A visit to the Belland Pumpkin Farm in Crandon

By Mike Monte

Last Saturday was a very pleasant day, and made even more pleasant with a visit to the Belland Pumpkin Farm. The farm is on West Hill, looking down on the City of Crandon, and it is a great view. There were pumpkins of all sizes for sale, but there was much more.

Visitors could take the I Spy wagon ride through the surrounding woods, test their accuracy with the apple launcher, and the corn stalk fort provided a unique place for kids to find spooky treasures hidden in the shelled corn on a table, and an obstacle course and bean bag toss. There was good food, including some delicious apple and pumpkin pies and a photo "booth" where the kids could have their picture taken.

It was a successful first attempt at a pumpkin farm, with 1,000 seeds planted and 700 pumpkins produced alongside the driveway.

Because of the popularity of the pumpkin farm, the Bellands are going to do it again on Saturday, October 12th from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Bring the kids, but the parents will enjoy it too!

The wagon ride was enjoyed by all.

Argonne residents invited to Community Connect

UW-Madison Division of Extension Forest County is excited to announce a new initiative for current and former Argonne families titled Community Connect. Community Connect meetings are informal get-togethers that offer participants the opportunity to sit down with their neighbors to discuss and plan opportunities related to preserving the history of Argonne.

The Town of Argonne will celebrate its Centennial in the year 2021 and we are hoping to use this opportunity to gather stories and information about the Town and its people over the last 100 years. Please know that this is not a Centennial event planning committee, but rather a group of people interested in documenting the history of the town, including the school, churches, industries and families that contributed to the town's survival. UW-Madison Division of Extension's role will be to facilitate research and storytelling in a way that allows us to

Weeds"n"Walleyes in Mole Lake on October 12

Each fall the Lake Metonga Association hosts an annual fund raising event at Mole Lake for about 300 of your friends and neighbors. This year is no exception. While most of the tables are already spoken for, we still have a few openings available.

As some of you may have noticed we had the wrong date posted in the newspaper and Chamber literature for most of the summer.

This was only done to throw off a few guests who were planning vacations and ATV trips. We all know how bad weather can cancel these events, so if your trip is canceled, let us know and we'll find a place for you.

Now let me clear up a few other misconceptions. The event is not called Weed"n"Walleye or Weeds"n"Wallets. The event is Weeds"n"Walleyes, and the date is October 12th.

The event is a FUN raising FUND RAISER. Proceeds from this years event are for preparing our 10 year Lake Management Plan and adopting measures outlined in the plan.

If you can make it, call Chris or Gary Mueller and let us know who you don't want to sit with.

Please shop local! We have support from ALL local businesses.

Community Resource Fair at Nu Roc

A Community Resource Fair will be held at Nu Rock Nursing Home in Blackwell on Thursday, October 10, from 3 until 7 p.m. The event is open to the public.

What, you ask, is a Community Resource Fair? It is a chance to learn about numerous resources available to senior citizens, from benefit programs to mental health supports, long and short-term care services and numerous other topics including veteran support and alzheimer and dementia resources.

There will be refreshments. It is a chance to learn about the resources available for yourself and loved ones. See the ad in this paper for more information.

McCasin Lioness donate to Chute Pond Snowmobile Club

The Cowboys are back, and they are robbing the Lumberjack Steam Train!

The leaves are turning color, the temperature is nice, and the Lumberjack Steam Train, in Laona, Wisconsin, will be making its last runs of the season, finishing up the Fall Festival on Saturday, October 5. But, we happen to know that the Cowboys are coming back, and you can bet your best spurs that they will be trying to rob the Lumberjack Steam Train!

Their vintage guns will be spitting fire and smoke and they always manage to stop the train. In spite of what the Marshall and his deputies do to stop the robberies, they always seem to succeed! Even the preacher can't talk them out of their life of banditry, and lovely ladies in vintage dress never seem to curtail their lawless ways!

If you would like to be there to witness the beautiful horses and reckless cowboys, you should come to Laona on Saturday, October 5. Keep your valuable out of sight and your money in your hat band! These galoots can't be trusted!

