"Sister Amnesia's Country Western Nonsense Jamboree"

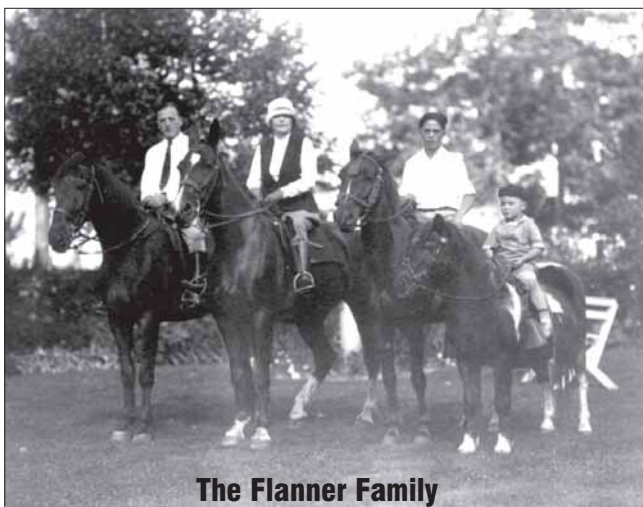

Presented by Wabeno Area Players

On July 7, 8, 9, and 10, a lively group of nuns and their side-kick priest will two-step onto the Wabeno Area Players' stage in the Nancy Volk Auditorium at Wabeno High School. They will serve up a constant and hilarious stream of knee-slapping, light-hearted comedy, and zesty tunes in "Sister Amnesia's Country Western Nonsense Jamboree", "Nonsense Jamboree" for short.

The Wabeno Area Players first introduced the zany, accident-prone Little Sisters of Hoboken to the Northwoods in the original, "Nonsense", by Dan Goggin, in 1995. The Players then presented "Nonsense Jamboree", the third song and dance extravaganza in the Nonsense set of shows, in 2016; it was such a delight to audiences and actors that the Players chose to highlight it in their 40th year celebration. Audiences will find that seeing the first two shows is not needed for following and enjoying "Nonsense Jamboree".

Blackwell Centennial Blackwell Families

The Flanner Family

GENTZ: Frank Gentz, from Shawano, came to Blackwell in 1920. His wife, Cora, was from Merrill. Together they had 8 children, 36 grandchildren, and at the time of the article about their life, 40 great grandchildren.

Frank was a great beekeeper and shipped honey in 60 pound containers to New York. He also sold locally in 5 and 10 pound containers to Lynn Paul's store and Carpenter's store, in Crandon. He sold as far north as Iron Mountain. Honey was 20 cents a pound.

Cora was postmistress from 1952 until 1961. When she left, the post office in Blackwell was discontinued. She had to pay rent of $10 per month and heat and electricity out of her $90 salary. Mail came by train to Blackwell Junction, and Frank picked it up.

Frank was the first treasurer of the town. Residents also remember that the Gentz family had the first television, and they would invite the neighbors in to watch. Cora would make popcorn for the kids, and that was going to the movies for them. Carol Braun remembers staying with Cora and Frank while he recovered from surgery, and being treated like a princess.

Armstrong Creek Centennial Celebration Saturday, July 2nd

Very early travelers to Armstrong Creek could get a meal and a room at this business long before U.S. 8 was ever thought of much less built. The Michigan House was south of the current community of Armstrong Creek.

Join the fun at the Armstrong Creek Centennial Celebration this Saturday, July 2nd. The fun begins at the town park at 11 a.m.

The parade begins at 11 a.m. Continuous music will be played from noon with Li'l Teddy and the Chicago Harmony Stars and DJ Audion. Craft vendors will be on hand, and there will be a historical display. Of course, there will be plenty to eat and drink, both Polish and American.

Rick Bernier, a professional chainsaw carver will show his skills, and there will be an ACA Jump and prizes for the kids.

All are welcome to join in celebrating Armstrong Creek's 100th anniversary of becoming a township!

See more details in the ad on page 3.

The Jennings family comes to Jennings

On the opening weekend of the Stovedwood Building Museum, three members of the Jennings family came to visit the namesake of their ancestor.

