Wabeno Area Players Present... A Deadly Habit: The Superbowl Massacre November 15-18, 2018

Conservation Corner Non-Metallic Mines

Conservation Corner is a regular article produced by the Forest County Land Conservation and Land Information Department. For more information contact Al Murray, County Conservationist-Land Information/GIS Director at 715-478-1387 or by e-mail at lcc@co.forest.wi.us.

In the last few weeks I have been completing reviews of permitted non-metallic mines (otherwise known as gravel pits) across the county. In all, Forest County has 20 mines with reclamation permits. Reclamation permits are required under county ordinance for every mine where material is sold or utilized commercially. Mines utilized by the owner for use on their own lands or utilized only for municipal purposes are not required to have a permit. There are 34 additional non-metallic mines in Forest County which do not require a permit, with the US Forest Service operating 15 of those and remaining 19 operated by towns, the county, companies and private landowners.

Candidate Spotlight

Anyone seeking political office is invited and encouraged to announce their candidacy in the Candidate Spotlight. It is an opportunity to tell the voters why you are running, goals if elected, etc. It is not a forum for bashing an opponent, and there is no charge.

Bryan Schallock-Candidate for Crandon School Board

My name is Bryan Schallock. I am running for school board of the Crandon School District. I am a 1984 graduate of Crandon High School. I have been a self-employed logger for 34 years.

My daughters, Sabrina and Rachel, have also graduated from Crandon High School. Sabrina is completing dual Bachelors degrees in Elementary and Special Education. She will graduate from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point this December. Rachel is an active member of the Wisconsin National Guard is currently pursuing a degree in law enforcement.

If elected to the School Board, I believe the school of the future is one that is safe, where parents drop their children off and do not have to worry about them losing their lives. I am in favor of anything that keeps the students and school staff safe, including the possibility of installing a metal detector at the school's entrances. If there is enough public support.

I believe the Crandon School District should be a place where teachers and administrators work together to focus on academics and follow through with appropriate disciplinary actions. It should also be place where education is valued by everyone. The Crandon School

Laona High School/Wabeno High School Rebel Drama presents comedy

Rebel Drama will be presenting an out-of-this-world comedy November 9th and 10th in the Nancy Volk Auditorium at Wabeno High School. The one-act show is an original by the cast and features new songs written by A-Train, Matilda and Kelly-B. Both shows are at 7 p.m. Admission is $5 for all seats and ages, but in honor of Veterans Day being that week, all veterans and active duty/reserve military get in free both nights.

"Down to Earth" is the story of four alien teens who explore a bizarre and sometimes hostile environment, a modern American high school. The aliens are strange, but today's human teenagers might prove the most unfathomable creatures of all.

The ensemble cast is led by seniors Madelyn Korbas, Aidan "A-Train" Lowery, Michael Austin and Jade Kitchmaster. Juniors include Georgia Matuszewski, Rebekah Goodacre-Reinke, Kelly Boor, Annalise Sommer, and Angel Bey. Sophomores are Conor Lowery, Malina Lazzeroni and Maddy Keepers. Freshmen include Brayley Chrisman, Lavara Gilpin, Sunshine Nelson, Nat Johnson, Hailey Krueger and Myla Volk. Rounding out the cast are Zoie Cayan, Pfeiffer Bodoh and Mr. Nick J. Lowery.

Lowery directs the show with costuming and assistant director help from Mrs. Mary Ellen Keller, Mrs. Raletta Ashbeck and Ms. Katie Esserman. Sophomore Evan Thomas is in charge of the crew which includes Logan and Seth Riebe, Morgan Mattern, Riley Godin, Jade Schmidt, Alexis Childress and Sydney Rabe. Wabeno Area Players are there to help out again with ticket sales and a raffle as the school and community theatre scenes continue to support one another.

Energy Efficiency Exemption is approved with annual school budget in Crandon

The School District of Crandon held their annual meeting on Monday, October 29th, at 6:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. The goal at the meeting this year was to approve the budget for the 2018-2019 year with the Energy Efficiency Exemption and to approve tax levies for funds 10, 38, 41 and 80 totaling $7,210,708. All were approved.

