The cost is $10 per person or $15 per couple/family. Contact the Wisconsin Tree Farm Committee for reservations at E-mail: or Phone: 414-627-1458

This young buck is in the velvet stage of antler development. Come fall, he will be a legal buck to harvest, but with luck, he will live long enough to be a trophy with a big, rocking chair rack.

Birding, Rock Hounding, Trains & More at Wabeno Public Library

Come explore the significant special collections at the Wabeno Library this summer. Through September, the library is featuring bird life books, train books, and books related to the natural history of Wisconsin. "For a small library, we have developed an impressive number of books with a focus on nature and history here," the director Carol Lee Hughes commented.

"We have a beautiful copy of Audobon's work, that is now non-circulating but available for reading and research in the library, as well as many books that are available for checking out." If you enjoy hiking and walking, learn more about what you find with books about rocks, fossils, and agates, especially books that feature the geology and mineralogy of Wisconsin at the Wabeno Library.

Are you a train buff? The library has several excellent books on North American railroads and their history, and is seeking fans of railroading to help the library plan a small model train exhibit that could be featured in the library during the Christmas season. Hughes points out: "Though the library does not have much space, the window sills and fireplace mantel are perfect for seasonal displays, and this holiday season we would love to have some model train displays in the library. Perhaps, we can even start a model train club, that would be able to plan a larger display for the community in a public space over the holidays."

Author Warren Gerds to appear at Holt and Balcom Logging Camp Museum

Author and WFRV-TV Critic at Large Warren Gerds will make a personal appearance from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 10, at the Holt & Balcom Logging Camp Museum off County Highway F in Lakewood. This free event includes a presentation at 1:00 p.m. with readings from Gerds' historical novel, "The Legend of Taylor Rapids," and a display of real-life items related to its story.

The book, written in the form of a journal, features vivid, comical and touching characters who take readers to the era of logging, railroads and homesteading in Northern Wisconsin. The setting is real, but the characters are fictional as they depict life in the wild northwoods in 1914-1915.

Gerds' previous books are collections of biographical stories: "Tales of a Newspaperman: Ice Bowl and Lombardi Through Time" and "My Father Lives in the Drawer." He recently released "Real, Honest Sailing," a 339-page non-fiction book told through the experiences of a present-day a Great Lakes captain.

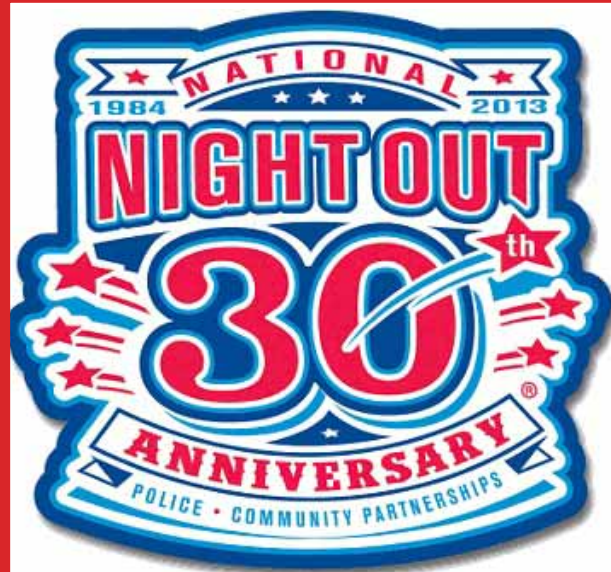

Gerds writes a daily article for the WFRV website that may be found at www.wearegreenbay.com, (Click on Entertainment). He makes weekly live appearances on Green Bay's WFRV, Channel 5, at 6:45 p.m. each Thursday and often creates a segment that is broadcast between 7 and 8 a.m. on Sundays.

Gerds was born in West Allis, grew up in Milwaukee, and has lived in Green Bay since graduating from UWM with a degree in journalism. He wrote for the Green Bay Press-Gazette for 45 years and was critic at large for 35 years covering theater, the arts, media, architecture and creative people among other topics. He was voted Best of the Bay as best Press-Gazette reporter in both 2010 and 2012.

