from the Wisconsin Seal-A-Smile (SAS) program. Wisconsin SAS is a statewide sealant program that offers grants to local school-based dental sealant programs. SAS is funded by the Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) through State General Purpose Revenue and a generous grant from the Delta Dental of Wisconsin Foundation. The SAS program is managed collaboratively by Children's Health Alliance of Wisconsin and DHS Oral Health Program. Statewide the program provides care to children in 58 of Wisconsin's 72 counties.

Wisconsin SAS programs provide oral screenings, dental sealants, oral health education and fluoride varnish application in the schools using evidence-based practices. Wisconsin SAS targets schools where at least 35 percent of the enrolled children participate in the free and reduced meal program. Any students in need of additional dental care are referred to local dental offices. Northwoods Dental Project will provide 600 students with preventive dental services to help keep them healthy and free of dental pain during the upcoming school year.

Dental decay (cavities) is the most common chronic childhood disease. Despite advances in prevention, some children still suffer unnecessarily with dental pain and infection. Often the dental conditions prevent children from attending school. Dental sealants are an evidence-based strategy for preventing cavities. Many uninsured and low-income children lack access to regular preventive dental care, including sealants. Northwoods Dental Project serves schools in Florence, Forest, Oneida and Vilas Counties during the 2014-15 school year.

Northwoods Dental Project uses grant funding to deliver the school-based services. Local organizations are also important as they make financial contributions, donate supplies, and volunteer time to support the program. Northwoods Dental Project has provided a school-based dental sealant program since 2005. For more information about Northwoods Dental Project, contact us at 715-479-3758 or view our website at www.vilaspublichealth.com

Drowning: What to Watch For

If you're a boater, swimmer or anyone who spends time by the water, remember -- drowning is quiet. The victim rarely splashes and screams for help.

Instead, former U.S. Coast Guard rescue swimmer Mario Vittone advises everyone to look for these signs:

- Head is low in the water; mouth at water level.
  - Head is tilted back with mouth open.
  - Eyes are closed or appear glassy, empty and unable to focus.
  - Hair is over forehead or eyes.
  - Not using legs -- remains upright in the water.
  - Hyperventilating or gasping.
  - Trying to swim in a particular direction but not making headway.
  - Appears to be climbing an invisible ladder.
- Supervise children at all times. Never leave them alone near water -- not even for a minute.

Froedtert Health and Ministry Health Care agree to pursue co-ownership of insurance plan

Network Health provides commercial and Medicare Advantage health insurance plans to employers and individuals in northeastern Wisconsin. The company has been solely owned by Ministry Health Care since 2012.

"The anticipated transaction will position Froedtert Health and Ministry to jointly expand the Network Health service area into southeastern Wisconsin with Network Health offering Integrated Health Network as its provider network in SE Wisconsin," said Nick Desien, President and CEO of Ministry Health Care. "This is a natural partnership that flows from the existing Integrated Health Network of Wisconsin relationship between Ministry and Froedtert Health," said Catherine Jacobson, president and CEO of Froedtert Health and chair of Integrated Health Network.

Integrated Health Network is a clinically integrated alliance of independent health systems, hospitals and physicians. Integrated Health Network includes the following Wisconsin organizations: Froedtert Health, the Medical College of Wisconsin, Columbia St. Mary's, Wheaton Franciscan Healthcare, Agnesian HealthCare and Ministry Health Care. It is one of the first multiple-system accountable care networks in the country.

"With clinical integration, a proven care coordination model and IT connectivity solidly in place, IHN has the infrastructure to contract directly with all payers and insurers on behalf of its members," said Jacobson.

"We believe this partnership and expansion of Network Health will accelerate the growth of population health management programs in the communities we serve and we welcome the prospect of expanding our relationship and look forward to our continued discussions," said Desien.

Ministry Health Care joined Integrated Health Network in September 2013. Since January, Integrated Health Network has been managing care for approximately 90,000 lives, including 55,000 lives through a partnership with UnitedHealthcare that created one of the nation's largest accountable care initiatives.

Souper day for the 94th Annual Laona Lions Community Soup

The day finished with the sawing contest followed by the ticket raffle.

Crossbow license required for all crossbow hunters starting in 2014

MADISON - With bonus antlerless permit sales and archery and crossbow seasons just around the corner, license sales have begun to increase. Crossbow hunters are reminded that they will need to purchase a different license than in previous years.

New laws have established two kinds of deer hunting licenses applicable to archery and crossbow seasons. A crossbow license will allow hunting deer and small game with a crossbow. An archer license will only allow hunting with what is typically considered archery gear - a bow drawn and held through the effort of the person releasing it (this excludes crossbows). Under the new law, those who wish to hunt with a crossbow must purchase a crossbow license.

"In the past, hunters age 65 or older and those with permits for hunters with disabilities could hunt with a crossbow after purchasing an archer license," said DNR wildlife regulation policy specialist Scott Loomans. "Under the new law, they will need to purchase a crossbow hunting license. We want to remind people of this change and make sure they buy the right license."

Hunters may also purchase a crossbow/archer upgrade in addition to a single crossbow or archer license. This reduced price license option will allow hunters to hunt with both a bow and crossbow, but will not include an extra set of tags. Conservation patron licenses include an archer and crossbow license.

"People do ask us why there are separate license types," said DNR lands division administrator Kurt Thiede. "It was a compromise reached between people who were interested in allowing more crossbow use and those who wanted to move forward a bit more slowly with the new opportunity. The department will be sure to evaluate the crossbow season, talk to hunters, and make sure folks are satisfied with how things are going."

Crossbow licenses are currently on sale through dnr.wi.gov, keyword "license," or at participating license sales locations throughout Wisconsin.

Hunters are encouraged to check out the frequently asked questions page for more information regarding rule changes. The FAQ feature provides brief responses to a wide variety of deer hunting questions, ranging from deer management unit boundaries to antlerless permits. To view the FAQ page, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "deer."

Those interested in receiving e-mail updates regarding crossbow deer hunting can sign up to receive occasional e-mail reminders about season dates, regulations and other important information. Visit dnr.wi.gov and click on the e-mail icon near the bottom of the page for "subscribe for updates for DNR topics," then follow the prompts and select the "Crossbow Deer Hunting" distribution list.