The Energy Efficiency Exemption allows the district to levy $463,495 for two years and use that money to update and improve the building without taking money out of savings and operational costs. The district is facing a deficit of about $750,000 right now and the deficit is projected to get worse over the coming years if the district stays idle. The district did feel that they would have to have some short term borrowing in November or December. The district also said that they would probably be looking at a recurring referendum by April of 2020. The referendum would go into effect in the fiscal year 2021. The referendum would be used for operational costs, meaning staff and education of the children.

The district also stated they were trying to save where they could. For instance, when someone retires, they will not rush out to hire somebody, but see what they could do to save. The board assured everyone that they are not cutting staff to save. Erica Neilitz suggested that the district have a master plan for 5 or 10 years. The board responded that they are open to that idea and that they were making strides to having one.

Crandon High Drama

Twenty-two Crandon High School students comprise the Fall 2018 Competitive Drama Team. These individuals read scripts throughout the summer and began to practice the very first week of school. Because these students are also on other teams, they continue to practice at 7 a.m. every morning before school and add a few weekend practices besides. The play they chose as a group is "Not So-Grimm Tales" by author Kevin Bean. The story provides a few modern twists to the old classics, which build up to female empowerment. The team travels to Green Bay West High School for Sectional Competition on Friday, November 2nd, but perform for the public as part of a double feature evening on Saturday, November 10th in the high school auditorium in Crandon.

Crandon's Hometeam Drama group is practicing their play in the afternoon. It is a quirky play which depicts how humans would react in a small town should aliens decide to drop by. You may ask yourself, "How would the president handle the situation?" Well, this play may very well answer that question. Their play "The Day the Aliens Attacked Fairfield" will be on stage Friday, November 9th at 7 p.m., and part of a double feature Saturday, November 10 at 7 p.m., followed by the varsity performance of "Not So Grimm Tales" around 7:50 p.m. The costs are $3 for adults and $2 for 18 and under. On November 10th, all veterans are FREE.

Christmas on Main Street Crandon

Christmas is a time of family traditions and celebrations that honor the season. We invite the community to join us for our annual "Christmas on Main Street" event. This year's festivities are being held in the Courthouse Square on November 30, 2018 beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Here you can enjoy a stroll down main street and get your Santa Passport stamped along with many fun activities at local business. On your stroll drop off your letter to Santa, visit a Live Nativity, get your selfie with an elfie, try some cookie decorating, and free hot chocolate. This year we are also looking for individuals to enter our chili cook off event.

The night will end with Christmas carols and the annual memorial tree lightening. If you are interested in sponsoring a memorial tree, please pick up your forms at the Crandon Public Library.

This fun family evening is sponsored by Forest County Ties That Bind Us and several other local businesses. Any questions, please contact Erin Mayer at 715-902-0168.

Historic Walk and Talk
 a success

On Friday, October 26th approximately 120 people attended the Crandon Area Historical Society Walk and Talk featuring members of the Crandon drama team and Crandon band. The weather was perfect for a night on the town, and attendees heard stories researched and written by historical society members and student researchers. A few of the stories got a few laughs, but mostly participants enjoyed listening to the history of our city's main street including the 1903, 1905 and 1912 fires that destroyed portions of Lake avenue. A good reminder as to why we support our city fire department!

Mrs. Alicia Bradley, Drama club advisor, and Mrs. Amy Buckovic, assistant, also dressed the part and encouraged the actors and actresses to speak up as main street traffic was a little nosier than expected. It is anticipated that the funds raised at the event will be used to purchase portable microphones for future tours. Our tour guides for the evening were community members Jill Krueger and Tammy Stroik, dressed as classical 1940's Crandon Women's Club members.