Wisconsin Public Service to improve electric reliability in northern Wisconsin

The company plans to place more than 1,000 miles of overhead distribution line underground in heavily forested areas where electric reliability is a challenge.

Green Bay, WI - Wisconsin Public Service Corporation (WPS), a subsidiary of Integrys Energy Group, Inc. (NYSE: TEG), today received approval from the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin for a 5-year, $220 million System Modernization and Reliability Project (SMRP) to convert more than 1,000 miles of overhead electric distribution lines to underground. WPS will also install distribution automation equipment on an additional 400 miles of line.

WPS successfully completed a small pilot reliability improvement project in 2012 and used data collected there in developing the larger project. SMRP construction will begin in 2014. The company has already identified the electric line segments it will work on in 2014 and 2015. That information is available at: the company's website.

While WPS electric reliability is typically very good, overhead lines in the heavily-forested rural areas in northern Wisconsin are more susceptible to weather-related events. WPS has heard high levels of concern about the number and duration of outages from customers in these areas. Overhead line segments were selected for the project where the conversion to underground can be done at reasonable cost.

"In the affected areas, electric reliability is significantly lower than state and national averages. The areas we will target are those in which customers are repeatedly faced with the loss of power due to storms - sometimes for several days," said WPS Vice President of Energy Delivery Vern Peterson. "When SMRP is complete, these customers will see a level of reliability closer to levels that customers in the rest of the company's service territory already experience."

WPS conducted an analysis of its larger electric distribution lines throughout its service area in determining the project scope. The company weighed the costs and benefits of upgrading its lower performing lines and determined a price point at which the upgrades make financial sense and will result in the greatest reliability improvement for customers.

The SMRP rate impact could amount to less than $5 per month for a typical residential customer by the project's end. WPS will contact the residents along the construction route to inform them when the company begins working in their area.

Continental waterfowl surveys show healthy duck populations

MADISON – With high continental total duck and wetland numbers, state waterfowl biologists expect a 60-day duck season similar to recent years but with the possibility of bag limit changes for certain species.

This information comes after the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service released continental duck numbers in the Trends in Duck Breeding Populations report on July 12.

"This continental survey information is an essential piece in determining Wisconsin's waterfowl season frameworks," said Kent Van Horn, migratory game bird ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources. "The information we are seeing is promising for the upcoming season."

The 2013 North American total duck population estimate was 45.6 million, which is the second highest on record and 33 percent above the long-term average. The 2012 estimate was the highest estimate on record and 6 percent above 2013.

Wetland numbers across the survey area were up from last year and 35 percent above the long-term average.

Mallard numbers were estimated at 10.4 million, similar to last year and 36 percent above the long-term average. Most other species estimates were above or at the long-term average.

"With high mallard numbers and good wetland conditions, we are confident there will be a 60-day duck season," said Van Horn. "However, hunters should be aware of potential bag limit changes for canvasback and scaup."

"While canvasback and scaup make up a relatively small percentage of the overall Wisconsin harvest, these species are important to many duck hunters," said Van Horn. "We may see changes to their daily bag limits in 2013."

Breeding canvasbacks were estimated at 787,000, similar to 2012 counts and 37 percent above the long-term average. This may allow for an increase to a two canvasback daily bag.