Once you get to the Camp 5 Museum Complex, you can feel safe from these cowboy bandits. You might even find they are good company when you enjoy lunch in the Choo Choo Hut Restuarant or shop for souvenirs, fudge or ice cream in the Cracker Barrel store. A trip on the Green Treasure Forest Tour is both scenic and educational, and kids and adults alike enjoy the friendly animals in the Petting Zoo.

Don't forget to visit the excellent Logging Museum that will give you insight into the early logging and saw milling days of northern Wisconsin. There is an impressive array of vintage equipment and photographs.

Do you lack direction? You can sharpen your skills at finding your direction in the fabulous corn maze! It is a great photo opportunity for drone enthusiasts, and they will be glad to display your photos on their website.

Get ready for Halloween and spooky things by visiting the Haunted Slaughterhouse. You might want to wear a hat to keep your hair from standing on end!

The 1916 Vulcan Lumberjack Steam Train will be leaving the depot for Camp 5 and the Cowboys at 9:30 a.m., and the train will leave every 45 minutes, with the last run at 2 p.m. The depot is on Hwy 8, on Laona's west side.

To reserve a spot on the train, call 715-674-3414. To find out more about this special day, visit their website at lumberjacksteamtrain.com.

THERE WILL BE A BARN DANCE AT CAMP 5 ON SATURDAY EVENING & THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

The sheriff awaits the outlaw cowboys, and tension is in the air!

Then, with guns smoking, the train robbery begins. They rob the train on every trip!

AREA EVENTS

Laona's Trick, Trunk or Treat

Laona Area Chamber of Commerce and Maple Place Inc. are proud to co-host the first-ever Trick, Trunk or Treat event for kids of Laona and surrounding communities. The event will be held Thursday, Oct. 31, at Maple Place in downtown Laona from 4-7 p.m. Here's what else you need to know:

First and second floor spaces inside Maple Place will be available to adults and businesses in Laona and surrounding communities who wish to participate in handing out Halloween candy. This is ideal for a couple of reasons: Those who live off the beaten path and don't get trick-or-treaters can now take part, and the building will help protect those involved from the elements. Those interested in participating are encouraged to decorate their space as festive as they like, and may dress in costume.

Youth will enter the building on the west side, go up and through the second floor, come back down the south staircase, out the front door, and to the east side of the building where the trunk-or-treat awaits! In an attempt to provide a safer, community-based environment that's also centrally-located for kids, adults can participate by parking cars in a row alongside the building's east wall. Their trunks hold the candy and kids go along the rows of cars and "trunk-or-treat" for goodies!

Spaces are free but donations toward sponsoring the event are always appreciated. Participant spots must be reserved by Sunday, October 27, and setup of spaces must be completed by Tuesday, October 29.

If interested in participating or would like more information, contact Laona Area Chamber of Commerce at (715) 902-0810, laonaareachamber@gmail.com, or Facebook Messenger for more details.

As required by the State of Wisconsin, Lincoln's plan was last revised and updated in 2009. The first sections to be reviewed will be the chapters regarding demographics, natural resources, housing and economic development. In addition, recommendations for public participation will be addressed. As with all town meetings, the public is welcome to attend. For further information, contact Kathryn Gibbs, Plan Commission Secretary, at 715-478-0403.

DEER-CAR ACCIDENTS

Here are a few tips that may help you if you encounter a deer on or around the roadway. Slow down as much as possible and stay in your lane. Do not take the ditch or shoulder to avoid hitting the deer. You are usually better off hitting the animal than possibly causing serious injury to yourself or more damage to your vehicle if you lose control. When a deer crosses in front of you, watch for others, as you may not see the rest of the group until it is too late. Dawn and dusk are when they are most active, so be especially alert at these times. Pay attention, keep both hands on the wheel and please talk to the young drivers in your household regarding how to handle this situation.

Crandon Volleyball continues to raise standards throughout program

Cardinals earned the 1st place trophy after going undefeated at the Marion Invitational August 29th.

By Ashley Lehman

Crandon is accustomed to transitions from year to year, whether that be losing experienced seniors, facing new competition with new schedules, or learning new drills to enhance skills during practice. This fall will be no different in the fact that adjustments will be made program-wide.

One of the more obvious changes made this fall will be the middle school schedule. Middle school volleyball will now be in the fall, the same time as high school volleyball. Traditionally, the middle school had a spring volleyball season with conference teams. Middle School coach Jeff Lehman, former head wrestling coach, a coach of all trades you could say, is confident numbers will stay up. "Now that the middle school season is in the fall, the kids have more opportunities to work with the high school athletes than before. We can be more of a whole program now instead of middle school/high school. I think kids will be excited about that."