For those of you who may have had a difficult time hearing the stories, or missed the event altogether, will be excited to know that the scripts for the event will be shared online soon at our new website located at www.crandonareahistory.org, plus printed copies of the scripts will be available at the Crandon Public Library. Photos of downtown Crandon, including the Opera House fire, can be seen in the windows of the Pioneer Express.

Overall, the event was a great success with our youth and community members actively learning about what makes Crandon a unique hometown.

For more information about the Crandon Area Historical Society, please contact Michelle Gobert at 715-478-7797.

Preliminary 2018 Wisconsin black bear harvest numbers available

MADISON - Preliminary registration numbers show hunters harvested 3,685 black bears during the 2018 Wisconsin bear hunting seasons. This represents a decrease of 11 percent from the 4,136 black bears harvested in 2017.

"Wisconsin's bear population remains healthy, and the 2018 season again provided hunters excellent opportunities to share time in the woods with family and friends," said Scott Walter, large carnivore specialist with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "The slight decline in harvest this year was to some extent expected, as we reduced the harvest quota in 3 of our 4 bear management zones to achieve population management goals.

While reports from hunters during the season were varied, hunter success was very similar to previous years across most of the state, with over half of hunters in most areas harvesting a bear. Zone C, which includes central and southern Wisconsin saw just over half the quota harvested, with 9 percent of hunters registering bears.

"Data provided by hunters through registration really serves as the backbone of our bear population management process, and we appreciate their commitment to sound, science-based management," said Walter.

Zone-specific preliminary registration information is as follows:

Zone	Preliminary Harvest	Percent of Quota Harvested	Hunter Success Rate
A	1179	94%	53%
B	667	83%	56%
C	661	55%	9%
D	1178	91%	51%

Interest in black bear hunting continues to increase in Wisconsin, with over 124,000 hunters applying for either a harvest permit or preference point for the 2018 season.

"With participation in many forms of hunting on the decline, the passion Wisconsin bear hunters have for our bear resource, the hunting experience, and for introducing new hunters to the outdoors is wonderful to see," said Walter. "Now is definitely an exciting time for Wisconsin's bear program. We've got new population monitoring tools in development, an extremely engaged community of bear hunters, and a healthy and expanding bear population."

For more information regarding black bears and bear hunting in Wisconsin, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "bears."

2018-19 ruffed grouse hunting season shortened in Zone A

MADISON - An emergency rule is now in effect to move the season closing date for ruffed grouse hunting in Zone A from Jan. 31, 2019 to Dec. 31, 2018.

The ruffed grouse season opened Sept. 15 in Zone A. The change does not impact season dates for Zone B, which runs from Oct. 20 to Dec. 8, 2018. Bag limits remain at five birds in Zone A and three birds in Zone B.

Emergency rules are effective for 150 days, so the early closure only applies to the 2018-19 season. Department of Natural Resources staff have begun working with partners on a statewide ruffed grouse management plan that will outline the future of ruffed grouse management in Wisconsin. This plan is expected to be completed in early 2020.

The Wisconsin Natural Resources Board approved this emergency rule at its Sept. 26 meeting. For more information regarding ruffed grouse hunting in Wisconsin, search the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov, for "ruffed grouse."

Each year permitted sites have the areas calculated utilizing GPS and the sites are reviewed for reclamation activities and potential issues that may affect reclamation. Area determinations are utilized to calculate the annual fees required for the mine to operate. These fees are based upon acreage with portions retained by the County and part of the fee paid to the State of Wisconsin.

The area is also required to calculate the amount of reclamation bond which the operator needs to maintain to insure that the mine area follows the reclamation plan. Bond amounts of $3,000 per acre are required to be maintained for each acre which is not reclaimed. The bonds, in the form of letters of credit, cash, or actual bonds from bonding companies are held by Forest County to insure appropriate reclamation of mine sites.

Reclamation of sites include water resource protections such as retention berms and silt fence to retain storm water in wetlands established with a site. Reclamation also includes leveling of sites to no more than a 3:1 slope and seeding and planting of sites to native vegetation to prevent and eliminate future erosion. Some sites have active reclamation on part of the mine as they become inactive, others wait to complete reclamation when all activity is complete.