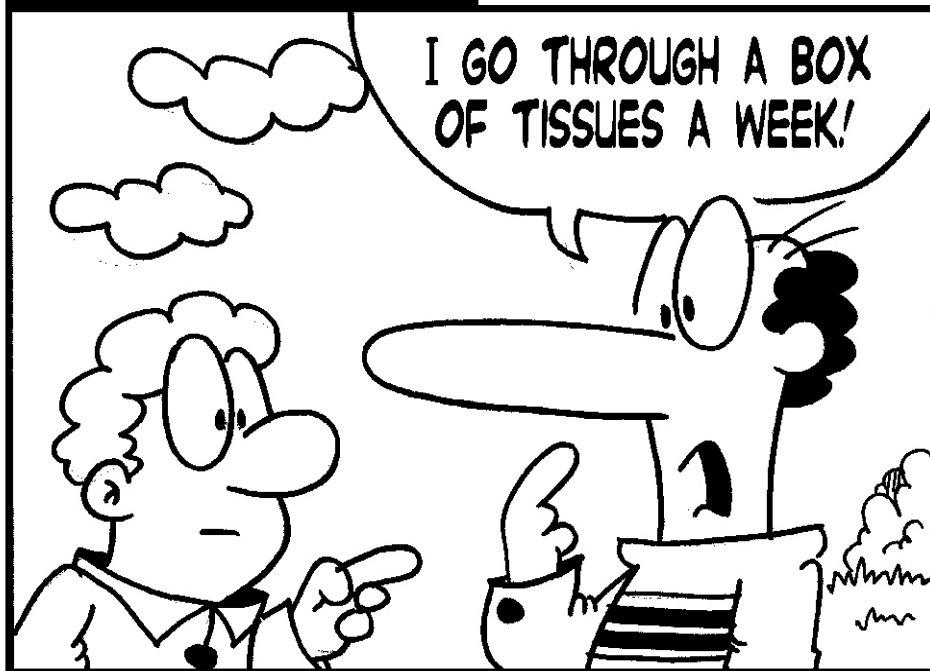

Scaup estimates were at 4.2 million, which was 20 percent below 2012 and 17 percent below the long-term average. This is similar to most recent years. The scaup harvest strategy is expected to call for a return to a two bird daily bag limit from last year's four bird bag.

The Canada geese that breed in northern Ontario, and known as the Mississippi Valley Population, make up about 60 percent of Wisconsin's regular season goose harvest. These geese had a late start to the breeding season, but surveys indicated good production and low nest predation. Breeding estimates for 2013 were at 319,693. This is up 16 percent from last year but 10 percent below the long-term average after several prior years with lower recruitment.

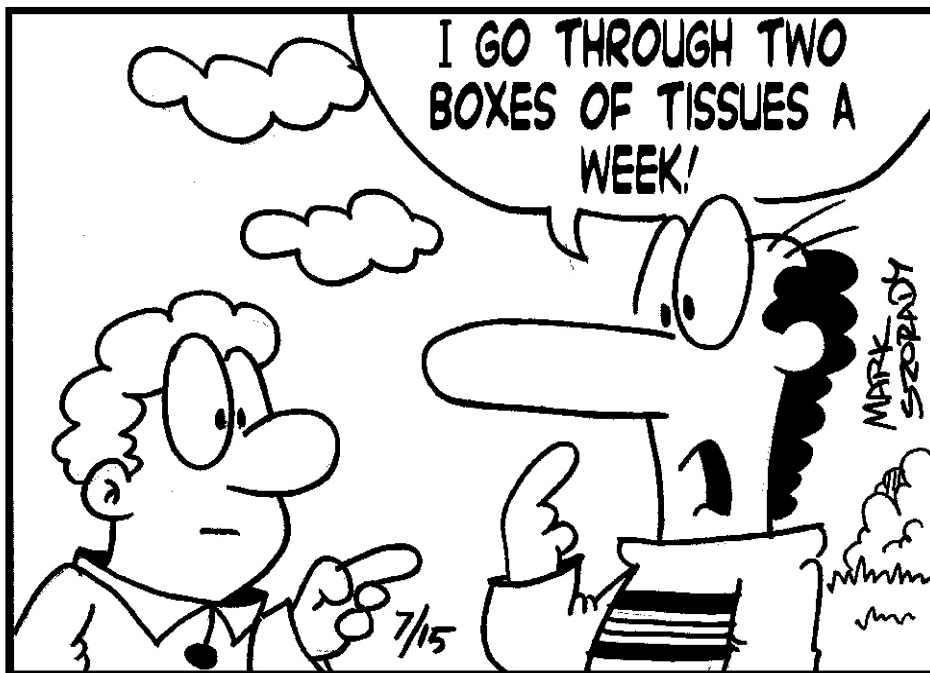

Wisconsin DNR staff are currently in discussions at the Mississippi Flyway Council meeting and will have more information in time for the early August public waterfowl meetings and hearings. For more information on waterfowl hunting, search the DNR website for "waterfowl."

