History on Tap to offer Badger Talks Program

On Monday, September 30th, the Crandon Area Historical Society will host a presentation on Wisconsin's largest collection of aerial prints titled "Landscapes of Wisconsin: Visualizing History Through Aerial Photography" presented by Jaime Martindale, map and geospatial data librarian in the department of geography at UW Madison. The program is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. and will be held at the historic Hotel Crandon.

The Badger Talks program will show a small fraction of the estimated one-quarter million aerial prints at the University of Wisconsin Madison's Robinson Map Library. The oldest aerial photos in the collection date to 1937.

In presenting the photos, Martindale explains, "I let the photos speak for themselves and invite people to share their memories and recollections from the time. People are almost always attached to where they are from, or where they have put roots down."

Badger Talks is a UW Connects program which brings UW professors and other experts to give talks and engage in cutting-edge ideas with Wisconsin citizens. UW-Madison, Division of Extension Forest County Educator Michelle Gobert is excited about the opportunity to bring this type of programming to Forest County. "This program highlights the partnership that exists between Forest County, the University of Wisconsin-Madison and our county residents," explains Gobert. "Extension offers non-biased, research based programming to Forest County residents, while the University gains information and ideas from visiting communities through outreach programs like this one."

History on Tap, hosted by the Crandon Area Historical Society, aims to provide engaging historical programs in a social setting. Complimentary snacks are provided with alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages for sale. No registration is required and no cost to attend. For more information on this program, please contact Michelle Gobert, Extension Educator, 715-478-7797.

Little Rice Lake Association to meet on September 28

Little Rice Lake Association meeting will be held Saturday September 28 from 4:00-6:00 p.m. at the Crandon high school auditorium. All members of the association and concerned citizens are invited to attend.

We will have DNR staff on hand to discuss two very important issues facing the lake; the possibility of installing an aeration system to help preserve the fish population and the discussion pertaining to the clipping of weeds to open navigational lanes out to the main lakebed.

The public's input is requested so a plan can be devised to best serve those landowners whose property is clogged with weeds most of the summer, limiting access to the main lake.

Wabeno National Honor Society to host blood drive

The Wabeno High School chapter of the National Honor Society will be hosting a Red Cross blood drive on Tuesday, September 24th, from noon to 5:00 pm at the Wabeno High School small gym. All blood types are needed at this time, especially in light of the recent hurricanes that have damaged the blood supply in parts of our country. Usually blood is kept for a short time in a more localized area, but at times like this, donations are sent further away. In addition, those suffering from certain types of cancers and other diseases are always in need of blood.

Please consider coming to Wabeno High School on Tuesday to donate. You can make an appointment by going to redcross.org, or by calling Mary Ellen Keller at Wabeno High School. If you must leave a message, please include your phone number. We welcome both repeat donors as well as 1st time donors. All clients must be in good health on the donation day.

Tiffany announces Senate Scholar Program

Annalise Callaghan from Northland Pines High School joined Sen. Tom Tiffany during the Wisconsin State Senate Scholar Program in 2018.

Sen. Tom Tiffany (R Minocqua) and the state Senate are excited to offer a week-long educational experience for high school juniors and seniors. The Senate Scholar Program is designed to challenge Wisconsin's best students and provide a hands-on opportunity to learn about Wisconsin state government.

Scholars will learn from experts about constituent relations and bill drafting. They will also staff the Senate floor during a legislative session and witness floor debate on legislation. They'll learn how to draft their own bills and amendments, form a mock committee, and elect committee leadership. Finally, the program concludes with a mock committee hearing.

One student from each Senate district will be chosen to participate in the program in Madison. Applications and more information can be found at www.senatescholar.com. The application deadline is Friday, November 8, 2019.

Senior Chatter

If you have to send money to claim your prize, odds are it's a scam. Don't risk it!

You've just won! A foreign lottery. Sounds too good to be true? You're right. Odds are it's a scam. It happens like this.....someone calls, emails or notifies you by mail. All you need to do is mail or wire a small amount for taxes and fees to claim your prize. Just hang up the phone or ignore the email. Never wire or send money or gift cards to anyone, anywhere, who says you've won a prize. No Legitimate Lottery Should Ask You For Money To Claim Your Prize.

Older Americans are often targeted by scammers. Speak with your older loved ones about the consequences of foreign lottery scams. A few protective measures taken with their consent and a simple conversation about avoiding scams could be the winning ticket to preserving their financial well-being.

- Confirm frequent unknown domestic or international calls
- Monitor all accounts for unusual activity
- Identify unknown and recurring payments
- Discuss repeated wire-transfer patterns of checks that are made out to cash
- Notice stacks of sweepstake offers or prize notification letters around the home
- Talk about changes in living conditions living beneath one's means, past-due bills, etc. It's shrewd, not rude.

- Act cautiously when dealing with offers that sound too good to be true
  - Hang up if you suspect a scam
  - Discard emails
- Don't Gamble It Away.

Report the crime. Contact local police and the Federal Trade Commission. If mail is used to contact the victim, or if the victim sent money to the scammer by mail, contact the U.S. Postal Inspection Service®.

Notify each involved business. Includes wire-transfer services, banks, and shopping ad phone companies. Alert all financial institutions, which often share intelligence with law enforcement.

Manage online identities. Use passwords that are not easily identifiable containing letters, numbers and symbols.

Contact the Social Security Administration. Protect your Social Security payments. These scams may put your benefits at risk.

Close financial accounts. Close accounts involved in a fraud and explore security options with banks to protect assets.

Check credit reports often. Place a fraud alert on your credit reports and review regularly.

Learn more about foreign lottery scams: www.aarp.org/protectyourfinances or www.DeliveringTrust.com.

Con artists target millions of people every year. When they succeed, they can seriously affect the lives of victims and their families. We at the U.S. Postal Inspection Service® are out to stop these criminals. You can help, by learning to recognize fraudulent offers before they cause damage. While a small percentage of mail is used for fraud, we consider one incident one too many.

Let us help protect you and your family from fraud. If you've received a suspected fraud through the U.S. Mail™, or if the mail was used on a crimes that began on the Internet, telephone, or in person, report it to the U.S. Postal Inspection Service®.