If you know of commercial activity on non-metallic mines or if you have concerns with the operation of a non-metallic mine in your area, please contact our office. Actively monitoring non-metallic mines to insure proper reclamation is just another way that Forest County Land Conservation strives to maintain our water quality and our natural beauty for all to enjoy while providing for business opportunities and providing materials that we need everyday!

INSURANCE TIP HEATING WITH WOOD & PELLET BURNERS

Outdoor wood furnaces & pellet burners have become increasingly popular. Some companies charge a premium of $15 to $50. Others do not. Contact your agent to do an inspection or if you have questions before you install or have it installed.

If you are burning wood, follow all manufacturer's guidelines for installation or hire a professional to do the installation for you.

Here are some more safety tips:

1. Burn seasoned wood. Wood two years old or more.
2. Place ashes in a covered metal container to keep wind from blowing coals and sparks around.
3. Clean your chimney at least twice a year, using an approved cleaning method.
4. Install smoke alarms on same level as stove and have a fire extinguisher close by.
5. Every year, make sure your smoke pipe is firmly in place where it enters the chimney and screw sections together.

Thank Yous and Personals

A Grand Imprint

*Like the pigeon freely flying across the sky so blue,
The love and joy you had given lies on our hearts like morning dew.
Each day we had together was a great gift of laughter and love,
I continue to feel your light glisten from the Heavens above.
A long fifteen year journey of missing you, I've unfortunately come to know,
The scars of my heart are fading as the memories you've left continue to grow.
Family, friends even strangers far and near,
Take comfort with the glorious impression you left so clear.
Through hope, love and faith you wanted everyone to feel,
True happiness comes from within and the heart does truly heal.
Michelle - You truly have left a grand imprint
Always in our hearts, Mom and Lenny*

Thank You

Thank you family and friends for your thoughts, prayers, calls, cards and meal donations during my illness. I'm asking for continued prayers while the doctors at Mayo Clinic look for answers and try to reach a diagnosis. Your continuous love and support is greatly appreciated!

Linda Mentz

Thank You!

Peggy Thornton and her family would like to thank the Ladies Auxiliary for sponsoring the benefit in her honor and all the Auxiliary members for their support during this time. We would also like to thank JARS restaurant in Laona for the delicious meal and great hospitality to the family and those in attendance.

Thank you to all who gave donations, organized, helped sell or purchased raffle tickets, sent cards or came to enjoy a chicken dinner. Your kindness and generosity was overwhelming.

A Go Fund Me page has been set up for those who would still like to donate:

Thanks for all your support!

For Old Time's Sake

A photographer is in the area and he wants to take our picture! Back when everybody didn't have a camera, professional photographers traveled around and took photos for postcards. This is how they made their living. It was a big deal for people to be featured on post cards, and they readily agreed to be photographed. In this old shot, some of the Forest County Potawatomi agreed to be the subject in front of Planet's Resort, on the northeast corner of Lake Lucerne (Stone Lake in those days). By doing so, they left us a bit of history.

Steer clear of invasive holiday plants and seek native alternatives
A 'bittersweet' message about colorful autumn arrangements

MADISON - Homeowners and decorators creating their autumn displays should avoid two invasive plants that have been used historically in Thanksgiving and other floral arrangements but are increasingly recognized as harmful to forests, wetlands, prairies, and other wild areas.

Oriental bittersweet and multiflora rose offer attractive red accents but their use in holiday decorations and their disposal in compost piles increases the risk that these invasive plants will spread to new sites, says Matt Wallrath, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources outreach coordinator working with the plant nursery, aquarium, pet, and bait industries to prevent the sale and distribution of invasive species.

"Our wild lands and conservation areas are threatened by these non-native plant species, which can outcompete native plants and displace native wildlife," Wallrath says. "Vendors and consumers should seek native plant alternatives instead and avoid these invasive plants, which are illegal to sell or distribute in Wisconsin."