Senior Chatter

Submitted by Kate Schultz

Don't be "Myth"-Led
What you don't know CAN hurt you...

Myth 1: If it tastes O.K., it's safe to eat.
Fact 1: Don't count on your sense of smell, taste and sight to tell if a food is safe. Each year in the United States, 76 million people become ill from a foodborne illness and 5,000 people die. Would this many people eat something if they thought it tasted, looked or smelled bad? As few as 10 bacteria could cause some foodborne illnesses, such as E. coli!

Myth 2: If you get sick from eating a food, it was from the last food you ate.
Fact 2: It can take ½ hour to 6 weeks to become sick from unsafe foods. You usually feel OK immediately after eating and become sick later.

Myth 3: The worst that could happen to you with a foodborne illness is an upset stomach.
Fact 3: You also can experience the following from a foodborne illness: vomiting, fever, diarrhea, dehydration. Less common, but possible severe conditions include: Meningitis, paralysis and death.

Myth 4: If I've never been sick from the food I prepare, I don't need to worry about feeding it to others.
Fact 4: Some people have a greater risk for foodborne illnesses. A food you can safely eat might make others sick. People with a higher risk for foodborne illness include: Infants, pregnant women, young children and older adults and people with weakened immune systems and individuals with certain chronic diseases.

Myth 5: People never used to get sick from their food.
Fact 5: Many incidents of foodborne illness went undetected in the past. Symptoms of nausea, vomiting and diarrhea were often and still are blamed on the "flu".

Myth 6: If a hamburger is brown in the middle, it is cooked to a safe internal temperature.
Fact 6: 1 out of 4 hamburgers turns brown before it has been cooked to a safe internal temperature. Research shows some ground beef patties look done at internal temperatures as low as 135°F. When measuring the temperature of a thin food, such as a hamburger patty, pork chop, or chicken breast, an "instant-read" digital thermometer should be used, if possible. If using an "instant-read" dial thermometer, the probe must be inserted in the side of the food so the entire sensing area (usually 2-3 inches) is positioned through the center of the food.

Myth 7: We should be scared of eating almost everything!
Fact 7: The American food supply continues to be among the safest in the world.
Remember: When in doubt...TOSS IT OUT!!!

Letters to the Editor

We welcome letter to the Editor; however the letters should be legible, in good taste, not libelous, and pertinent to current issues. Names will not be withheld upon request, except for very special circumstances. NAME AND PHONE NUMBER SHOULD BE INCLUDED FOR VERIFICATION PURPOSES. We reserve the right to reject any and all letters.

Dear Editor,

I am again writing to you about the July 3rd meeting at city hall. Several veterans and I attended to see about our lease for the Northwoods Veteran Center Memorial being renewed. We have leased it for the last ten years and took very good care of the building etc.

At the meeting, the Public Property Committee voted to renew the lease for another five years for $70 a year. The mayor spoke up and said he would veto it if it passed. He said only in one year as he could find a buyer for the building and he would sell it. Well---the buyer that wants so badly for the Vets Museum to be put out was sitting right in the room. So, that certainly is as clear as it can get that the Vets Museum with all contents of wars etc. will no longer be. The Mayor did veto it.

Many people from out of town and out of state have viewed the museum and are very interested in all that is displayed there and say its an honor to recall what the wars' all about.

Mrs. Elmyra Hobbs had written a letter to the city in 2002 when we had asked the city for a lease. She stated that she believed the city should give the old library building to the vets. She had invested a large amount of money in getting the New Library for the City and said the Vets should be able to have a place for their memories too.

This Vets Museum is good for the city and we have done many good things for the city to be proud of. Our vet's group (Northwoods) put the park up on Hwy 8 coming into Crandon, across from the Best Western Motel and have been keeping it looking great for all visitors coming in.

