The Pioneer has visitors from Denmark with an interest in Wilhelm Dinesen

It was a very pleasant visit, all of them speak very good English, so the conversation lasted quite some time!

By Mike Monte

Long-time readers will probably remember when we published the Dinesen Journals. This was close to 30 years ago. The journals covered the trip that Wilhelm Dinesen made up the Military Road, alongside the Wolf River, to find and learn from the Mole Lake Chippewa. Dinesen found Mole Lake and a trading post run by William Johnson.

My wife asked me to take care of the leaves this weekend. Again, I had to remind her that you don't have to be in a hurry to clean up every autumn leaf. While it's important to clean up plant debris, we can also spare a thought for the beneficial bugs and birds who need shelter over winter.

Lakes Country Public Library meets $10,000 match!

Lakes Country Public Library in Lakewood has received over $10,000 in matching donations for a contribution made in September by an anonymous donor. "In just six weeks, we received 37 donations ranging in amounts from $20 to $1,000," said Library Director Katie Essermann. "Some came from other states: Arizona, California, Florida, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Texas, and Washington."

We are so grateful for such enthusiastic support for our building and expansion project, and the best part is that, due to our success, we have received another offer of an even larger matching challenge! Watch for the announcement in the coming weeks."

Don & Ora Lea Golf Outing Great success despite weather

The 2022 Don & Ora Lea Bartels Charity Tournament was held at McCauslin Brook Golf & Country Club in Lakewood on Monday, September 12. The annual event was a great success even though golfers and volunteers had to brave windy, rainy and cold weather out on the course.

Tournament organizer Mickey Schipferling expressed the gratitude of the Bartels family and employees: "We appreciate everyone for participating: the golfers who played despite very challenging conditions, the businesses and individuals that took out sponsorships and donated prizes, and our hardy volunteers who worked the entire day."

Over $10,000 was raised in the one-day tournament. Half of the proceeds will go to the Lakes Country Public Library Building Fund, with the remainder donated to local charities and to fund scholarships.

Above: Representing the Bartels Family, Ted Bartels (L) presents a check of $5,003 to Tom Thielke, Lakes Country Library Building Expansion Committee. The money was raised September 12 at the Don and Ora Lea Bartels Charity Tournament held at McCauslin Golf & Country Club in Lakewood.

Wabeno Junior High and High School announced the September Student of the Month for showing responsibility.

Brody Sattler, 6th grader, received the award because, "He is always prepared for class, completes his assignments on time, and does his best work. The part I love is he is always polite and willing to help with whatever or whoever needs his help."

Congratulations, Brody, on being responsible!

Wabeno Junior High and High School announced the September Student of the Month for showing responsibility.

Everleigh Shepard, 6th grader, was selected because, "She continues to be a role model for her classmates both in terms of academics and also in terms of classroom behavior. She has excelled in her grades and is the first one to engage in a leadership role in trying to appeal to her classmates to get them onto the right track."

Congratulations, Everleigh, for being responsible!

7th Grade Student of the Month

Keira Godin, 7th grade at Wabeno Junior High, was selected for Student of the Month in September for responsibility.

"Keira keeps busy with band, sports, and student government but is also well prepared for class, attentive, and interested in learning. She also brings good disposition and makes it fun to have her in class."

Congratulations, Keira! Keep being responsible.

8th Grade Student of the Month

Jake Mason, 8th grader at Wabeno Junior High, was selected for Student of the Month for responsibility.

"Jake has been a very important member of the Junior High choir for the past two years. He always comes into the room as he should and he is always ready to go when it is time. He works hard to sing his part and lead his section. He sings nice and loud so others can hear him. They rely on him to lead his part. When he was unable to make a concert at the end of last year, our entire group noticed because everyone was a bit more shy about performing without his leadership. We were noticeably quieter without him. I hope he makes it to all of our concerts this year!"

Congratulations, Jake, on being responsible!

10th Grade Student of the Month

Kinzey Bereswill, 10th grader at Wabeno High School, was selected for September Student of the Month for responsibility.