Oriental bittersweet (Celastrus orbiculatus) is a vine that spreads in forest understories and is known to kill mature trees by strangling their trunks. Multiflora rose (Rosa multiflora) is a shrub that can form impenetrable bramble thickets that impede hunters and other recreationalists, while shading out native plant species.

The colorful fruits of these species are often eaten by birds and dispersed to areas far from their origin. Once established, these species are difficult to control. Even when these plants are cut down close to the soil, they re-sprout from roots remaining belowground.

Kelly Kearns, an invasive plant specialist for the DNR Natural Heritage Conservation Program, suggests that vendors, decorators, and others looking for bright accents should consider using Wisconsin native species including American bittersweet (Celastrus scandens), winterberry (Ilex verticillata), and native roses like smooth rose (Rosa blanda). "Native alternatives can add vivid color without posing a threat to our Wisconsin plants and animals," Kearns says.

To control the spread of invasive species, Wisconsin regulates the importation and sale of more than 140 plants, as well as some animals, that have been identified as invasive in Wisconsin. Oriental bittersweet and multiflora rose are on the list of restricted species on the Wisconsin invasive species rule (Wis. Adm. Code ch. NR 40), making it illegal to transport, introduce, gift, buy, sell, or trade these plants unless you are trying to control or safely dispose of them. Search the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov, for "invasive species rule" to find an interactive list of invasive species, with factsheets, photos, identification tips, and more.

Local school districts receive School Safety Grants Focused on Mental Health

Madison ... Representative Jeff Mursau (R/Crivitz) was happy to learn that five area school districts were awarded funds from the Wisconsin Department of Justice's (DOJ) School Safety Grant Program this month. There were 595 schools and school districts that applied for this second round of grant funding, and so far 549 grants have been awarded, and the DOJ is reviewing the remaining applicants before awarding the final funds. Of the schools and school districts receiving a grant are five that serve families and communities in or connected to the 36th Assembly District:

- ** Bonduel School District - $42,400
- ** Crivitz School District - $43,671
- ** Gillett School District - $28,923
- ** Goodman-Armstrong Creek School District - $10,000
- ** Oconto Falls Public School District - $95,537

"I am glad so many schools in the district will be receiving this grant funding," said Mursau. "These funds are an important step in developing school-based mental health programs."

The School Safety Grant Program was created by last session's bill, 2017 Act 143. The program is administered by the Office of School Safety at the DOJ and is set to award a total of $100 million in grant funds to Wisconsin schools to enhance school safety and preparedness. This second round of grants are focused on improving student mental health and creating local School Safety Intervention teams, along with additional structural and physical security updates.

Schools that receive a grant are required to train 10% of their staff in advanced adolescent mental health and create a School Safety Intervention Team (SSIT). These teams are based on a model from the U.S. Secret Service and will be made up of educators, counselors and law enforcement. They will be tasked with threat assessment and behavior monitoring in order to identify potential students in need of support or intervention. Information about these teams, the grant program and award process, or the full list of awarded schools can be viewed on the DOJ website: <https://www.doj.state.wi.us/office-school-safety/office-school-safety>.

"We all want to make sure our kids get the most out of their education experience, so they can have a great foundation for their futures," expressed Mursau. "By investing in these safety and mental health measures, we can hopefully create a positive learning environment for all students."

Forest County Health Department passes review by state health officials

Pictured: Jacee Anderson, Interim Health Department Director, James Lawrence, Division of Public Health Northern Region, Jill Krueger, Previous Health Department Director.

State health officials announced that the Forest County Health Department has successfully passed the state's health department review. As a result, the Forest County Health Department will maintain their Level II status.

"Local public health staff help make their community a healthier place in which to live, play, work, and learn," said Karen McKeown, State Health Officer. "The department has an actively engaged and supportive Board of Health, and does an excellent job of efficiently meeting the needs of the community and building strong partnerships across the county."

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services is required to formally review the operations of all 86 Wisconsin local health departments at the county or municipality level at least every five years. The review establishes the health department as a level I, II or III agency. All agencies must meet the minimum requirements of a level I health department and agencies must provide an additional 7 to 14 programs or services to meet the requirements of a level II or III health department.