Also, our group (Northwoods Vets) bought and put up the large flags on the courthouse square. The first time we asked for donations for the flags and received lots of help. Now we had to get all new flags again this year and we worked to get them up for the City of Crandon to be a beautiful place.

While speaking of the flags I want to let you know that on Tuesday July 9th, I was at the Vet's Museum when the Crandon Policeman came in and told me they found eight of our new flags on the ground at the beach. I drove over to the police garage and he loaded them in for me. I took them back to the center and my son cleaned them up. No one seems to know who did this, whoever you are---you should be ashamed, you don't have any respect for the flag and our county and for our veterans. Four of the flags are still missing.

In closing, I'm again asking for the people to let the council members know that we would very much like to have the lease for five years. Thanks to the Public Property Committee for granting it at the meeting before the Mayor Vetoed it. If the majority of votes for it will override the Veto.

Thank You and God Bless
A Gold Star Mother & Treasurer of the Northwoods Veteran's Memorial Center

The department has maintained the 10-to-1 license-to-quota ratio for the 2013 season. The season quota is set at 275, though the amount of wolves harvestable by state trappers and hunters may be adjusted dependent on state response to tribal declarations. One half of available permits will be issued randomly among all permit applications and the second half will be issued through a cumulative preference point drawing. Successful applicants will be notified by letter, likely in mid to late August. Applicants who are not successful in the drawing will be awarded a preference point toward future drawings.

The 2013 wolf season starts Oct. 15 and will run in each of six zones until the zone is closed by the DNR or the last day of February, whichever occurs first.

For more information and season regulations, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "wolf."

Such displays welcome visitors and regulars alike, and encourage the public to explore these topics by reading more. In keeping with the local history of steam vehicles, the library also added an excellent work on the history of steam tractors, that has been borrowed by members of the Antique Power Association locally, and is available for the public.

How about model rockets? The library is seeking adults who would be interested in mentoring kids in the winter to build model rockets that we can be launched in the spring. An avid rocket enthusiast herself, the director points out: "Rocketry is for everybody, young and old, girls and boys. We get the magazine of the National Association of Rocketry, and it is available for checking out. We know the schools feature rocketry in one year of the curriculum, so we certainly must have folks in the community who would like to continue this sport and recreation. Following the guidelines of the National Rocketry Association, we can plan a safe, fun activity that can last throughout the year but we need at least one other adult supervisor."

For more information, and to offer suggestions and volunteer time, contact the Wabeno Public Library at 715-473-4131.

NOTICE - HYDRANT FLUSHING

AUGUST 5TH & 6TH, 2013

We will be flushing the fire hydrants August 5th & 6th, 2013. You may wish to draw water prior to our flushing dates and refrigerate it for drinking purposes.

During the flushing period your tap water can become discolored. Should you experience discoloration, please flush your water tap until the water runs clear. Hydrant flushing improves water quality.

Should you be interested, we invite you to observe the change in the initial, intermediate and final water quality from the hydrant during flushing. Hydrant flushing can increase water pressure, remove discolored water from the system and increase fire-fighting ability in various parts of our system. This exercise flushes pockets of stagnated water out of the water supply system and improves water quality not only in color, odor and taste but can also remove harmful constituents before they are able to develop. Thank you in advance for your patience during this time period. Should you have any concerns, we ask that you feel free to contact our office at 473-2905.

Nicolet's new, flexible evening classes

Designed for busy people seeking a college degree

This fall Nicolet College is launching a series of highly flexible evening courses that give busy individuals the chance to earn college credits by attending class only one night a week.

"These courses are designed specifically for people who want to earn a college credential but are unable to attend classes during the day," said Rose Prunty, dean of the University Transfer Liberal Arts program at Nicolet.

"Many students work during the day or have other obligations. These courses are perfect for these individuals."

Along with attending class one night per week, the courses feature a flexible online component, giving students the opportunity to complete the remaining coursework at a time that fits best in their schedule, Prunty explained.

Class sessions will be held over an interactive television network on both the Nicolet Campus just south of Rhinelander and at Nicolet's Lakeland Center in Minocqua.