From the left is Tom Whelan and wife, Marti, and on the right is Brian Jennings. They were actually looking for family history. They know that Tom Jennings, the town's namesake was a surveyor, who likely surveyed in this area. He had three brothers who were lumberjacks, possibly in this area.

Hopefully, in their quest to complete the family tree, useful information will come out on the place we call Jennings.

The Little Sisters of Hoboken are back in Wabeno with another musical revue, with a country-western twang. Sister Mary Paul, AKA Sister Amnesia, has recovered from her amnesia, suffered when a crucifix fell on her head. After regaining her memory, Amnesia recalled that she always wanted to be a country singer. Sister Amnesia's dream has come true, and "Nunsense Jamboree" is the promotional tour for her newly released album, "I Could've Gone to Nashville".

This family friendly musical is a corny, silly show, filled with goodness. Wabeno Area Players' production of "Nunsense Jamboree" is blessed with a cast that is absolutely dedicated and has completely embraced the goofiness of the Sisters of Hoboken. Sister Amnesia is played by the talented Margi Diny, who is making her WAP stage debut. Sister Robert Anne, who is known for her wise-cracks and slightly off-color jokes, is played by another WAP newcomer, Rebecca Stimac. Sister Mary Leo, who dazzles all with her balletic dance and swinging rope tricks, is played by Maline Enders. Sister Mary Wilhelm, the convent nurse, played by Linda Boatright, will amaze audiences with her divine voice. Father Virgil, played by RJ Chickey, tries to keep the sisters down-to-earth. The cast is rounded out by Bob Brown and another WAP newcomer, Kim Wille.

The responsibilities of director, pianist, set designer and musical director are all performed by Mary Ellen Keller. Dale Keller is the percussionist. The two-story barn set was constructed by the craftsman, David Zuleger. It was painted by Mary Ellen and Dale Keller and Linda Boatright. The old-fashioned, black and white habits, accented with glittery scapulars, flowery hats and gingham aprons were assembled and constructed by Wendy Richards, Laura Bobbe and Linda Harter. The lighting technicians are Jan Volk and Vicki Delaski. The sound technicians are Tim and Jolene Derfus.

The show will be presented July 7, 8, and 9 at 7:00pm and July 10 at 2:00pm. All shows are in the Nancy Volk Auditorium at Wabeno High School, located at 4325 Branch Street in Wabeno, Wisconsin. Tickets are available in advance at www.showtix4U.com (upon access to the site, enter "Wabeno Area Players" in the search box labeled "Find an Organization"). Tickets will be available at the door, starting one hour before showtimes. The cost of tickets is $15.00 for adults and $10.00 for students. Questions? Call 715-473-5466 or 715-927-7065 or via email at wabenoareaplayers@gmail.com.

Audience members are asked to leave their troubles at the door. Clapping and singing are encouraged. They will leave with ear-to-ear grins because the nuns say it best: "We hope you brought some butter 'Cause we all brought the corn!"

GRANT: Angus and Rose Grant came to Blackwell in 1911. Angus worked in the mill and also on the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad. They had 3 children and 7 grandchildren.

NOVAK: John H. Novak started working for the Flanner Company about 1914 as a fireman on the narrow gauge locomotive that hauled logs from camps to the mill in Blackwell. He was promoted to engineer sometime in 1942.

The lumberjacks claimed him as a good friend because he allowed them to ride into town for their "holidays" after receiving their paychecks.

He always wore a red or blue work kerchief around his neck to keep the cinders from the coal car away. He also wore the engineer regulation striped and washable engineer's cap. He had a third grade education in a Polish church school, and he was proud of the fact that he was given the responsibility by the Flanners.

Mary, his wife, was reared in a Polish farm family in Pulaski. She worked as a cleaning lady and laundress for the Flanner families. She was also a very fine seamstress, and she sewed much of the clothing the Flanner women, especially Mrs. George Flanner, using materials brought from Paris. There were no patterns in those days. She invented her own from Paris magazines brought in from abroad. When she did this, the living room rug was sprinkled with wet sawdust. After it was dry, she swept it up, spread beautiful material on the rug and snipped out a dress.