"Kinzey is prepared for class every day. She has excellent time management skills and uses work time wisely. She is nearly always the first person to turn in assignments--usually days before the due date. So far this year, she is one of the few students who has never asked me to lend her a pen/pencil or other supplies. Additionally, she always has her Chromebook charged and is ready for daily tasks. She has great attendance and has never been late to my class. She must show similar diligence across all disciplines/classes because she had straight As for grade check and no missing work."

Congratulations, Kinzey, for being responsible!

For Old Times Sake

They had it made! A job in the Hammes sawmill in Padus and a house to live in too! There was also credit to be had at the Hammes store.

How times have changed. If that same job offer was put out today, John Hammes would have to run the sawmill singlehanded. But if you have no roof over your head and a wife and kid to feed, it would look good.

The Hammes mill has been gone for over a hundred years, but there is still a clearing in the woods where people lived and worked when any job looked good. It was better than going hungry and living outside in a tent. Who knows? These people may have looked back to these days with some fondness.

For those who don't know, the Padus town and mill used to sit on the C&NW railroad tracks about halfway between Wabeno and Laona. There are modern homes in the area now, and the Padus Trap Club is located where the saloon used to sit.

For Old Times Sake

Many of the older folks will remember Nora Radliff. Yes, she dressed, looked and acted like a man. She also had a great love for the outdoors and hunting and fishing as well as trapping. The bobcat she is holding is proof that her trapping often worked.

Nora was an interesting person. She was fun to talk to and to spend time with, and she fit right in with a group of guys in a bar drinking beer. She was one of the guys! But, she was also married and had children. She learned to do upholstery, and was good at it. She had TB when younger, in the 1920's, and escaped from the sanitarium and lived in a shack in the woods until the clean air cured her. She was one of a kind!

Baldwin Joins Bipartisan Call for Urgent Release of LIHEAP Home Heating Aid

Bipartisan Coalition of 31 Senators Urge Biden Administration to Swiftly Make LIHEAP Funds Available to States

WASHINGTON, DC – With colder weather around the corner and global energy costs projected to rise this winter, U.S. Senator Tammy Baldwin (D-WI) joined a bipartisan coalition of 31 senators led by Jack Reed (D-RI) and Susan Collins (R-ME) in urging the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to release funds for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) as swiftly and at the highest level possible.

The Senators say the federal LIHEAP funding is a crucial lifeline that assists low-income households and seniors on fixed incomes pay their energy bills and stay safe during the winter. Baldwin joined with colleagues to secure $1 billion in emergency funding for the program in the short-term “continuing resolution” (CR) funding package that President Biden signed into law last month. Under the CR, HHS will also be able to advance states funding equal to 90 percent of their FY 2022 allocation.

“Given the alarming increase in energy costs that is forecast for this winter, we worked to secure an additional $1 billion in emergency funding for LIHEAP in the recently enacted short-term CR. It is critical that this funding, as well as the significant base funding available under the CR, is distributed as quickly as possible so it reaches these households in time for the winter heating season,” the Senators wrote.

In 2021, 196,394 Wisconsin households received heating bill assistance through LIHEAP. Nationwide, an estimated 5 million households received assistance with heating and cooling costs through LIHEAP in 2021. LIHEAP is administered by states and accessed through local Community Action Agencies. Eligibility for LIHEAP is based on income, family size, and the availability of resources.

Senior citizens and those receiving Social Security Disability or SSI benefits are encouraged to apply as early as possible, but applications will be open to everyone through spring of 2023 — or until the funding is exhausted.

He bought the trading post and was in business in the early 1870's. Johnson moved on to another trading post south of Pickerel where a wayside exists today.

These were the days when the Military Road, now mostly Hwy 55, had been built starting in the Civil War. It mostly followed the Superior Trail, and old Indian trade route. The road went up through Hiles, and turned by Virgin Lake. The road continued up to Lac Vieu Dessert, on into the U.P. and ended at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula at Fort Wilkins. Before Dinesen's time in Mole Lake, men carried the mail in backpacks up to the fort. The one-story part of the Dinesen house in Mole Lake was a rest stop for the mail carriers and cabins like this were built along the route by the postal service.

Wilhelm stayed in Mole Lake until he received a letter saying his mother was sick, returned to Denmark and never returned. He later had a daughter named Karen, known mostly by her married name of Karen Blixen. She was a great writer, and if you have enjoyed the book or the movie Out of Africa, you have enjoyed her work.