One class session will start at 5:30 p.m. and another at 7:15 p.m. or 7:35 p.m. Each class is three credits.

"This will give students the opportunity to earn six college credits by attending class one night per week and 12 credits if they wanted to attend two nights per week," Prunty said.

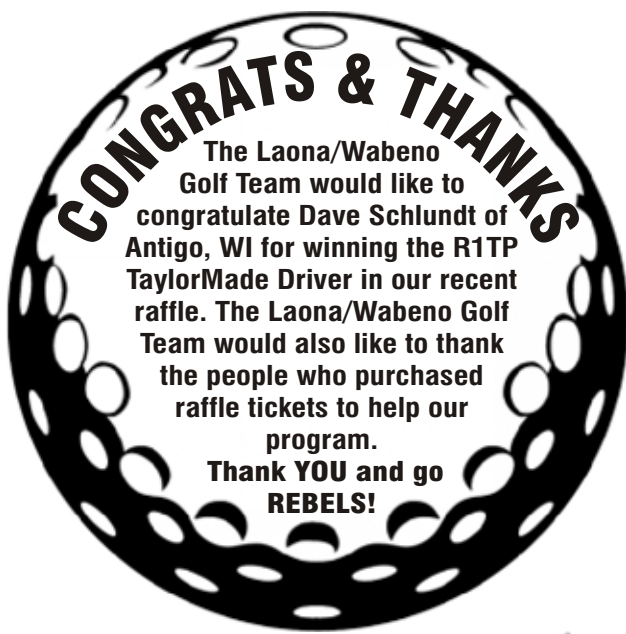

The courses will include General Education classes, which are required for many of Nicolet's degrees, diplomas and certificates, and classes in the college's University Transfer Liberal Arts program, where students complete the first two years of a bachelor's degree.

Courses include Written Communication, Contemporary American Society, History, Environmental Science, Psychology, Art Appreciation, English Composition, Math with Business Application, and Oral/Interpersonal Communication.

Fall Semester starts Monday, August 26.

For more information, visit nicoletcollege.edu or call the college at (715) 365-4451, 1-800-544-3039, ext. 4451; TDD (715) 365-4448.

Continental waterfowl surveys show healthy duck populations

MADISON – With high continental total duck and wetland numbers, state waterfowl biologists expect a 60-day duck season similar to recent years but with the possibility of bag limit changes for certain species.

This information comes after the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service released continental duck numbers in the Trends in Duck Breeding Populations report [PDF] [exit DNR] on July 12.

"This continental survey information is an essential piece in determining Wisconsin's waterfowl season frameworks," said Kent Van Horn, migratory game bird ecologist for the Department of Natural Resources. "The information we are seeing is promising for the upcoming season."

The 2013 North American total duck population estimate was 45.6 million, which is the second highest on record and 33 percent above the long-term average. The 2012 estimate was the highest estimate on record and 6 percent above 2013.

Wetland numbers across the survey area were up from last year and 35 percent above the long-term average.

Mallard numbers were estimated at 10.4 million, similar to last year and 36 percent above the long-term average. Most other species estimates were above or at the long-term average.

"With high mallard numbers and good wetland conditions, we are confident there will be a 60-day duck season," said Van Horn. "However, hunters should be aware of potential bag limit changes for canvasback and scaup."

"While canvasback and scaup make up a relatively small percentage of the overall Wisconsin harvest, these species are important to many duck hunters," said Van Horn. "We may see changes to their daily bag limits in 2013."

Breeding canvasbacks were estimated at 787,000, similar to 2012 counts and 37 percent above the long-term average. This may allow for an increase to a two canvasback daily bag.

Scaup estimates were at 4.2 million, which was 20 percent below 2012 and 17 percent below the long-term average. This is similar to most recent years. The scaup harvest strategy is expected to call for a return to a two bird daily bag limit from last year's four bird bag.

Ontario, and known as the Mississippi Valley Population, make up about 60 percent of Wisconsin's regular season goose harvest. These geese had a late start to the breeding season, but surveys indicated good production and low nest predation. Breeding estimates for 2013 were at 319,693. This is up 16 percent from last year but 10 percent below the long-term average after several prior years with lower recruitment.