The Forest County Health Department provides services important to the community, such as:

- **First Breath to assist families with infants to quit smoking;
- **WIC, Prenatal Care Coordination and other services supporting healthy families.
- **Coalition leadership to foster healthy environments such as community gardens and opportunities for physical activity, drug and alcohol prevention and mental health promotion.

The CDC's number one recommendation for those with mental health issues is behavioral activation. This is where a person slowly increases his or her physical activity and social engagements. 80% of people who use this strategy have a positive outcome.

It is important to stay connected to others when a mental health condition is being treated. Friends, family and doctors can and should help advocate for the person. It is important to be vigilant in making sure the person takes his or her medication.

If anyone you know is having a mental health crisis, please contact 911 or a 24-hour hotline such as 1-800-273-8255. If you are with the person during their crisis, you should remain with them until help arrives.

As would be expected, there were a lot of concerned citizens who worry about having a sex offender in their midst and those especially concerned are the people with children on Sand Lake Road and in nearby Mole Lake.

Mr. Levasseur's past offenses include sexually assaulting a 7 year-old acquaintance in Minnesota. In addition, he sexually assaulted a 6 year-old male and an 11 year-old female in Forest County. According to the Sheriff's press release, he has a history of sexually assaulting children. The Forest County assaults happened in 1999, and he has been incarcerated since.

According to this press release, Levasseur will be placed on Intensive Supervision and will be subject to the Global Positioning System (GPS) from an ankle bracelet that is locked on.

From the meeting we learned that Levasseur will be checked on at unspecified times during the night and day to make sure that he is still in the domicile or within 150 feet of the house.

As would be expected, there was nobody in the meeting room that wanted Levasseur to move into the neighborhood. Dolly McGeshick pointed out that kids go to Sand Lake to swim and they pick berries on Sand Lake Road, and that the kids have "....lost their rights with his presence on the road." Dolly was applauded by those attending the meeting.

Regardless of public opinion, the people at the meeting from the Department of Corrections said he would be placed, and was within days living on Sand Lake Road. According to the Corrections people, it takes a decision by a judge to change Levasseur's place of residence, and he will likely be joined at this domicile by a second sexual offender.

It should be noted that the committee that picks the sight is called the Act 184 Committee, and it is composed of local citizens from various departments of the courthouse. There are 11 members. This committee was told by the judge that if they didn't pick a supervised residence somewhere in Forest County he would be released without supervision.

Myth-busting mental health issues in older adults

Many people equate depression and other mental health issues with aging. However, positive mental health as one grows older is certainly possible. Perfect physical health is not necessary to have a positive mental health outlook. Some characteristics of positive mental health in older adults include:

- Embracing aging in a happy and healthy way
- Getting out and being physically and socially active and engaged, despite any physical or mental limitations
- Having a good support system in place, including doctors, family and friends
- A sense of purpose, hope, and the ability to contribute to society
- Self-control, self-advocacy and being proactive
- Independence

Myth #1: Aging is a disease

Aging is often seen as a factor for physical problems, poverty institutional care and poor mental health. However, aging happens to all of us. It is not a disease.

Myth #2: Many elderly people have mental illnesses.

Most older people do not have a mental illness. However, among those who do, Generalized Anxiety Disorder (GAD) is the most prevalent anxiety disorder. GAD is a "global" anxiety, where it is difficult to verbalize the actual fear. GAD is the top anxiety disorder among adults. Depression can increase in nursing homes. Untreated mental illness can lead to Alzheimer's. Those who have mental health issues tend to visit the Emergency Room more often and be prescribed multiple medications.

Myth #3: Depression and anxiety are not medical conditions.

Medical professionals diagnose mental health issues using the DSM-5. People can be diagnosed with mental health disorders if their activities of daily living (ADLs) such as brushing teeth and showering are lacking. 20%-40% of people diagnosed with major depression are also diagnosed with chronic pain. 15%-20% also have heart disease, 11%-15% have diabetes, and 30%-50% have strokes.