Switching the schedule to the fall occurred for a number of reasons. This is Wisconsin and snow likes to stick around through most of March and into April. Last spring, the school had middle school girls volleyball, middle school boys basketball, high school track, softball, baseball, and golf going on. With no available outdoor space, gym space was a hot commodity that time of year when snow is still around.

Conference athletic directors also considered this move because surrounding schools like Rhineland, Minocqua area and the U.P in Michigan schedule their middle school programs in the fall. This allows Crandon to schedule matches that are outside the Northern Lakes Conference which will benefit these athletes when they reach high school level of play.

Minocqua/Hazelhurst/Lake Tomahawk School District has already scheduled a number of matches with our middle school this season.

The high school team is looking forward to the talent coming in and the experience coming back, according to third year Head Coach Karen Lehman. "We have an experienced team this year, who want to continue to grow in the sport. This group is athletic, but they're smart and want to learn the game and find new ways to improve. As a coach, I can't help but be excited to see them compete and develop throughout the season. All three teams are going to be a force to be reckoned with."

The Varsity went 16-10 overall last season, placing 3rd in the conference. Key losses were Sydney Gretzinger, Alexa Neilitz, and Tia Poe. All three were offensive placeholders at the net. Returning this year is, Lindsay Littleton, 1st Team All-Conference, Lynzee McGeshick, 2nd Team All-Conference, Leah Littleton, Honorable Mention All-Conference, Grace Gunderson, Brandi Okrasinski, Maddie Stamper, Macie Palubicki, and Abbie Samz. Newcomers are Anjelina Lyons, Bella Toyeyo and Abey VanZile.

During the Varsity's preseason, the team traveled to Bonduel and then to Marion to compete in two team tournaments. Crandon was able to face Regional rivals such as Bonduel and Conference competition like Elcho. These preseason tournaments are great indicators for coaches to see what is working and what the team needs to improve on. Crandon was able to go undefeated at both invitationals and come out as champions. For the Crandon Volleyball team, taking home a trophy hasn't happened in a number of years. Now taking home two, back-to-back trophies is something to get excited about.

The first home and conference match was September 5th, the JV and Varsity took on Florence, traditionally a tough conference competitor. The JV allowed the Bobcats one set, but captured the win 2-1. Following suit, the Varsity had a slow start, giving one set away, but turned things around with a 3-1 win. Varsity is currently 10-0 overall (9/9/19).

Jeanne Adelaide (Carter) Wells died on August 25th, 2019 in Fort Collins, Colorado. Jeanne, formerly of Parker, Lakewood and Denver, Colorado, was born in Crandon, Wisconsin on December 31, 1918. She was age 100 years, seven months, and 25 days at the time of her death.

Growing up in the northwoods, she survived cold winters, pleasant summers, four brothers, the Great Depression and scarlet fever as a child. She graduated from Bellin Memorial Hospital College as a registered nurse in 1942, after three years of study. In that same year she followed her adventuresome spirit and answered the call to serve as an Army nurse during WWII.

After training at Ft. Benning, Georgia, she received orders to sail to England. After brief duty in England she was transferred to Bouhanfa Hospital in the North Africa campaign, arriving on December 6, 1942. After one year she was transferred to Italy and subsequently volunteered to serve at the 93rd Evacuation Hospital on the Anzio beach head. It was there that she survived several bombings of the hospital and received commendations. During a nighttime firefight over the hospital, she went out to see what was happening. Upon returning to her cot, she noticed that something was different. Upon further examination, she saw that a chunk of shrapnel had ripped through the bedding. We have always thanked God for her curiosity.

In 1944 Jeanne became gravely ill while serving in Naples, Italy. She was sent home to attempt recovery from an unknown disease. It turned out that tuberculosis was the culprit, so it was off to Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver to recover. It took two years for her to recover completely.