Wisconsin DNR staff are currently in discussions at the Mississippi Flyway Council meeting and will have more information in time for the early August public waterfowl meetings and hearings [PDF]. For more information on waterfowl hunting, search the DNR website for "waterfowl."

New Wisconsin Rustic Road in Oconto County

Governor Scott Walker has announced the designation of Wisconsin Rustic Road 113 (R-113) in northern Oconto County. Otherwise known as Old 32 Road, it begins in the town of Mountain near County W, passes through the town of Riverview, and ends in the town of Lakewood at County F.

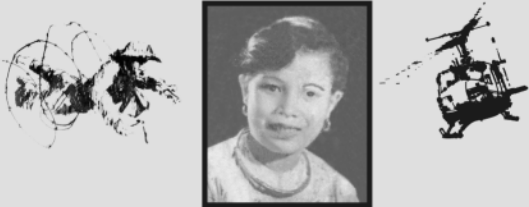

Old 32 Road spans 9.4 miles through the Chequamegon/Nicolet National Forest, where beautiful wooded vistas teem with wildlife and birds. A complementary feature is the Mountain Fire Tower. It was built in 1934 and is the only fire tower still standing in the area. R-113 also provides access to the Nicolet State Trail, cross country ski trails and ATV routes, along with campsites.

Wisconsin's Rustic Roads program was started 40 years ago. It was created in 1973 to preserve scenic, lightly-traveled country roads for the leisurely enjoyment of bikers, hikers and motorists. Rustic Roads range from under two miles to 37 miles in length and have a maximum speed limit of 45 miles per hour. Unique brown and yellow signs mark the routes of all officially designated Rustic Roads. The Wisconsin Department of Transportation oversees the Rustic Roads program; however, the roads remain under local government jurisdiction.

With the addition of Rustic Road 113, the state's system now includes nearly 650 miles of Rustic Roads through 58 Wisconsin counties. For more information on the state's Rustic Roads program, including details on obtaining a free Rustic Roads travel guide, visit www.dot.wisconsin.gov/travel/scenic/rusticroads.htm.

Friends of the Lakes Country Library

The Friends of the Lakes Country Public Library held it's annual meeting at the library on June 27, 2013.

The "Friends" is a non-profit organization of volunteers united in their effort to support and expand public library services in the Lakes Country area. We provide volunteer services to the library as needed, sponsor fund raising events, provide monies for special needs of the library, such as a summer intern, landscaping needs, and purchase of necessary equipment. We also publish a "Friends" newsletter, encourage support in and use of the library, encourage gifts, endowments and memorials to the library. We feel the library in Lakewood is a true gem to the north woods and desire to make sure that it can continue to provide valuable services to our community.

The Labor Day book sale will be August 30 - 31. We will donate remaining paperbacks to correctional facilities at Manitowoc and Appleton.

About one-third of our booths are reserved for our November 30, 2013 Craft Sale. Dave Herron-Steeger, 715-254-6127 may be contacted for booth reservations.

We will sponsor the "Brat Shack" at Super Value on Friday, August 23.

Our long-time librarian, Pam Ellingson will be retiring and she will be honored at a reception at the library on Friday, July 26 from 3-5 p.m. She will be missed! The new librarian is Nicole Lowery of Lakewood and we welcome her.

Re-elected to Vice President was Barbara Hill. Also re-elected as Treasurer was Sandy VanThiel. We thank these ladies for their work for the "Friends."

If you are interested in helping keep and improve our treasured public library, please stop in at the library or call 715-276-7376.

TAKE IT EASY LIFE IS SHORT

The right documents will save you from a return trip to the DMV

If you've ever undergone a name change and want a federally-compliant driver license or ID card from the Division of Motor Vehicles, be sure to bring along the proper documentation. One option is a valid U.S. passport listing your current name. Other acceptable documents include certified marriage certificates, records of divorce or court orders. "People coming in to get a federally-compliant driver license or ID card need to bring in a number of documents that prove U.S. citizenship, identity, Wisconsin residency, name and date of birth. If you've legally changed your name, we need proof of that as well," notes Bureau of Field Services Director Kristina Boardman. "We're seeing that there is still some confusion regarding what to bring if your name has changed."