GOODCHILD: Emma Krueger Goodchild came to Blackwell in 1917 and married Frank, in 1919, in Upper Michigan. Emma worked in the Laona boarding house until she was married.

Frank was born March 17, 1893, in Beaver, Wisconsin. He worked the lumber camps in this area for many years. He was veteran of WWI.

After the Flanner mill closed, they went to Laona. She and her husband both worked making flooring and were paid 75 cents per hour. There were no benefits with the job. Transportation was the use of a pede, and a trip to Blackwell Junction to catch the trail. She used a hand pump outside the house for water, and she had an icebox for storing food. Ice was cut from the Rat River and packed in sawdust in the ice house. They canned all of their food. They raised pigs and chickens, and for a couple of years, they had a cow.

TRAGEDIES IN BLACKWELL

Chester Masel, born July 16, 1913, was killed in the Italian Theater of War. He entered service on June 4 1942, and he was sent overseas in October of the same year. He participated in the African campaign. He was 29 years old.

Stanley Matelski, born March 18, 1910, was killed shortly before the hostilities ended. His remains arrived March 19th and were taken to his mother, Rose Radomski. The pallbearers were six former servicemen. Reverend Stern performed the service and burial was in the Parish cemetery.

Vernon W. Shellhammer, age 47, was accidentally electrocuted while working on Public Service lines in Laona. Laona Marshall William Spencer, who helped a crew remove hom, said he apparently brushed against a wire. He is survived by his mother, Agnes, a sister, Eva Sees, brother Louis, nieces and nephews. He was in the Air Corp from 1938-1945.

Summer School Stem

Wabeno students learned about simple electrical circuits. As part of the lesson, students used the Design Process to create flashlights from corrugated cardboard. Mr. Van Eperen taught the students how electrons work to create current. The kids used laser cut cardboard as the flash light body, copper tape as a conductor, a coin battery for the power source, and a LED light bulb as the load. Once the flashlights were complete, the kids were able to observe how to make stickers to personalize their flashlights. The next group of students will be introduced to drafting. They will be using CAD software to design and create a personalized 3-D model of a backpack tag. The students will then learn how to print them on our 3D printers.

We appreciate Fab Lab Director, Brian VanEperen, for developing and sharing the beginners course of design and production with our students.

America's Blood Shortage

Every 2 seconds someone in the U.S. Needs blood or platelets.

The United States is in a critical blood shortage. According to the American Red Cross, every day approximately 29,000 units of red blood cells are needed in the United States. Unfortunately, this country and many others are running out.

Earlier this year, the American Red Cross announced a national blood crisis, its worst blood shortage in over a decade. A blood crisis can delay critical blood transfusions and pose a risk for cancer patients, trauma victims, and others with ongoing health problems. In addition, with a limited supply of blood, doctors are forced to put pauses on lifesaving treatments and surgeries as they wait for more blood to arrive.

"Safe blood and blood products are an essential element of every health care system. Since the pandemic, blood donations have drastically decreased and they are still nowhere near back at the level needed," says Melissa Marquardt, lab blood bank technical specialist at Aspirus.

Every year, countries around the world celebrate World Blood Donor Day held on June 14. This national observance is a time to thank and recognize those who have saved countless lives by donating, and also serves to remind everyone of the safe blood and blood products needed around the world.

Out of the 35 percent of Americans who are eligible, only 10 percent donate. Blood and platelets cannot be manufactured; they can only come from the generosity of volunteer donors. To find out if you are an eligible donor, call the Blood Center of Northcentral Wisconsin at 866-566-5900 or the Community Blood Center at 800-280-4102.

Donations take on average one hour and with just one donation, several lives can be saved.

To locate a blood drive near you, visit: Blood Center of Northcentral Wisconsin at <https://www.bcnwi.org/> or call 715-842-0761 or The Community Blood Center at <https://www.communityblood.org/> 800-280-4102.