Myth #4: Mental health issues are due to moral flaws or a social failing.

Depression, anxiety, and other mental disorders are typically the result of a loss of independence, chronic illness, a co-morbid substance use disorder, major losses (such as the death of a family member), and/or medication mismanagement.

Myth #5: Mental health issues are easily recognized.

Because many older people believe depression is a normal part of aging, many of them go untreated as symptoms are often missed. Depression may present itself in an atypical way, leading others to believe it is the start of dementia. Atypical presentation may include irritation and agitation. Some with depression may not cry or say they're sad at all.

Pseudo-dementia is where a person has forgetfulness, a lack of concentration, a lack of ADLs, clouded thinking and/or a lack of motivation. These can actually be symptoms of depression, so this person may need to see a doctor for evaluation.

Myth #6: There are no effective treatments for mental health disorders.

There are many evidence-based treatments for depression and anxiety, such as SSRIs, SNRIs, NDRIs, psycho-social support and cognitive behavioral therapies. It may take six weeks to two months for the person to see results though.

Trump Signs Senator Baldwin's Opioid Crisis response reforms into law

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Today, President Trump signed into law a number of Senator Baldwin's bipartisan reforms to combat the opioid crisis in Wisconsin.

As a member of the Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee, Senator Baldwin authored key reforms included in bipartisan legislation which passed the Senate earlier this month.

Senator Baldwin worked to include provisions that will help prevent the flow of illegal fentanyl, opioids and methamphetamine from other countries; extend and expand investments in local prevention, treatment and recovery efforts; and provide more resources to combat the growing methamphetamine problem in Wisconsin.

"I've met with local health officials, law enforcement and those who have lost loved ones throughout Wisconsin, and it's clear Washington must do more to be a stronger partner in supporting local prevention, treatment and recovery efforts," said Senator Baldwin. "In Wisconsin, we have seen a spike in fentanyl overdose deaths and a growing problem of methamphetamine abuse in our state. That's why I have worked to provide more resources and flexibility to help Wisconsin fight this epidemic, and to stop the flow of illicit drugs, like fentanyl, meth and illegal opioids, coming from other countries into America. These bipartisan reforms are an important step forward and will help provide Wisconsin the tools we need to save lives."

Prevent the flow of illegal fentanyl, opioids, and meth from other countries

The Opioid Crisis Response Act of 2018 includes a bipartisan reform introduced by Senator Baldwin that would help stop the flow of illegal opioids, fentanyl, methamphetamine and other illicit drugs into the country through International Mail Facilities.

The Restricting Entrance and Strengthening the Requirements on Import Controls for Trafficking (RESTRICT) Illicit Drugs Act, introduced with Senator Bill Cassidy (R-LA), would give the FDA more tools to prevent illegal fentanyl, opioids and other illicit synthetic drugs from entering the country at the border through our International Mail Facilities.

Recently, communities across Wisconsin have seen dramatic increases in illicit fentanyl overdoses. According to the Milwaukee County Medical Examiner's Office, in 2018, there have been 193 confirmed opioid-related overdose deaths and 117 confirmed fentanyl-related overdose deaths in Milwaukee County.

Stronger support for local prevention, treatment and recovery efforts

Earlier this year, Senator Baldwin led the effort to include an additional $1 billion in the FY2018 omnibus spending bill signed by President Trump for the Opioid State Targeted Response Grant program.

The Opioid Crisis Response Act of 2018 includes provisions from Baldwin's Opioid Response Enhancement Act to expand and extend the Opioid State Targeted Response Grant program to provide states and tribal communities more resources for local prevention, treatment and recovery efforts. The grant program was established as part of the bipartisan 21st Century Cures Act that Senator Baldwin worked to pass in Congress.

More resources for growing meth problem in Wisconsin

Senator Baldwin has held roundtable dialogues across the state with law enforcement, first responders, health officials and community leaders where she has learned about the growing problem of methamphetamine abuse in Wisconsin.