It was in Denver that she met and married Lewis (Dusty) G. Wells in 1949, a marriage that spanned 55 years until Dusty's death in 2003. Jeanne is survived by two daughters, Suzanne of Pensacola, Florida and Judy Jo of Cody, Wyoming; and two sons, Robert of Mitchell, Nebraska and Russell of Fort Collins, Colorado. Jeanne was blessed with eight grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Lester and Ivy Carter; and four brothers, Frederick (Fritz) Carter, Glenn Carter, Bob C. Carter and Harold Carter.

During her long, fruitful and generous life she always enjoyed a travel adventure and cherished time spent with her family and friends. A memorial service celebrating Jeanne's life was held in Fort Collins, Colorado on September 28, 2019. Family have requested that memorials be made to Crandon Area Historical Society.

Natalie Ann Kamenick, "Nat" (Stille), 82, of Crandon, WI, passed away on October 1, 2019. She was born April 16, 1937, in Chicago, IL to 1st generation German immigrants Rudolph and Anna (Hoepfl) Stille. She married LaVerne Kamenick on Dec. 31, 1958. They settled in Elkhorn, WI where they raised their family. Nat and Verne later moved to Northern Wisconsin on Lake Lucerne in Crandon.

Natalie was a generous wife, mother, and grandmother, and was forever serving the needs of others before herself. She was a good friend to many. Her house always contained home-made baked goods and the wonderful smells of something good cooking in the kitchen. She enjoyed having friends and family over for dinner and conversation and always had a smile and a hello for those she greeted. She was an avid gardener, and had beautiful flower and bountiful vegetable gardens. She became a Master Gardener and used those talents to contribute to the beauty of the community through tending the gardens at Good Shepherd Church and Historical Society in Crandon. She was skilled at knitting, crocheting, quilting and crafting – we will enjoy her creations for years to come. She loved to travel and visited many places with her husband and family over the years, and enjoyed her recent winters in Tucson, AZ with Verne.

She earned her associate degree at Wright Jr. College, Chicago in 1957, and her B.S. in education from UW Whitewater in 1974. Once her kids were in school, she was a long and short-term substitute teacher at all the neighboring schools near Elkhorn, and again in Crandon and Laona when she moved to the Northwoods. She volunteered often for her church, Master Gardeners, local Humane Society and other organizations, when she was able.

Nat is survived by her husband, LaVerne; sons, Ken (special friend Cheri Schremp) of Edgerton, WI and Gary (special friend, Cheryl Zielinski) of Elkhorn; daughter, Kathy (Fran) Arendt of Luxemburg, WI; grandchildren, Matt (Natalie) and their sons Graham and Noah, Tony (Ellie), Laura (Paul) Gibelev, Tyler, and Drew; step-grandsons Jason (Karianne) Arendt, Michael (Tammy) Arendt and Brett (Kate) Arendt; and seven step-great-grandchildren. She is further survived by brothers and sisters-in-law, Lois Coleman, Madonna (Roger) Wickingson, Toni Jean (Tom) Kettwig, Duaine (Carol) Kamenick and Vaughn (Patsy) Kamenick.

Collared Deer are Legal to Harvest During Fall Hunting Season

MADISON, Wis. - During the 2019 hunting season, hunters may spot deer that are equipped with radio collars. Collared deer are part of a mortality study in the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and are legal to hunt with a standard Wisconsin hunting license and tags.

The DNR Office of Applied Science is conducting a five-year mortality study called the Southwest Wisconsin Chronic Wasting Disease, Deer, and Predator Project. Researchers are investigating factors like CWD, predation and hunter harvest, and specifically to what degree these affect survivorship in deer. So far, the project crew has put GPS-enabled collars on 548 deer in Grant, Iowa and Dane counties.

"One of our study objectives is to determine what proportion of our deer herd is harvested each year, and how exactly that differs according to how old the deer is, between bucks and does and between deer that are CWD-infected and those that are not," said DNR Deer Research Scientist Daniel Storm. "That objective depends on hunters essentially treating collared deer like any other deer when deciding whether or not to harvest."

Deer that are collared as part of the Southwest CWD, Deer, and Predator study are legal to harvest. Standard licensing and harvest regulations apply to collared deer just as they do to uncollared deer. Anyone who harvests a collared deer is asked to call the number on the collar so that a crew member can retrieve it. The number to call is 608-935-1940.