Scientists also found that extreme weather is more common. In the last decade, nearly every region in Wisconsin has experienced extreme rainfall events leading to flooding of homes and fields.

One of the major features of the 2021 report are place-based narratives indicating how people and wildlife are feeling the impacts of climate change in the state.

In northern Wisconsin, for example, floods have washed out roads and trails, warmer winters are impacting wildlife and plants, and more frequent heavy storms are increasing runoff of sediments and nutrients into lakes and rivers. Record rainfalls since 2012 combined with high water levels in Lake Superior are eroding bluffs and promoting algal blooms, like one in 2018 that extended 50 miles from the city of Superior to the Apostle Islands. Through interviews, the report details how communities in the region — which once thought they might be immune to climate change — are increasingly concerned.

In the latest report, WICCI scientists and practitioners recommend ways to address the ongoing impacts of climate change and limit greenhouse gas emissions. In general, the solutions call for a change in the way we design, plan and manage our built environment and landscape. For instance, warmer winters, wetter springs and extreme weather events are impacting agricultural production in Wisconsin. Such climate change effects also are overwhelming conservation practices to keep soil in place and protect water quality.

One way to meet this challenge is a shift towards increasing living cover on farm fields and promoting rotational grazing to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and reduce the risk of flooding. Investing in flood risk reduction practices and pre-disaster mitigation programs that address local flood risks also can help address the increasing volume of water.

Climate change is affecting nearly all aspects of our society. Working together, we can reduce greenhouse gas emissions in Wisconsin and help limit the impacts to people, business, industry, tourism and natural resources throughout the state.

If you want to learn more about WICCI and their report, you can read or download the latest climate assessment report, "Wisconsin's Changing Climate: Impacts and Solutions for a Warmer Climate," at wicci.wisc.edu.

Learning hands-only CPR can save a life

You can save a life in your own home by learning a few simple steps.

According to the American Heart Association, over 70 percent of out-of-hospital cardiac arrests happen in homes and only about 40 percent of those receive the immediate help they need.

That is only one of the many reasons to know how to correctly use an AED and perform CPR.

National CPR & AED Awareness week is observed June 1-7 each year and serves as an opportunity to highlight the importance of learning these skills.

Quality CPR can double or triple the chance a cardiac arrest victim survives. If you come across someone who has suffered cardiac arrest, check their face and chest to see if they're breathing. If there's no response, call 911 or have a bystander do it for you, then begin hard and fast compressions.

The iconic Bee Gees song Stayin' Alive is helping first responders perform accurate compressions while performing CPR. An ideal CPR rhythm is 100-120 compressions per minute and the song's beat matches the requirement of quality CPR.

"The key to providing quality CPR is putting the palm of your hand in the center of the person's chest or chest bone and interlock your fingers, position your shoulders over your hands and begin compressions," said Shaun Piller, Education Coordinator, Aspirus MedEvac. "If you can begin CPR immediately, the chances of survival improve."

Thank Yous and Personals

THANK YOU!!

On Saturday June 25, 2022 Officers responded to a 911 call at Laura-Gorden Lake Campground near Armstrong Creek. While Camping, my wife, kids and neighboring campers heard a lone cry for help stemming from across the lake. After three repeated cries for HELP, my wife called 911. Officers responded within minutes of the call.

The Forest County Sheriff's Department deployed their emergency watercraft anticipating a true emergency. In the end this turned out to be a group of teenagers who were also camping there "just playing around". Thankfully no one was injured, however, words can't describe how thankful everyone in the campground was for the department's quick response. In a real emergency it is comforting to know what a great Sheriff's Department we have and all emergency personnel for that matter.

Special Thank you to Officer Boney who made my children (Owen and Makenzie) honorary Deputies of the campground for the rest of the weekend. Also, thank you to the second responding officer (who's name I did not catch, but you know who you are). Possible catastrophe avoided and job well done. Hopefully the parents of these teenagers had a valuable conversation with them.

Thank You Shane and Stacy Packard

THANK YOU!