If your name has legally changed, and you:

- * Have a valid, unexpired U.S. Passport in your current name, you will not need to bring in additional documentation regarding past name changes.
- * Don't have a valid, unexpired U.S. Passport in your current name, you will need to provide documents to support each change of your name from birth to the present date.
- * Marriage certificate (original, certified copy if original is not available)
- * Certified record of divorce
- * Certified court order

Currently, about one-third of DMV customers are choosing the federally-compliant products that, once federal rules take effect as expected in the future, can be used for boarding commercial aircraft or entering federal courthouses. Keep in mind that after visiting the DMV, it will take about a week to receive your actual driver license or ID card. It will arrive in your mail. More information can be found on the official DMV website (www.wisconsin.dmv.gov).

Wisconsin Statewide Point-in-Time Count 2013 Homeless Count in Forest, Langlade, Oneida and Vilas Counties

On Wednesday, July 31, 2013 the Northern Wisconsin Initiative to Stop Homelessness (N*WISH) Continuum of Care will be joining homeless coalitions (or Continuums) around the state in completing a local count of individuals and families experiencing homelessness. Staff and volunteers will count persons in shelters for the night as well as persons residing on the streets, under bridges, or similar places not met for human habitation. The collected data will assist the community in understanding the scope and size of local homelessness; engage in programs and service development, and to apply for state and federal funding.

The Northern Wisconsin Initiative to Stop Homelessness (N*WISH) Continuum of Care was established in November of 2009. This collaborative system exists to increase awareness and acts to promote and support the eradication of homelessness in Forest, Langlade, Oneida and Vilas Counties. N*WISH is comprised of various state government & public housing agencies; non-profit & faith-based organizations as well as funding & advocacy groups. The Point-in-Time Count will start with a kick-off event at St. Augustine's Episcopal Church partnering with The Table, a dinner offered the last two days of the month that is open to the community at the church. Members of the N*WISH CoC will have an outreach and education booth at The Table to provide resource and information about homelessness that evening.

Red Arrow Snowmobile ATV Club has very busy summer

A very busy summer for Red Arrow Snowmobile ATV Club started on Saturday June 29th with a "Family Fun Day" at Birch Hills Resort in Townsend. The day began with a club meeting and group ATV/UTV ride followed by a fundraiser on the beach. Nearly $1,000.00 was raised to support a pair of scholarships for the 2014 graduating class at Wabeno High School and a donation to the Christian Food Pantry in Townsend.

On July 1st and 2nd Red Arrow held a DNR ATV Safety Class at the Townsend Town Hall. A total of 28 students were enrolled and all passed the test and got their Safety Certificates.

Several important changes have taken place recently. Information about those changes can be found on the home page of the Red Arrow website. Also, Joe wants to help get the word out that anyone born on or after January 1st, 1988 must take the ATV Safety Course to ride legally in Wisconsin.

The 4th of July parade is always a big event in Townsend and Red Arrow entered two semi-tractor trailers to celebrate the 45th founding of the club. Formed in 1968 Red Arrow has been long recognized for great trails. The Ultimate Groomer on one semi and sleds and ATVs from vintage to brand new on the other showed the progression of the sports over the years.

Finally, Red Arrow will be hosting its 7th Annual Corn Roast and ATV/UTV Parade on the Saturday of Labor Day Weekend (August 31st). The event will start with a 10:00 a.m. ATV/UTV parade from Townsend Shell to Barb's Valley Inn followed by the Corn Roast from 11:00 a.m. till 9:00 p.m. The public is invited to participate in all the activities. Enjoy the fresh sweet corn, food, DJ Music and meat raffles along with some ice cold refreshments. Barb's Valley Inn is just north of Townsend and known area wide for the snowmobile and ATV on the roof. Event proceeds will be used to maintain and develop snowmobile and ATV/UTV trails in the Townsend area.