The DNR recommends testing for CWD for both collared and uncollared deer. CWD is a transmissible type of spongiform encephalopathy that causes fatal brain and nervous system degeneration in ungulate species like deer, elk, and moose. CWD testing is typically only done post-mortem. To better understand CWD in Wisconsin, the DNR needs to test as many deer as possible for the disease. To that end, getting deer tested is an important step. For more information, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "CWD sampling."

preserve Argonne's history and engage its youth in its future.

The Community Connect group will coincide with an after-school local history club that will begin in October at the Crandon School. The mission of the Centennial after-school club will be to encourage students to learn about the different local landmarks and historic people and events that shaped our area. Youth will work to develop exhibits to display within the school and community while learning research skills, communication skills, and historic preservation skills. Club members will also participate in historical tours, living history programs and lots of other fun events with a historical theme.

While both groups will work separately on projects due to scheduling concerns, the plan is to eventually have the two groups come together on a project that allows the youth to connect with adults in the community that have a shared interest.

Community Connect meetings will be held each Tuesday morning from 9:30 11:30 a.m. at the Argonne Town Hall. Our first meeting will be on Tuesday, October 8th. Extension educator Michelle Gobert will be bringing various historic Argonne documents and resources from the Crandon Public Library local history room including school registers, records, photos and correspondence. Anyone with a tie to the Argonne area, or that is interested in local history, is invited to attend.

If you have any questions, please contact Michelle Gobert at 715-478-7797.

Proposed SNAP Rule in the News

In July, 2019, the Trump administration proposed a rule change that would revise the eligibility requirements for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). FoodShare is Wisconsin's state implementation of the federal SNAP.

Currently, there are two ways to be financially eligible for FoodShare in Wisconsin:

1. Your gross income is less than 200% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) and you meet one of the following criteria:

- Receive cash assistance from SSI; or
- Receive cash assistance from the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant; or
- Receive cash assistance from state-run General Assistance (GA) programs; or

You are "Broad-Based Categorically Eligible." In Wisconsin, a person is broad-based categorically eligible if he or she receives Job Center of Wisconsin services, which is a partially TANF-funded service. Because all food unit members are authorized to receive these services, this means that only the 200% FPL threshold is required.

If your income is less than 200% FPL and you meet one of the above conditions, there is no asset test in Wisconsin.

OR

2. Your gross income is more than 200% of the FPL, but your net income (considering all types of household expenses) is less than 100% of the FPL, and you have no more than $3,500 in assets.

The federal SNAP gross income limit is 130% FPL and the asset limit is $2,250 (or $3,500 if at least one person in the household is 60 years old or older or has a disability). However, the current rule allows states to set their own parameters regarding the broad-based categorically eligibility criteria. This means that if your gross income is between 131% and 200% FPL, then the proposed rule would limit categorical eligibility to those who receive substantial, ongoing assistance from TANF. This assistance means cash or non-cash benefits valued at a minimum of $50 per month for at least six months. Non-cash benefits conveying automatic FoodShare eligibility would be restricted to subsidized employment, work supports, or childcare. The proposed rule would also apply the federal asset limit of $2,250 (or $3,500) to those individuals who no longer meet the broad-based categorically eligibility criteria.

It is important to remember that headlines are often misleading. A proposed rule must pass the 60-day comment period, then the rule is amended/changed based on the comments. After the rule has been changed based on the comments, then the final rule is published, and must then be implemented by the states. This process can take years, if the proposed rule makes it to a final rule at all. Proposed rules can also face lawsuits along the way, which further stalls the process. Most estimates show that the proposed rule, if implemented, will affect roughly 3 million SNAP recipients nationwide, 25,000 of those from Wisconsin.

As it stands, there are no changes to SNAP or the Wisconsin FoodShare program. This is a proposed rule only. For anyone who would like to share their need for FoodShare or comments/concerns regarding this proposed rule change can submit them in the following ways:

• Federal eRulemaking Portal: Go to <http://www.regulations.gov>. Follow the online instructions for submitting comments.

• Mail: Send comments to Program Design Branch, Program Development Division, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, 3101 Park Center Dr., Alexandria, VA 22302.

• Email: Send comments to SNAPPDBRules@usda.gov. Include Docket ID Number [FNS20180037], "Revision of Categorical Eligibility in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance" in the subject line of the message.

Comments can be submitted until September 23, 2019.