Thank you to all the businesses who accepted the call for donations so far this spring/summer. We welcome your monetary/gift offerings so we may continue to celebrate our library with all the community. Please stop in and visit our library and our summer offerings which you have helped to make possible.

Argonne Lumber & Supply, Inc, Associated Bank, Center for Human Restoration, Century 21, Northwoods Crandon Pharmacy, Forest County Potawatomi Community, Great Lakes Timber, Bill Hickman (program/project donation), Hometown Manufacturing, Inc, Sandra Howerton, Palubicki's Eats 'n' Treats, Robertson Ryan & Associates, Schaefer's IGA, Sokaogon Chippewa Community/Mole Lake Band, Subway, Houle Trucking/Norm Houle, Weber-Hill Funeral Home

Don't worry about rescue breaths as chest compressions alone may still be lifesaving if you're alone and not trained in CPR. Focus on providing uninterrupted hands-only chest compressions of 100-120 per minute until emergency responders arrive. If you're trained in CPR, follow your protocols until emergency support arrives.

"You don't have to be a first responder to learn CPR and the first step is to take a short class to become certified," Piller added. "You never know when those skills will be needed for a family member, friend or loved one."

You can become certified in CPR by taking a class in person or online. To find a course near you, visit www.redcross.org or cpr.heart.org.

Fruit and Vegetable Prescription

The perfect place to find fresh food is at your local farmer's market. From farm to table, the produce is one of the healthiest ways to get all your nutrients.

"Summer is the perfect time to give canned and frozen produce a break - to give our bodies and minds a healthy boost with some fresh fruits and veggies," said Danielle Polega, APNP, a Family Medicine Nurse Practitioner at Aspirus Tomahawk Clinic. "As a bonus, buying them at a farmers market is a fantastic opportunity to support our local farmers."

Aspirus has launched another year of their Fruit and Vegetable Prescription (FVRx) Program which helps provide patients with access to fresh produce. Patients are identified by the Patient-Centered Medical Home team and Health Resource Team as having a need, whether it be food insecurity, low-income, chronic conditions, or lack of access. Eligible patients are given a "prescription" to use at one of many participating farmers markets in the Aspirus service area.

"We know that a diet that's rich in fruits and veggies is healthy for us, but not everyone has the same access to these items," adds Polega. "This program is designed to get more nutritious foods in the hands of more families in our communities."
 Oftentimes farmers market vendors provide free

tastes of things like raspberries, local jellies, and fruit. The aromas of fresh vegetables and fruits are so wonderful that it makes you want to start planting. You are bound to taste or see something that triggers a smile.

Here are some tips for getting the most from your trip to the farmer's market:

- Go early. You may not need to be among the first arrivals for a weekday market, but weekend markets get busy fast. If you arrive too late, the best pickings may be gone.
- Bring cash and reusable bags. Transactions will go easier if you have a pocket of small bills. Plus, you need sturdy bags to carry your items home.
- Talk to the vendors. The sellers want to talk about their fruits, veggies, and jams. Ask for buying and storing tips. They can often give you recipe ideas too.

For Old Time's Sake

Everyone likes to pose for a picture, and when the early photographers came to the Northwoods, they not only took photos of the sawmills and the lumberjacks, but also of the native people.

This shot is from the Ned Colburn collection, which is a combination of photos from Hiles and Wabeno. The Colburns were originally from Wabeno, but moved to Hiles and founded Colburn's Resort. This is likely from the Wabeno part of the collection. Unfortunately there is no name other than that scratched on the photo, and hard to read.

Purdue University Wildlife students visit Nicolet College to learn about northern ecosystems

A contingent of nearly 50 wildlife ecology students from Indiana's Purdue University recently visited Nicolet College to learn about and experience the rich and diverse northern natural ecosystem on campus.

"This was an incredibly valuable learning opportunity for our students," said Jarred Brooke, Purdue Wildlife Extension Specialist, who coordinated the field trip.

"We always strive to give our students a broad base on instruction and knowledge and I really have to commend Nicolet College for being so welcoming and helpful in this regard. It was a wonderful experience."