In response, Senator Baldwin worked to include a reform in the Opioid Crisis Response Act of 2018 that would provide states with more flexibility in using federal funding so Wisconsin will be able to put it to work to address the growing meth problem in our state.

District operated on an approximate budget of 16 million dollars a year, with five board members overseeing its operation, while the county operates on an approximate budget of 14 million dollars a year with 21 board member who oversee the budget. With this in mind, I am in favor of each township electing two representatives picked by each town chairman to represent their township in the Crandon School District. The representatives will meet as often as needed, allowing the people in each township to take their concerns to their representatives and have their voices heard, because they cannot be heard unless they are on the agenda. Then, the township representative can present concerns to the School Board. This will help the School Board have greater insight on the thoughts and concerns of community members, especially when the current School Board discusses possible referendums.

If elected to the School Board, one of my top concerns would be being fiscally responsible by eliminating wasteful spending and operating under the allotted budget. I believe that we need to comb through out current spending habits and try to make lasting changes before resorting to a referendum. However, I am not opposed to a referendum, as a last resort, if it has the community's approval.

I would appreciate your support on November 6, 2018.

Michelle Gobert-Candidate for Crandon School Board

My name is Michelle Gobert and I am a candidate for the Crandon School Board in the November 6th election.

Last month I introduced myself in the candidate forum for the primary election and talked a little bit about the reasons why I feel I am a qualified candidate. This time, I would like to introduce my number [ ]one reason that I'm running for school board and that is the word 'engagement'. As a UW-Extension educator, I am learning a great deal about the concept of community development and what I'm learning is that communities thrive when they have engaged school districts. Yet, what does it mean to be an engaged school district?

The definition of "engage" is to involve someone's interest in something and I firmly believe our school needs to be actively involving youth, parents, business owners, retired folks and our lake residents, in the interest of our school. All of these voices need to be heard and they all need to feel respected as valued members of our school community.

How does the school accomplish this? Ask for input. Value the input and act upon it. Don't pretend to know it all. Our educators also need to be willing share their knowledge and passion with the community. Most people who know me, know what I'm passionate about. What are our teachers passionate about? Our kids! Our school has amazing educators that are passionate about teaching our kids, yet we don't always hear them as their voices are drowned out by school board members, administration or the issues between these two groups. If elected, I hope to spend my time and energy creating opportunities for engagement between teachers, administration and the community.

Of course, not everything is going to be fun and games. Because people's passions are involved, there are going to be heated discussions, angry outbursts and opportunities for miscommunication. And there is no easy solution for our budget deficit. But we must continue to talk. And to listen. And talk some more. Recently at a school focus group session, board member Kadie Montgomery acknowledged this exact situation taking place and encouraged everyone at the table to keep talking because as she put it, "when we are talking, it means we're getting something done. When we aren't talking is when we should be worried".

Let's keep talking Crandon! Vote Michelle Gobert on November 6th!

Ultra Crispy Baked Potato Wedges

2 pounds Russet Potatoes, scrubbed clean
3 TB olive oil 2 tsp garlic powder
2 tsp onion powder 1 tsp fine sea salt
freshly ground black pepper 2 TB finely chopped fresh parsley, optional

Directions: Preheat oven to 400. Cut each potato in half lengthways 3x so that you have 8 wedges per potato. Place the sliced potatoes into a large bowl and cover them with hot water. Let them soak for 10 minutes. Drain the potatoes and lightly pat them dry with a lint-free tea towel. Place the potato wedges on the prepared pan and drizzle them with olive oil. Sprinkle the garlic and onion powders, salt and a generous amount of black pepper on top. Toss until the potatoes are evenly coated. Arrange on pan so each wedge has a cut side against the pan. Bake 30 minutes, then flip the wedges over. Bake until the wedges are deeply golden, crisp and easily pierced through by a fork, about 25 to 30 more minutes. Sprinkle with parsley, if desired, and serve hot.