Nicolet receives $350,000 grant from Lumina Foundation

Nicolet College has been awarded a $350,000 grant from Lumina Foundation to build clearer pathways to degrees and other credentials for adults, especially for people of color and Native learners. Lumina's All Learning Counts initiative will support Nicolet to ensure that knowledge, skills, and abilities gained outside of formal higher education—through work, military, and other experiences—can be recognized and applied toward programs leading to credentials of value.

Nicolet received one of nine grants awarded nationwide from a pool of 78 applicants.

Nicolet was awarded the grant to increase the post-secondary educational attainment of American Indians in Wisconsin. According to Lumina's Stronger Nation report for Wisconsin, in 2018 the post-secondary credential attainment for Wisconsin residents was 48.4%; and the rate for American Indians in Wisconsin was 25.5%. One of the significant barriers to increasing education attainment beyond high school is the lack of cultural relevance to indigenous people in the typical post-secondary curriculum.

"Through All Learning Counts, we are recognizing exemplars who want to ensure many more Americans will have skills they need to thrive by earning college degrees, certificates, and industry certifications," said Haley Glover, the Lumina strategy director who will oversee the grant program. "We need to think in new ways about the recognition of learning after high school. We must see that all college-level learning, regardless of how and where it is gained, can be applied toward meaningful post-high school credentials."

Nicolet partnered with the Wisconsin Indian Education Association to create the The Many Ways of Knowing: American Indian Culture Competencies for Community College Career Pathways project proposal.

"The project will design curriculum that reflects American Indian cultural competencies across liberal arts and general education courses," said Susie Crazy Thunder, Nicolet tribal outreach coordinator. "It will also create a methodology for recognizing indigenous community learning and knowledge toward increasing the number of tribal members qualified to teach American Indian Studies curriculum."

The project will also develop a framework and criteria for recognizing and awarding credit for prior learning and experience to students for competencies in American Indian language and culture.

About Lumina Foundation

MAX & JANET 50 YEARS

To my husband-

A lifetime ago, I was so lost I was almost gone. And then you found me.

Our first date, jouncing through Kukla's fields in a 59 Chevy Impala at night hunting deer out of season with me driving and you in the shotgun seat with Louie's 22 hornet bolt action (I'm sure the statute of limitations has run on that one). I was scared out of my wits, but it was the most fun imaginable for a totally brainless 17-year-old kid.

When I moved over to Rhinelander to work, you drove over every single night, stayed until after midnight every night, drove back to Crandon and got up for work at 5 a.m. Then one night you said, "we better get married or something so I can get some sleep." So we did.

Soft summer nights on Beatons Lake in Michigan in the bottom of the boat on scratchy old wool army blankets watching the stars traverse the sky until almost morning. Pulling trophy brook trout out one after the other on Otter Creek up G in a little jon boat barely big enough for the two of us just ahead of an epic thunderstorm. The time we saw moose tracks up on Consolidated hunting deer.

When the babies came, every time we brought a baby home from the hospital you elbowed me out of the way, and held that baby constantly, day and night, and rocked him. You couldn't take your eyes off him. You jumped right in with dirty diapers, sitting up day and night with sick kids and the whole nine yards. Going to every single football game. You sitting alone on the bleachers in a monsoon with a big jacket on; every now and then a little head would peek out of the jacket then go back in. That was our baby. Being hockey roadies for another nine years. You and me lying on top of the covers fully clothed watching the news day and night when our country sent our oldest into a desert war. You carrying our middle one when he had pneumonia, and again when he got bit by a dog and had to have rabies shots.

You followed my impossible dreams. Whatever goofy impossible thing I thought up, you packed up your stuff, all your guns, boat, hunting dogs and all, and went along. You never told me how to act, not even when I swore or danced funny in front of people. I never had to hide my light under a bushel basket or pretend I wasn't smart just to make you feel like a big man, because you didn't need that - you already were. The biggest man I ever knew.

You were always so neat and clean - up at 5 a.m. all combed and washed with a fresh ironed shirt, whistling, every day. You couldn't stand to see dirty dishes or unmade beds. When I was so busy, you just rolled up your sleeves and did them.