The day started for the students with a presentation in the Nicolet Theatre on ruffed grouse biology and habitat by Jon Steigerwaldt, a Nicolet graduate who now works as Forest Conservation Director for the Ruffed Grouse Society.

After this presentation, students headed into the woods on campus for an instructional tour led by Nicolet College Science Instructor Roger Dorsey, who focused on the dynamics of forest succession.

The morning visit to Nicolet was one of many stops the students made during their five-week tour of Northern Wisconsin and Michigan's Upper Peninsula. That afternoon they visited the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point's Treehaven facility to learn about the ecology of that location.

Old Time's Sake

This was definitely not a happy day for the Cleereman Lumber Co. in Newald. Trucks had replaced the horses and sleighs many years before, and logs could get to the mill without snow and ice roads for the sleighs, but there could still be problems.

Judging by the truck, this was probably in the 1940's. Obviously, another truck would have to be purchased, and hopefully, the driver wasn't injured.

Wisconsin Wins: a statewide tobacco movement

Have you heard of the Wisconsin Wins program? Wisconsin Wins (WI Wins) is a science-based, state-wide program designed to decrease youth access to commercial tobacco products. It began in the spring of 2002.

This program strives to reduce illegal tobacco sales to minors. It congratulates local clerks who do not sell commercial tobacco to youth. It also educates those who do. Free training is available through the program. This training can be found at www.WITobaccoCheck.org. Training allows local retailers the ability to educate employees on Wisconsin tobacco sales law. The penalties for not following these laws can be severe. This includes fines up to $500 or suspension of tobacco license.

On Dec. 20, 2019, the President signed legislation amending the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, and raising the federal minimum age for sale of tobacco products from 18 to 21 years. This legislation (known as "Tobacco 21" or "T21") became effective immediately, and it is now illegal for a retailer to sell any tobacco product including cigarettes, cigars, and e-cigarettes to anyone under 21. The new federal minimum age of sale applies to all retail establishments and persons with no exceptions.

The Northwoods Tobacco-Free Coalition (NWTFC) conducts the WI Wins program in Forest County. That means any retailer in Forest County who has a tobacco license is subject to a tobacco compliance check each year. This is done to ensure commercial tobacco products are not being sold to anyone under the age of 21. Our 2022 goal is to restart compliance checks within the county starting this summer.

All kids deserve a healthy future. Tobacco retailers play a big role in keeping kids tobacco-free. Retailers can help kids avoid these products by checking the ID of anyone that tries to buy a tobacco product. For more information, please call Tiffany Wozniak, Forest County Public Health Nurse at 715-478-3371 or visit www.wiwins.org

New batting cage at the Crandon school

The Crandon School District's Baseball Complex batting cage system was recently completed because of contributions of many local businesses. From left are John Chaney, Chaney Excavating; Brian Garrow, Mole Lake Casino; and Matt Samz, Samz Concrete.

Samz Concrete facilitated the construction of the concrete slab. Mole Lake Casino contributed $17,000 toward the turf. Not pictured, but were also contributors to the project, are Chris Quade, Mole Lake Casino General Manager; Tony's Wabeno Redi Mix, and Fred Hagney.

Sign Project at City of Crandon Parks

The Crandon Area Community Foundation (CACF), a newly established non-profit organization, recently kicked off its first in a series of place making opportunities focused on improving the quality of life for Forest County residents.

Working with the City of Crandon, CACF's first effort currently underway is to update and expand park signage at the City of Crandon's Palmer and Cardinal Parks. The signage program encourages local businesses to support the parks through an annual advertising program. In exchange for a small donation to the Foundation, businesses can purchase a locally manufactured 4' x 4' sign to be placed on the outfield fence at both parks.

Place making is an approach to community development that aims to increase economic conditions of an area by encouraging community-led change. According to research done by the Project for Public Spaces, initiatives to improve local parks increases a community's overall physical activity and generates a sense of community that overall offers both physical and mental health benefits to both adults and young people.

To-date 38 have been purchased with plenty of space available at both fields. Businesses and/or organizations interested in sponsoring a sign or learning more about the program can contact Andy McMillion at 715-456-7020.