Wilhelm's journal was a series he published in a Danish newspaper many years after he returned to Denmark. A professor from Nebraska changed his writing from Danish to English. A professor from U.W. Madison had a copy and became interested in the story. He made several trips to Mole Lake, and then gave the translation to the Pioneer.

When we published the journal, it was seen by Benedicte Riis, a Danish lady who was running a business in Racine. She contacted us, paid us a visit, and has been visiting us every since, along with the residents of Mole Lake. Benedicte always brought along interested Danish people. She has stayed at our house, and spent a month in our hunting shack, while she was working on a book about Wilhelm. She is back in the area now, with a new group of Danish people, including Wilhelm's great-great niece. They visited our office, we had a great visit, and we photographed our interesting guests. The Wilhelm Dinesen story just never ends!

It has always been a career goal of mine to someday become the Sheriff of Forest County. I attended Nicolet College, joining their Police Science program but before my second year, I took a break in my education to pursue a full-time job. During this time, I married my now wife Barbie "Kulaf" Marvin and after being married a few years had our first child, Trevor.

In 1997 the Sheriff's Department was hiring jail staff in preparation for opening the new jail and Sheriff's Department. Since law enforcement was always my goal, I applied and was hired by Sheriff Roger Wilson.

While working night shift in the jail, I continued my education during the day at Nicolet College. In 2000, I earned my associates degree in police science. I immediately went to Recruit Academy and started working part time for the City of Crandon Police Department while still being employed full time for Forest County Sheriff's Department.

Wanting to be full time patrol officer I applied with the State Patrol. The two local State Patrol officers were retiring and figured I may get this area. I went through the entire hiring process and had a tentative letter of employment. At the time my wife was pregnant with our second child Tanner. I had no desire to raise my children anywhere else. This community is where I was raised and where my family was located.

After applying for State patrol, Sheriff Wilson informed me there were two positions for road officers opening and asked if I would rather work for Forest County. I applied and was offered a Forest County Deputy position.

With the two job opportunities in hand, there wasn't a chance I was passing up the job with the Sheriff's Department. I always wanted to serve the residents of Forest County. So, I accepted the offer and began my career as an officer.

Starting out I was assigned to the Crandon School District as the liaison officer. I did this for a school year and then requested to go to patrol officer. I attended D.A.R.E. instructor training and continued to teach D.A.R.E. in the Laona and Wabeno Schools for many years.

I went to night shift and my primary patrol area was Stone Lake, Laona, Wabeno, Blackwell, Freedom and Carter. Shortly after being on patrol, I was promoted to Sgt. night shift supervisor. I kept the night shift Sgt. position for many years and then transitioned to working days. While working day, I had my third child Tabitha.

I was promoted to Captain and lead detective by Sheriff John Dennee. I have held this position since. I attended as many training opportunities as I could to further and expand my knowledge. The list of trainings I attended is very long, but here are a few of the highlights:

- Reed, Interview, and Interrogation
- Evidence Technician
- Nordeg-counter drug task force training
- DEA-Drug Investigator Training
- Department of Criminal investigation Death investigator
- FBI S.W.A.T.
- Homicide, Suicide and Suspicious Death

The majority of my education and training has been related to law enforcement. This was done to make me a better officer and leader. I have dedicated over 25 years of my adult career to public service and serving this community. My number one goal is to serve the public, to provide and foster a safe community for all to live in, work in, and visit. I am always open to talking and listening to people in the community, as well as addressing their concerns, so I encourage you to come talk to me when you see me around.

I am truly overwhelmed by the support I have been getting and I thank everyone for it. Your vote in November would be much appreciated.

DEATH NOTICES

Dale R. Statz, 62, of rural Harshaw, passed away on October 12, 2022, with his loving family by his side after a tenacious battle with cancer.

Dale was born on September 10, 1960, to Edward and Donna (Hanson) Statz in Madison, Wisconsin. After graduation from Middleton High School, Dale earned a second team all-conference honor in football at UW La Crosse. Dale continued to live and work in the Cross Plains, Madison area.

After meeting the love of his life Pam, they bought and created their dream home in the Northwoods of Wisconsin. Their profound love for one another was second to none. Dale found the most joy spending time with Pam and their families and friends. Those who knew him could attest to his ever-present sense of humor. Dale always was a caregiver and put the needs of Pam and others before his own.