When I was in law school, you would give the kids breakfast every morning, get the older boys on the bus, pack up Ja's bottles and diaper bag, take him to Grandma Moreau's, then go out and work hard in the woods all day. At the end of the day, you would pick up Ja, kids would come home on the bus, you would make them from scratch suppers, make sure homework was done, and wash jeans. When your lumberjack buddies tried to give you flak, you just laughed at them and said, "I'm the boss at my house - I do the dishes the way I want." I suspect those lesser men would give anything to be as free as you. That's what I so loved about you - your fearlessness - sometimes to the extent of being foolhardy, but not afraid of one thing - not even me.

I'm no prize. We are two very imperfect people who just decided to hang on together through the ups and downs. We had many good times, many bad times, and a few hair-raising horrible times, because that's what life is. We just decided to ride it out together because that's what marriage is. We had some rip roaring good fights (remember the raw hamburger fight?) and 18,250 rip roaring good nights. But you hung in there with me through it all. And rode it out. No lesser man could have done it. It was the ordinariness and imperfection that brought joy, because it was so real.

You got a little crazy now and then, springtime was always weird, but I have to say there's never been a boring day with you. You have never put on or pretended to be someone you are not. What you see is what you get with you. There's not a sneaky bone in your body. When you tell a lie, it's a big fat bald faced one. If you have 2 dollars left and someone asks you, you give it to them. You have been broke and you have been very comfortable moneywise, and you're still the same. Being broke or having money does not impress you in the least and it certainly doesn't define you.

You have never judged other people harshly or looked down on anyone. I don't think I've ever heard you put another person down.

You don't have to put anyone else down to make yourself feel like a real man because you already are. You just are.

There are no words for what these fifty years have meant to me. You stayed. You call me your beautiful wife, even decades after the rest of the world has stopped thinking so, if they ever did. You still say you like to look at my pretty little face. And told me you loved me every single day, even when you were so mad at me you could just spit. And brought me coffee.

You stayed. Mighty glad you stayed.

Last month at about this time, we lost a good friend and loyal employee when Dick Jesse died unexpectedly on September 5. We are sad and heartbroken at Dick's passing.

During this very difficult time, the rest of our staff at the Wolf River Pharmacy have maintained the care of their patients with professionalism. The shock and emotions of losing a friend and co-worker are hard to control. Jody Retzlaff, Kayla Smith and Courtney Elick, we love you.

A special thank you to Brian Schultz and Paul Linderud, who coordinated the staffing needs for the pharmacy.

Dick worked for us for 34 years and developed a kind and professional relationship with many of his patients. We know many of you will miss him as a friend and your pharmacist.

Forest County Historical Society Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Forest County Historical Society, held at the Crandon Public Library last Monday, featured discussions on several exciting and challenging projects including continuation of our popular History on Tap event series and significant facility upgrades. The highlight of the evening though, was a presentation by Eagle Scout candidate Bradley Shepherd regarding his recent service project to map the graves of veterans buried at Crandon's Lakeside Cemetery.

An Eagle Service Project, the culmination of a Scout's commitment to an intensive advancement program, must demonstrate leadership of others while benefitting the scout's community, school or another non-profit organization. It is estimated that Eagle Projects contribute approximately 3 million hours of community service every year.

Local veteran's-service organizations have loyally marked the graves of servicemen at Lakeside for many years but the lists they use to locate the graves are incomplete, inaccurate and confusing. With the guidance of local UW-Extension Youth and Family Development Educator and Historical Society president, Michelle Gobert, Bradley reviewed those outdated materials and lead family members and his fellow Scouts from Crandon Troop 649 in confirming and correcting information on-site. He then developed an online database that includes the block and lot location of each veteran.

The main point of Bradley's presentation was that his project is not a finished product, rather it provides a base for more information and corrections to the existing list. "There are actually people that are on the list who don't belong there and a LOT who should be on the list but are not", he said. The Society is hoping to schedule some organized efforts to continue Bradley's work. In the meantime, we encourage the public to visit the site. Visitors can search for friends and family members and will find a form on which they can provide additions and corrections.

To access the site, go to www.crandonareahistory.org and look for the "Lakeside Cemetery Veteran Database". Veterans are listed by lot number but can be easily searched by last name. While the primary goal of the list is to provide a more accurate and complete tool for locating graves, the database has future potential to store biographies, obituaries and other documents pertaining these brave men and women. While you are at the site, check out more of the historical materials photos that the Society has assembled.