Dale was a great outdoorsman. He was always eager for the next hike, kayak trip or just relaxing and watching the birds and other wildlife around his home. He was always putting his handyman skills to use while listening to his pre-1990's music. Let's not forget his love of old silent movies.

In addition to his fiancé, Pam, Dale is survived by his cherished son, Dylan; mother, Donna; his brothers, Gary (Nancy) and John; sister, Robin; niece and nephews; his step-children, Chad, Keith and Ashley (Dan); his grandchildren, Colton, Trey, Oliver, and Faith; the Albin Chitko family; and many good friends, with a special shout out to his hunting and card playing buddies. He will be greatly missed.

He is preceded in death by his father, Edward; sister, Cheryl; and brother-in-law, Jack.

A celebration of Dale's life will be held at a later date.

Arrangements have been entrusted to the Hildebrand Funeral Home & Cremation Specialists, 24 E. Davenport Street, Rhinelander, Wisconsin, 54501, 715-365-4343. Everyone is invited to sign the guestbook or leave an online condolence at www.hildebrandrussfh.com.

William (Billie) Duff, Jr., 94, passed away peacefully on September 18, 2022, after a short stay at The Bay at Nu-Roc in Laona.

A gathering of family and friends will take place on Saturday, November 5, 2022, from 11 a.m.-12 noon at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Crandon. A memorial service will follow at noon.

Online condolences for the family may be left for the family at www.weberhillfuneralhome.com.

carpenter, mason, and leaf-cutter bees nest in hollow stems. Many butterflies pupate and spend the winter on these plants as well.

Many perennials such as coneflowers, sedums, black-eyed Susan, Joe-Pye weed, and marigolds can be an important food source for seed eating birds, like finches, during the winter. Allow their seed heads to ripen until they turn brown and split open.

On the other hand, there are some plants that should be cut back to avoid issues. Of course, remove any diseased plants at once. This removes overwintering fungi and insects that can attack plants in the spring.

2. Clear Away Old Crops

It's important to clear away diseased plants and any dead or rotting plant material. Pest insects, like squash bugs, and diseases will overwinter, which serves as a haven for diseases, bridging the gap between this year's crops and the next. Cover the ground with an organic mulch to protect it from winter weather or plant a cover crop.

Pollinators need year-round habitat, not only flowers. Managing them in the fall is how you prevent weed problems in the spring!

3. Use Leaves Wisely

We rake, mow, and leaf blow away every leaf and bit of nature. But fallen leaves provide invaluable habitats for overwintering pollinators.

Butterflies will overwinter in a chrysalis hanging from a dead plant, native bees will "hibernate" in the hollow stem of a bee balm plant, birds will flit around spent sunflowers, and caterpillars will roll into the seedpod of a milkweed plant. Frogs and other wildlife also need fall leaves for insulation the way we need a winter coat. If you can, leave a few out-of-the-way leaf piles, perhaps in the corner of your yard or under shrubs. Leave the leaves whole; do not shred. Leaves in your lawn can be mowed over and mulched into your turf. This will help return nutrients back into the soil and build organic matter.

4. Compost Leaves (If You Aren't Already)

Speaking of dead leaves, fall is the best time to start a compost pile. Why? You're cutting down dead foliage, weeding, and shredding leaves, which all combine to make free, nutrient-rich fertilizer for the spring. For faster composting, layer your "brown" leaves with "green" materials in order to mix both high-carbon and high nitrogen materials. Keep the pile slightly moist and turn it occasionally to aerate and mix the material.

5. Leave Grass Long

Just as we leave some perennials longer, you're best leaving grass to grow a little longer over the winter.

Soil-enriching caterpillars and other bugs bury right down into the thatch; a close-cropped lawn doesn't do them any favors. For this reason, set your mower blades high for the final cut of the season. Also, if you mow your lawn, use a shredding mower, as it's healthier to return that leaf litter to the soil.

6. Plant Wildlife-Friendly Shrubs

Fall is a good time to plant new wildlife-friendly hedges. Include berry-producing species like hawthorn or shrubs like pussy willow that will support butterflies.

7. Plant Bulbs for Pollinators

Autumn is also the ideal time to plant spring flowering bulbs to provide early nectar for pollinators like bees. Daffodils, crocuses, grape hyacinths and the stunning snake's-head fritillary are a few good choices. Plant by late October into early November. Bulbs are best planted in groups or beds of the same color, but you can also scatter bulbs across your perennial beds for pops of color in early spring. If deer are a problem in your area, avoid tulips. Stick to daffodils and allium and crocus.

New member of Wabeno 4th grade class

This school year, Mrs. Better's fourth grade class "adopted a cow". No, it will not be living in the Wabeno Elementary School. Rebel is a heifer (female) calf from Orthridge Jerseys in Lancaster, WI.

Our class will receive photos, video updates, and activity sheets throughout the school year that allow us to watch our calf grow. Through learning activities, students will gain a deeper understanding of the dairy industry and where our food comes from.

Hunters-Help control invasive species

MADISON, Wis. – The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is asking hunters to help slow the spread of invasive species while out in the field this hunting season.

Hunters are encouraged to check for unwanted hitchhikers on clothing and equipment. Seeds from invasive plants like garlic mustard, tansy and spotted knapweed can travel far distances in the mud on vehicles, trailers, ATVs, shoes and clothing.

Once introduced, these invasives establish quickly, outcompeting native plants and damaging valuable wildlife habitat.

Hunters can play an important part in slowing the spread of invasive plants by cleaning equipment before and after heading out to their favorite hunting spot this fall. Here are some ways to help:

- Learn to recognize invasive species.
- Be aware of seeds that stick to clothing and shoes.
- Inspect and clean hair, clothing, shoes, gear and pets before and after recreating.
- Clean equipment before and after use.
- Properly dispose of soil, seeds or plant parts from cleaning.
- Stay on designated trails, roads and other developed areas.
- Avoid areas that are infested with invasive species; "When in doubt, stay out!"
- Educate others how to limit the spread of invasive species.
- Volunteer to help control invasive species.

Hunters who may have found an invasive species while out recreating on public or private land can report the location, description and photo of the invasive species to Invasive.Species@wisconsin.gov.

Learn more about invasive species and how to limit the likelihood of moving them around on the Invasive Species Best Management Practices webpage.

Story Time at Lakes Country Public Library

Dressed like a lumberjack, Kathleen Marsh shared Northern Oconto County's logging heritage as a Story Time guest reader on October 10 at Lakes Country Public Library children's area.

Holt & Balcom Logging Camp Museum Director Kathleen Marsh made her debut as Guest Reader during Story Time at Lakes Country Public Library on October 10. Her appearance was part of the Library's special tribute to Northwoods logging heritage, planned after an announcement by Wisconsin Senator Tammy Baldwin that she and Maine Senator Susan Collins had introduced a bipartisan resolution recognizing October 12, 2022, as National Loggers Day.

Before reading Why Would Anyone Cut a Tree Down?, a beautifully-illustrated children's book published by the U.S. Forest Service, Marsh reiterated the sentiment expressed in the Baldwin-Collins resolution. "Wisconsin's logging economy provides good-paying jobs and critical revenue for rural communities like ours," she said. "Logging is second only to tourism in economic importance to the area Lakewood Library serves."

Library Board member Linda McKenna concurred. "We wanted to highlight the many contributions and economic benefits of our local logging industry which gets too little recognition, so we decided to team up with Holt & Balcom to celebrate this long overdue federal commitment to the loggers who work so hard to advance what has been a cultural tradition here in Northern Oconto County for 150 years."

Wabeno Student of the Month

Kierra O'Keefe, 12th grader at Wabeno High School, was nominated by 3 teachers for Student of the Month in September for Responsibility. "Kierra is a leader, a mentor, a manager, and often reminds me of things I should have remembered. I could give her any responsibility and she would make it happen. She is self-motivated, delightfully snarky but friendly and compassionate, and always the first to volunteer to help during and after school. She has been instrumental in the success of the drama department productions, both as a performer, a stage manager, and as a scenic artist. She would like to study culinary arts at the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, NY. I certainly hope she gets accepted and makes her way into the professional culinary world. She is invaluable to me and to her peers." Congratulations, Kierra, for being responsible!
